RECEIVER SMITH'S BIG FEE.

NEWARK (N. J.) Jan. 4.—A fee of $200,000 for James Smith, Jr., for acting as receiver for the United States Shipbuilding Company, was asked of Judge Lanning in the United States District Court here today. Counsel for the Sheldon reorganization committee opposed the application and said that Smith's counsel would also ask pay. He said that all the money Smith handled in the receivership was not more than $1,125,000, and that he never really had possession of the Union Iron Works in California, the Bath Iron Works or the Hyde Windlass Company's plant, in Maine. Credit for resurrection of the company, he said, is due to the reorganization committee.

THE GREAT WAR.

WON'T TRY TO REACH VLADIVOSTOK SOON.

Rojestvensky Likely to Await at Madagascar Third Pacific Squadron.

Formal Entry of Japanese Into Port Arthur Will be Imposing Spectacle—Rising Sun Flag Was Unfurled Upon the Citadel Yesterday—Fall of Fortress Takes Heart Out of Russian Christmas Celebration.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 5, 2:30 a.m.—[By Atlantic Cable. After Midnight Dispatch.] It seems now to be definitely understood that Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron will not attempt at present to reach Vladivostok. The decision has been reached that he will await the third Pacific squadron, on which work is proceeding night and day and several ships of which are expected to be ready for service by the end of January. It is by no means certain that Rojestvensky will return with his ships to European waters; he may await the third squadron off the coast of Madagascar and seize and make his base one of the uninhabited coral islands of Polynesia.

In view of the report that the Japanese intend to invest Vladivostok, Gen. Batiavoff expresses the opinion that if Vladivostok should be blockaded Rojestvensky would be compelled to return.

DUTCH NEUTRALITY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

THE HAGUE, Jan. 4.—In the event of its becoming necessary, the Marine Ministry is prepared to call out the naval militia for the purpose of safeguarding the neutrality of the Dutch East Indies.

It is understood the Japanese cruisers reported in those seas are of small fighting value and that they were merely sent to watch the movements of the Russian second Pacific squadron there.

WILL BE IMPOSING SPECTACLE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HEADQUARTERS OF THIRD JAPANESE ARMY AT PORT ARTHUR, Jan. 4, via Fusan.—[By Asiatic Cable.] The formal entry of the Japanese into Port Arthur January 8 will be an imposing spectacle. The Japanese officers will be given a banquet in the city January 10.

The reason for the surrender of the fortress is evident from a visit to Wantai Hill. The entire strength position lay in the main line of the outer defenses. The possession of Wantai gave the besiegers the key to the forts east of the city. The hills in the rear were not fortified and afforded a full cover for the assaulting forces.

CROWDS OF WEEPING WOMEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 4.—The scenes at the Admiralty and War Office today were a repetition of those of yesterday, crowds of weeping women and children vainly asking for lists of the survivors of the Port Arthur garrison, which could not be furnished.

TOKIO, Jan. 4.—The Japanese captured 25,000 prisoners at Port Arthur. The total number of inhabitants is 35,000, of whom 20,000 are sick.

SUN FLAG OVER CITADEL.

JAPANESE IN PORT ARTHUR

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HEADQUARTERS OF THE JAPANESE THIRD ARMY AT PORT ARTHUR, Jan. 3, via Chefoo, Jan. 4, 8 p.m.—(Censored.) [By Asiatic Cable.] The flag of the Rising Sun floats over the captured citadel of Port Arthur.

When the news of the surrender of the fortress reached the soldiers, yesterday, leaping from mouth to mouth, the Japanese drew close to their late enemies and fraternized freely with them.

With nightfall came great bonfires, rising in the Japanese camp like a blazing halo, while great choruses of "Banzais" echoed through the hills.

The entire garrison and all noncombatants will march out of the city January 5 (Thursday) to the village of Yahuthwei, near the shores of Pigeon Bay, from which place the Russian officers will be transported to Dalny and thence to wherever they may desire.

The prisoners of war will be detained at the Russian barracks in the village until they can be transferred to Dalny, and from there to Japan.

The conferences between the Russian and Japanese commissioners at which the terms of surrender were arranged took place at the village of Shuishiying at 1 o'clock yesterday (Monday) afternoon and lasted until 8 o'clock at night.

The Russian commissioners were Chief of Staff Reiss, Surgeon-General Ballaschoff, Col. Vostock and two other staff officers, with two interpreters. The Japanese commissioners were Maj.-Gen. Ijichi, chief of staff; Maj. Yamaoka, Dr. Ariga and two others, staff officers, with two interpreters.

Thus has Japan won the great Russian stronghold in the Far East after a seven months' siege, in which she lost over 50,000 soldiers, who were put out of action in the most sanguinary and desperate fighting the world has ever seen.

[illegible] the intimation that the [illegible] was known to the officers of the Japanese staff on the afternoon of January 1, it was not generally known to the 100,000 men of the investing army until yesterday (Monday.)

SURRENDER A SURPRISE.

The surrender of the fortress at the present time came as a surprise, even to the Japanese, as the desperate determination and courage of the Russians, even in the last assaults, indicated that the struggle would be one to the bitter end.

It was well known to the Japanese that the destruction of the forts guarding the main defenses of the western half of the eastern fortified ridge made the investment of the city on the east only a matter of a short time, despite the strongest efforts of the defenders, and also insured the segregation of the forts farther east upon the ridge.

The steady advance of the besiegers on the west flank since the capture of 203 Meter Hill, up the valley from the shores of Pigeon Bay to the outskirts of the new town, enabled them, with the capture of the North Taiyankow Fort, to close in on the city from the west and to segregate the Chair Hill forts so that they could be dealt with in detail.

It is evident, therefore, that despite the most determined opposition, the investing army could in a week or ten days closely invest and dominate Port Arthur city, the center of the whole system of defense, so that the prominent forts, both east and west, would be isolated.

EXPECTED ANOTHER MONTH.

This fact, however, did not warrant the assumption that the resisting power of the position was at an end. Though the Japanese hoped for the surrender of the fortress, they expected that another month would be necessary to reduce it because of the evident intention of the garrison to fight to the bitter end.

It has been evident since the capture of 203 Meter Hill, the destruction of the fleet and the awful manner in which the forts guarding the western half of the Eastern Fortified Ridge had been captured by means of the explosion of dynamite mines, that the fighting ardor of the garrison was dampened and that the hopelessness of the Russians' position had robbed them of their dogged determination to resist every inch of the advance of the besiegers. This hopelessness was evidenced in the weakness of the opposition to the rapid advance of the Japanese on the west flank since the fleet was destroyed.

The tremendous effect of the explosions which wrecked Sungshu Mountain Fort, the last of the forts guarding the main defenses of the Eastern Fortified Ridge, in which half the defenders were killed and the remainder entombed or made prisoners, completed the disorganization of the defense.

FEEBLE OPPOSITION.

The subsequent spirited assault by the Japanese upon the principal line of outer fortifications and the higher hills of the fortified ridge immediately after the capture of Sungshu Mountain Fort was met with feeble opposition, and the night of January 1 saw the besiegers in possession of the upper line of the fortified ridge from East Kekwan Mountain to the western extremity. Had the garrison fought as it had previously done, this would have at least taken days to accomplish and would have cost many lives.

The first definite intimation of the Russian intention to surrender came at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of January 1, when the Russian envoys appeared before the Japanese lines south of the village of Shuishiying. They were met by a Japanese staff officer, to whom they delivered the letter from Gen. Stoessel to Gen. Nogi asking to have a time for parley arranged.

In this letter, as already known, Gen. Stoessel admitted the hopelessness of further continuing the struggle and that he was prepared to surrender in order to save the lives of the remnant of the brave garrison which had fought so long and so well, provided suitable terms could be arranged. He asked for a conference to settle these terms.

REPORT FROM NOGI.

THOUSANDS OF WOUNDED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Jan. 4. Evening.—The following report was received from Gen. Nogi at 3 o'clock this afternoon:

"Order is maintained at Port Arthur by the officers. The people are quiet.

"Our minute investigation was not finished until Tuesday night.

"The total number of inhabitants is 35,000, of whom 25,000 are soldiers or sailors. The total number of sick and wounded is 20,000.

"Common provisions and bread are plentiful but there is a scarcity of meat and vegetables.

"There are no medical supplies at Port Arthur. The Japanese are strenuously succoring the people.

"The capitulation committees are pushing their respective tasks."

TRANSFER OF MUNITIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Jan. 4. Noon.—Gen. Nogi reports to the War Department that January 3 the commissioners of both the Japanese and Russian armies concluded their conference, and that from the morning of January 4 the actual transfer of war materials at Port Arthur as property of the Japanese government commenced.

WATCHING CHEFOO HARBOR.

JAPANESE WARSHIPS OUTSIDE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHEFOO, Jan. 4. Evening.—[By Asiatic Cable.] The protected cruiser Akitsushima, four torpedo-boat destroyers and two torpedo boats constituted today's Japanese guard off this port. The destroyers which guarded the Russian flotilla last night went out at the expiration of twenty-four hours, returning immediately with others. They have been in and out of the harbor intermittently ever since.

Tonight, all the Russian destroyers withdrew to the south side of the harbor, where they probably will remain until their disarmament is complete. Japanese Consul Mizouno inspected the Russian vessels during the day and pronounced the progress made in their disarmament satisfactory.

A dispatch from Tsingtau, Shantung Peninsula, under today's date, says the Russian torpedo-boat destroyers Smyrli and Bolki, which, with a merchantman having 800 soldiers on board, arrived at Tsingtau January 2, are disarming.

No Japanese warships, the dispatch adds, have been seen off Tsingtau today.

ACTIVITY ALONG THE SHAKHE.

GENERAL ATTACK IS EXPECTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MUKDEN, Jan. 4.—[By Asiatic Cable.] Monday and yesterday, a general attack was expected. Saturday, the Japanese showed indications of beginning serious operations. During the previous night, they located a battery on the Shakhe River bridge, from which they enfiladed the Russian trenches, being supported by a heavy cannonade along the whole center. The Japanese used shimose shells.

At midnight, Saturday, under cover of impenetrable darkness, the Japanese attacked the right Russian flank energetically, directing their movement principally against a strong redoubt, but they were repulsed. Simultaneously, an attack was launched against the Russian trenches further east, but before daylight it was abandoned.

SERGIUS PALACE STONED.

DOWN WITH WAR, CROWDS CRY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MOSCOW, Jan. 4.—The Town Council adjourned today on account of the fall of Port Arthur and in so doing included resolution an expression anticipatory of a bright epoch "when all the forces of Russia are united for the common good."

In adjourning the Town Council, Prince Galitzin, the Mayor, declared that the war was the greatest evil which had befallen Russia and expressed the hope that God would grant the peace which Russia so much needed. The Mayor's statement was greeted with cheers.

There was a demonstration in front of Grand Duke Sergius palace today. Crowds paraded the vicinity, stoned the palace and cried:

"Down with the war!"

BURIAL OF GOTHAM

Snowy Shroud for New York City.

Twelve Human Beings Perish from Cold and Scores of Horses Succumb.

Twelve Thousand Men Put at Work Shoveling the "Beautiful" Away.

Storm is the Worst Since the Blizzard of Seventeen Years Ago.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] New York awoke this morning to find the Greater City buried under more than a foot of snow on the level, the dusty snow, which had been driven by a fifty to seventy-mile gale, in drifts which, in many places, were from two to five feet deep. The wind was still blowing and the air so filled with scudding snow that the city seemed enveloped by a white haze.

It was bitter cold, with the thermometer at 12 degs. above zero at daylight, with a piercing wind which brought suffering to pedestrians and death to scores of horses, for the wind drove the snow from the asphalt pavements and left an icy coating dangerous to man and beast alike.

All day veterinary ambulances have been rushed, rescuing injured horses and taking them to the hospitals of the S. P. C. A. Scores of animals suffered broken limbs, and had to be destroyed where they had fallen.

Up to midnight, ten deaths of human beings had been reported from freezing, while the hospitals and relief stations are filled with unfortunates with frozen limbs. Never before in the history of the Greater City has the storm carried with it such a record of death and suffering.

From midnight, last night, until noon today, practically every surface car line in the city was tied up. The snow came so fast and the blizzard was so fierce that the great, revolving electrical brooms could not keep the tracks clear, and finally were abandoned in the streets.

The subway and elevated lines caught the entire traffic in the rush hours today, and to their great credit be it said, trains crowded as never before ran on schedule time.

At 9 o'clock the storm had passed, and the sun shone from a cloudless sky. Then began the work of clearing the business streets of thousands of tons of snow.

By noon, 12,000 men were at work shoveling into thousands of carts or heaping snow into huge piles to one side. Given clear weather for a week, the business streets alone will be cleaned, at an estimated cost of $600,000. In many sections, snowbanks were piled higher than a man's head. The snow was so dry and fine that thousands of tons were blown from housetops, and in many places filled the streets to a depth of two feet on a level. The weather remained bitter cold all day, never above 18 degs. above zero, the average being 13 degs.

The storm is the worst since the great blizzard of 1888. During the worst of it, the mercury did not fall below 7 degs. above, but a driving wind made it seem like 40 degs. below. Scores fell exhausted in the streets, to be rescued by the police. Brooklyn caught the full force of the storm. The blizzard swept the entire State and all New England. The mercury in many places fell far below zero, and snowdrifts were sometimes ten feet deep. Railroad trains everywhere were from one to five hours behind schedule time. At some places on Long Island, the snow tonight is twelve feet deep. The freezing weather extended as far south as Jacksonville, Fla.

A tearful storm has been raging on the Atlantic, and many wrecks are apprehended.

CASSIE'S SATCHEL OPENED.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 4.—Louis Grossman, attorney for Receiver Nathan Loeser, today opened and made a cursory examination of the contents of the satchel belonging to Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, which had been the subject of a good deal of speculation. The trunk belonging to Mrs. Chadwick will be opened tomorrow. According to Grossman, the satchel contained a large number of documents and papers. Some jewelry was also found in the satchel. A large number of trinkets were also discovered, but they were not articles of great value.

CHAMPIONING CAUSE OF SENATOR BARD.

Hosts of Progressive Californians Rally Under His Stainless Banner.

Address Prepared by His Friends in the South Will be Distributed to Republican Legislators at Sacramento Today—Sectionalism Finds No Place Among the Larger Considerations Involved.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A printed and numerously-signed address prepared by the friends of Senator Bard in the south has been received at his headquarters here, and will be distributed to all Republican Senators and Assemblymen tomorrow. It advocates the reelection of Senator Bard on merits, arguing without reference to sectional considerations.

THE ADDRESS.

The Question of the Hour—The Senatorship.

To the Republican members of the California Legislature—Gentlemen: The time for the choice by you of a United States Senator is close at hand. We, your fellow-citizens whose names are appended to this address, ask you, before acting in this important matter, to take in to consideration the pregnant facts of the situation and to give due weight to them in rendering your decision.

When the Senators and Representatives of the State meet in joint convention for the purpose of choosing a Senator each of them will be confronted with these plain and paramount questions, viz.: What may I do in this vital matter to best serve the interests of my State? Laying aside minor considerations and personal preferences, what is my duty to California in the matter of choosing a Senator to represent her at Washington? Am I justified in passing by a tried public servant, known to be experienced, efficient and of outstanding among his fellows in the senate and in the executive departments at Washington, and choosing instead any citizen, however capable, who is without like experience and without that standing in the upper house which will give him strength and influence and enable him to serve his State efficiently?

Thomas R. Bard is the Senator from California whose place is to be filled by you and your fellow-members of the Senate and House at Sacramento, assembled in joint convention. What good reason is there why he should not be reelected? What justification will there be for relegating him to private life after a term of service in which he has shown himself upright, manly, laborious, conscientious and efficient? Why should a public servant who has made for himself such an enviable record and gained so high a standing among his fellow-Senators, and among other public officials at the national capital, be discarded by his State and an untried man chosen in preference? Numerous of his fellow-Senators are on record as desiring his return to that body.

Senator Bard, though not always understood, has proved himself to be right on the paramount public questions before the State and the country.

He is right on reciprocity; right on protection to California's fruit and other great interests; right, preeminently right, on national irrigation, and has been honored with the high post of chairman of the Senate Committee on irrigation, where he has been and is able to render the most important and conspicuous service to California and the arid West. He has made a study of this, one of the very foremost questions of the time—a question of vital interest to half the continent.

He is right on the Isthmian Canal question, and early took a stand thereon directly in line with the important phase of the enterprise, which finally won by receiving the approval of President Roosevelt.

He is right on the Interestate Commerce question, being in favor of the law urged by President Roosevelt giving to the commission enlarged powers for the protection of the public interest.

He is right on Statehood for the Territories; and, despite early opposition, evoked a strange misapprehension of the situation, he stands today practically unopposed in the Territories in favor of separate Statehood for both Arizona and New Mexico, thus occupying the very position which the great body of citizens of those Territories has come to occupy upon this important subject. His past course in this respect has been vindicated by the logic of events, and will be rendered impregnable in due time by the separate admission of those Territories as States of the Union, instead of their being joined in an unnatural union, which may not be sundered in the future without contention, turmoil and possible conflict.

Senator Bard has been true to every trust reposed in him by his State. He is able, faithful, loyal and absolutely honest; he is fit for his position and worthy to be continued therein. He is independent and impartial; not devoted to any special interest, corporate or otherwise, which concerns the State. He is his own man, but at the same time the people's servant. No legitimate interest, pursuing its objects within the lines of law and public policy, need fear him or his course as a Senator. He can be trusted by all honest men and all honest interests.

California has honored him, and he has honored his State. We believe that her best interests will be served by his return to the Senate, and so believing, we ask you, as citizens, friends and representatives of the State, to vote for his reelection. The matter is still open—as much so as it was before the election of Senators and Assemblymen. Bard is a Senator of all California, not of a section merely.

We say nothing derogatory of the character or standing of other aspirants for the Senatorship; but we do assert, without fear of successful contradiction, that it is better for the State and her great interests that this experienced public servant, the peer of any of her citizens, should be chosen in preference to a new man.

We are, gentlemen, very respectfully, your fellow-citizens,

[Signed]

Testimony in Dunsmuir Case. Vessels in Distress.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 4.—George H. Williams, ex-Chief Justice of Oregon Territory, ex-United Sates Senator from the State of Oregon, Attorney-General in President Grant's second Cabinet, Mayor of Portland and a man with the snow of 83 winters upon his head, was indicted by the county grand jury of Multnomah county, today on the charge of malfeasance in office. The indictment states that on July 13, 1904, Judge Williams was Mayor of Portland, and while acting in that capacity refused to enforce the statutes regulating gambling. This law, which was passed at the last session of the Legislature, gives the Mayor power to close disorderly houses within four miles of the city, and it is alleged that he failed to avail himself of that power.

An indictment against Chief of Police Hunt is almost identical with that returned against Mayor Williams, charging that he knowingly permitted a gambling game to be conducted at the Portland Club. Peter Grant and Nathan Solomon are the proprietors of the club. Solomon recently has been convicted of conducting a gambling place.

Indictments were also recently returned against W. C. Elliott, recently deposed as City Engineer; against his inspectors, J. M. Caywood and Henry Chandler, and against E. W. and R. R. DUNSMUIR WILL CASE.

MANAGER LOWE TESTIFIES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—The taking of testimony in the Dunsmuir will case proceeded slowly today. James Lowe, formerly manager for the Dunsmuirs, was again on the stand, and was subjected to a severe cross-examination by Judge Coyne of New York, who represents Edna Wallace Hopper. The witness contradicted himself many times, and to a great many questions replied "I don't remember." But few facts were elicited.

At the conclusion of the cross-examination, Attorney A. H. Luxton, counsel for James Dunsmuir, sole heir under the will, asked several redirect questions regarding the former testimony of Lowe.

"What did you mean when you said that you had not told the whole truth at Victoria?" asked Luxton.

"I meant that I had answered all the questions that counsel had put to me," replied Lowe, "but that I had not wished to volunteer anything."

That ended the examination of Lowe, but there are several more witnesses to be called on each side.

CAPTURED OHIO FUGITIVES.

EX-BANKERS MUCH WANTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Jan. 4.—United States Secret Service agents John D. Murphy and George E. Burns, with Chief J. M. Langley of Victoria, captured Lewis P. Ohlinger, president, and J. R. Zimmerman, managing director of the Wooster Ntaional Bank of Wooster, Maine county, O., charged with embezzlement of the funds amounting to $250,000. They have agreed to return to Wooster for trial, waiving extradition.

Both men came here from Seattle December 23, registering as B. H. Roland and S. R. Case. No securities or funds other than a few hundred dollars were found in possession of the men. They are alleged to have been speculating in stocks with the bank's money, losing heavily. They left in the middle of November, on a Saturday after bank-ink hours, and when clerks opened the bank the following day, their absence was discovered and the shortage found. The directors met, called in the bank examiner and a receiver was appointed for the bank, which was wrecked by the embezzlement. Ohlinger was formerly a United States Congressman from Ohio.

The writs are returnable January 9, and will necessitate bringing the children here, over 300 miles.

SEATTLE, (Wash.,) Jan. 4.—E. E. Deming, who recently bid in the Pacific Packing and Navigation Company's salmon canneries for $310,000, has returned from Chicago, where he organized an entirely new company, known as the Pacific-American fisheries. This concern is incorporated under the laws of Maine for $1,500,000. The officers are all Chicago men.

Sugar Dealers' War.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—The war among the wholesale sugar dealers continues. Today two more members withdrew from the Pacific Traffic and Commercial Association, which was formed to regulate the price of sugar. These firms are F. B. Pearson & Co., and J. H. Nerbauer & Co. This makes eight large jobbing concerns, among them the wealthiest jobbing houses on the Pacific Coast, that have severed their relations with the association up to date. The firms which have withdrawn are selling sugar at a quarter of a cent a pound less than the price quoted by the refineries to members of the association. This represents a heavy loss, but the independent dealers are confident that ultimately they will succeed in establishing an open market for sugar.

Schooners in Collision.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—The schooners O. M. Kellogg and Ida McKay came into port today, the former in a damaged condition as the result of a collision outside the Golden Gate. The Ida McKay, which was lumber-laden for Eureka, lost her mizzenmast, her starboard rigging was carried away, and her deckload shifted. When she reached the seawall she had two feet of water in her hold. The O. M. Kellogg came from Raratonga, and was at anchor off the Heads when the Ida McKay drifted against her, but did no damage.

Fruitvale's Early Cherries.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—Two fine ripe cherries of the black Tartarian variety were exhibited on the produce exchange today, which were picked from a tree in an orchard at Fruitvale. The appearance of matured cherries at this time of the year is something unusual, and is due to the abnormal weather conditions which existed in the fall and early part of the winter of 1904, when cherry trees were in full bloom in several growing districts.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—Charles Taggert, second mate of the schooner Columbia, which arrived in port yesterday from Ballard, was drowned on the passage down. He was a native of Finland, 25 years of age.

Sheehan Tax Collector.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—The final chapter of the once noted Sheehan-Scott case closed today, when the Supreme Court decided that the plaintiff, Edward Sheehan, was entitled to the office of Tax Collector of this city and county. But as the term of office expired more than three years ago, Sheehan will receive no other satisfaction than that of securing a judgment over Scott. Scott was elected Tax Collector November 7, 1899. Inasmuch as the Supreme Court has decided that a man who does the work gets the salary, Sheehan is not entitled to anything under the law.

CHICAGO LION HUNT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A lion hunt on a Chicago boulevard in a driving snowstorm was the unusual situation today, when a trained lion, included in a performance being given at the Bijou Theater, Halstead street and Jackson boulevard, escaped from the building, and was only captured after a chase of five blocks, during which citizens were terrified and a policeman knocked down by the beast, which was apparently worse frightened by the snowstorm. A negro barber met the king of beasts face to face, as he (the barber) emerged from a saloon carrying a pitcher of beer. A quick dash for safety in the barbershop was frustrated because the inmates had locked the doors for safety, and the terrified man fainted upon the sidewalk. The lion, however, dashed by without noticing the prostrate man, and a block further on was captured.

DEFENDER'S DEAD NUMBER EIGHT.

TERRIBLE RESULTS OF EXPLOSION ON THE OHIO RIVER.

Towboat Was Returning from Cincinnati When Boiler Blew Out Entire Side of Vessel, Causing Survivors of Crew to Plunge Into Icy Waters to Escape.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HUNTINGTON (W. Va.) Jan. 4.—Eight men are known to be dead and three seriously injured as the result of the boiler explosion and fire that destroyed the Pittsburgh towboat Defender here, early today. The dead:

PERRY SPENCER, mate, Point Pleasant.

HORACE WETZEL, watchman, Pittsburgh.

JAMES SEESE, lamp trimmer, Wellsville.

ALBERT HAMILTON, fireman, Pittsburgh.

MICHAEL STAFFORD, fireman, Pittsburgh.

THOMAS DUFFY, fireman, Pittsburgh.

WILLIAM WETZEL.

GEORGE KIDD, deckhand.

The Defender was returning from Cincinnati with a tow of empties. Capt. James Woodward was in the pilot-house at the time of the accident, and, with the exception of the fireman, the engineer and the watchman, the remainder of the crew were asleep.

The explosion of the starboard boiler blew out the entire side of the boat and awakened the sleeping members of the crew. The survivors grabbed what clothing they could find and plunged into the icy waters of the Ohio River in an effort to escape. The night was bitter cold, the thermometer hovering about zero, and as the explosion occurred at a point some distance from any town, those who escaped were nearly frozen before they could be given shelter.

The boat caught fire immediately following the explosion and drifted down the river about two hundred yards, where she sank in shallow water.

Capt. Woodward says the origin of the explosion is a complete mystery, as the boilers were, so far as known, in excellent condition.

A number of men are working on the wreck today to recover the bodies of the dead.

The Defender was owned by the Pittsburgh Towboat Company and was one of the biggest towboats on the river. She had been one of the first boats out of Pittsburgh on the recent rise and towed a heavy line of coal barges to the Cincinnati markets. She was returning to Pittsburgh in company with the big towboat Victor, of the same company.

WAS RACING AT TIME.

The statement is made that the two steamers were racing at the time the explosion occurred. The Victor was about a mile ahead of the Defender at the time and her crew knew nothing of the awful disaster that had befallen her.

The burning of the Defender was viewed by thousands of people, many of whom shivered along the shores, gowned in night robes.

The work of rescue of the victims was difficult owing to the darkness, and it seemed that only a few vessels could be secured to go to the scene. Capt. Woodruff was picked up fifty yards from the steamer and he was taken to the Ohio side of the river. He is not seriously injured. One victim was found half a mile below the scene, clutching a portion of the wreckage, being so chilled that he could not speak.

The boat almost immediately after the explosion sank to the bottom, not more than sixty yards from the West Virginia shore. The barges in tow were soon all aflame, but they were cut loose, when they floated down stream, aflame. They were finally landed and the flames extinguished by the fire department.

THEODORE THOMAS.

Death of Noted Orchestra Leader, Almost at Hour of Achievement of His Ambition of Years.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Theodore Thomas, the noted orchestra leader, died of pneumonia at his residence here early today. He was 70 years of age.

Theodore Thomas, who was the son of an expert violinist, was born at Esens, Hanover, Germany, October 11, 1835. In 1845 his parents brought him to the United States, settling in New York City. Even at that early age the boy had created an impression as a violinist. A concert trip through the southern cities in 1851 proved such a success that when Thomas returned to New York he became one of the first violins in concert and operatic performances during the engagements in America of Jenny Lind, Sontag, Grisi and other great opera singers.

The real beginning of Thomas's musical career was through a series of chamber concerts at New York during the years intervening between 1855 and 1872. In 1864, Thomas's first symphony concerts were given in New York, and these were continued until he left that city, in 1878, to take charge of the College of Music at Cincinnati. He remained in Ohio for two years, then returned directly to New York.

He was elected conductor of the New York Philharmonic Society in 1879 and this position he held until he left New York in 1891. In 1883, Thomas and his orchestra made a tour from New York to San Francisco, appearing at all of the principal cities en route.

Upon his return to New York Thomas conceived the idea of a permanent orchestra in that city, but after seven years of endeavor he came to the conclusion that Chicago would be a better place for his future work. He came here in 1891 and formed the Chicago Orchestra Association.

December 15 last, Orchestral Hall, the permanent home of the Chicago Orchestra, built at a cost of more than $800,000, was formally dedicated. It is a monument that bears witness to the untiring efforts of the dead musician. Death came to the world-famous director almost at the hour of achieving this, his ambition of years—the establishment of the Chicago Orchestra in a permanent home. Thomas lived to lead his orchestra in but four concerts in the great new hall, built by popular subscription. His last appearance was at the concert Saturday, the day before Christmas.

It was a week ago Saturday that Thomas first felt the ailment which culminated in his death. Apparently the trouble was only a slight touch of the grip. Last Thursday, however, pneumonia developed. Monday the physician felt hopeful of recovery, but last night there occurred a change for the worse.

Kouropatkin's Handicap May Pave the Way for Peace.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 4.—From reliable information in the possession of the Associated Press, it appears that the military situation below Mukden is by no means as satisfactory as reported. The number of troops at Gen. Kouropatkin's disposal is about 225,000, and the transportation over the Siberian Railroad is proving inadequate.

This fact, in connection with the internal situation, may have an important bearing should Japan submit peace proposals not too humiliating. Nothing in the way of expected peace propositions has yet made its appearance here.

DIED 'MIDST MONEY.

More Than Ten Thousand Dollars Found Secreted About Home of Dead Miser.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Gold, silver and bills amounting to more than $10,600 have been found secreted about the home of Firman Dubel, who died recently at Burlington, N. J. For years Dubel had lived as a recluse, denying that he had any wealth other than his home and the spacious grounds that surrounded it. It is now estimated by the relatives that his estate will amount to between $300,000 and $500,000. In a peck measure in a room in which there were countless rubbish, there was $1700, and a cigar box held $2500 in gold. A thin book contained between thirty-eight consecutive leaves thirty-eight $100 bills. Old clothing in various trunks and closets had been used as receptacles for money.

Dubel received a large estate from his ancestors to whom, before the Revolution, enormous grants of land were made by the English crown and later by the State of New Jersey.

Search among old papers after the death of the recluse brought to light scores of mortgages upon property of residents of the town and county for miles around.

For years Dubel had lived on fare that caused his neighbors to wonder how he kept body and soul together.

He had no faith in banks and invested his income as rapidly as it accumulated.

IT'S BESSIE BOUTON'S BODY.

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) Jan. 4.—The body of the woman found dead on Cutler Mountain December 17 and supposed to be that of Mrs. Bessie Bouton of Syracuse, N. Y., has been positively identified as such by a professional nurse, Miss Curtis of Denver, who attended Mrs. Bouton during an illness at the Albany Hotel in the latter city in June of last year. The body being exhumed, Miss Curtis pointed out two scars across the back of the second finger of the right hand, previously described by her to the officers.

WASHINGTON.

REVISION OF THE TARIFF.

Renewed Talk of an Extra Session of Congress.

Republican Leaders Desire to End Further Discussion.

Construction Work at Yuma Dam to Begin.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Renewed talk of an extra session of Congress, to be called between March 4 and June 1 to revise the tariff, has grown out of an effort on the part of Republican leaders to decide exactly what to do regarding the tariff. Since the subsidence of tariff revision talk, some time ago, the leaders of the party in Congress have been trying to get together on a plan that will be satisfactory to all factions in the party, and satisfactory, also, to the business interests of the country.

In the discussion that has taken place during the attempt to devise a plan of action, it developed that most of the leaders in the party who advocate the "stand pat" idea are convinced that if they must yield, during the coming four years, to tariff-revision sentiment, they would better yield now, have a session of Congress to make the necessary tariff changes and so have the business out of the way, than oppose the idea to the utmost and have two, three or four years of constant and ever-increasing tariff agitation. While the tariff revisionists were the only ones then who were insisting upon immediate tariff legislation; now the "stand patters" are saying that if the tariff is to be changed at all it ought to be changed now, at the beginning of the Republican administration, so the country may have four years of undisturbed business, so far as tariff talk is concerned.

That is where the whole talk of an extra session of Congress to revise the tariff is coming from, and it is going to be settled before long, in some way, just what the Republican party is going to do about the tariff. It has been suggested by high authority that one of the best ways in which to settle the question would be to have a caucus of the house of Representatives and a caucus of the Senate—the Republican members only, of course—and in that caucus have a course decided upon. It is argued that a caucus of this sort would have the effect of committing the party to its decisions. If it decided for tariff revision, it could narrow the proposed revision down to actual schedules by naming schedules that, in its opinion, ought to be changed, and in that way avoid what all but the most extreme revisionists desire to avoid, an opening of the whole tariff question.

YUMA DAM WORKS.

BIDS TO BE CALLED FOR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After a delay lasting many months, Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock today sent a letter to the reclamation service, directing that bids be advertised for the construction of irrigation works at Yuma dam, Arizona, and at last this great work will be got under way with as little additional delay as possible.

The credit of untangling this mess and getting the way cleared for actual work belongs to Senator Bard and Director Wolcott of the Geological Survey. In the Interior Department itself, there grew up a notion, some time ago, that nothing whatever could be done toward getting the Yuma dam project started until the tangle with Mexico over the diversion af the waters of the Colorado River had been cleared up, and also until some decision as to what course the government will ultimately take toward the Imperial project had been reached. It appears now it will be some time before any decision regarding the Imperial project can be reached, and how long it will take to arrive at a complete understanding with Mexico regarding the Colorado River nobody can say.

Some time ago, Senator Bard set at work to get these questions divided, so that bids for the construction of Yuma dam could be called for and that irrigation work at least be put under way. There was considerable difficulty to be met and overcome, but it was done with Mr. Wolcott's help, and the reclamation service will call for bids just as soon as the advertisements can be prepared.

Senator Bard is also working on the Klamath Lake and river irrigation projects in Northern California and Oregon, and hopes to get that work under way before long. The waters proposed to be used for irrigation works in this case are navigable, so that some special legislation by Congress will be necessary, and he is getting this legislation into shape.

STATEHOOD BILL PLACED.

PURE FOOD KNOCKED OUT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The air around the Senate chamber today was surcharged with what looked like a determination to rush the Statehood Bill through with the least possible delay. As soon as the morning business was over, Senator Heyburn of Idaho called up his Pure Food Bill and attempted to have it made unfinished business. He was opposed by Senator Beveridge, who wanted his Statehood Bill made unfinished business. Now it so happens that if there is anything on earth that Republican leaders in the Senate do not want to see passed this year, it is Senator Heyburn's Pure Food Bill. So they lined up with Beveridge, knocked Heyburn's bill into a corner, and made the Statehood Bill unfinished business. They did this by a vote of 31 to 17, and heaved a great sigh of relief when they saw that the Pure Food Bill was disposed of.

When the Statehood Bill was really before the Senate, Senator Bate of Tennessee, who is a member of the Committee on Territories, made a motion to have the bill recommitted to that committee, and in making his motion he made some remarks that were tknely and terse. Senator Bate, for instance, wanted to know why, when the men from Arizona who opposed this bill came up to Washington during the early days of this session and appeared before the committee in opposition to the bill, their remarks made in the committee in the form of hearings were not taken down. Nobody answered him, but it is a fact that when Gov. Brodie came up here and in the hearing before the committee said the people of Arizona were overwhelmingly opposed to this bill, and were perfectly willing to wait ten years or more for single Statehood, his remarks were not taken down by any stenographer, although the previous hearings by the committee had been reported and printed. At any rate, Senator Bate's motion was lost, and the Statehood Bill is now the unfinished business of the Senate, and in all likelihood will be unfinished business when the Senate adjourns next March.

It is understood that Senator Bard has his speech in opposition to the bill ready, and he may deliver it tomorrow.

FORAKER'S AMENDMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—An amendment to the Statehood Bill has been introduced by Senator Foraker, intended to permit the inhabitants of either New Mexico or Arizona to reject the Constitution of the proposed State to be created by combining the two Territories. The bill, as reported to the Senate Committee on Territories, provides that the Constitution shall be submitted to the people of the proposed State for its ratification or rejection, "and if a majority of the legal votes cast on that question shall be for the Constitution, the said canvassing board shall certify the vote to the President," etc.

The amendment proposes that a majority of votes must be cast in "each of the Territories," in order to ratify the Constitution. Opponents of the Statehood Bill—that is, those who advocate the admission of Indian Territory and Oklahoma as one State, but urge that no action be taken at this time in regard to Arizona and New Mexico—believe that the Foraker amendment outlines the character of the contest that will be waged against Statehood legislation. They declare that the people of Arizona are not ready for Statehood, if compelled to accept it in the form of annexation.

JOINT HIGH COMMISSION.

MEETING TO ARRANGE DETAILS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The statement can now be made that negotiations for the reassembling of the Canadian-American Joint High Commission are actively progressing between Sir Wilfred Laurier, the Canadian Prime Minister, and Senator Fairbanks, chairman of the American members of the commission, and that within a few days there probably will be a meeting between Sir Wilfred and Mr. Fairbanks to arrange details. This meeting probably will not take place in Washington.

The plan is to have the commission meet and conclude its work before March 4, so that any treaty that may be negotiated may be laid before the Senate by the President March 4 for ratification. There will be, of course, the usual extra session of the Senate, called to meet March 4, to confirm a large number of Presidential appointments, and as this extra session of the Senate usually lasts about ten days, some time could be given over to the consideration of the new Canadian-American treaty.

FOR CHINESE IMMIGRANTS.

NEW STATION IS PROPOSED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Elaborate plans for a new Chinese immigrant station on the government reservation at Angel Island, in San Francisco harbor, were sent to Congress by Secretary Metcalf of the Department of Commerce and Labor. Mr. Metcalf, who last summer made a personal inspection of the immigrant service at San Francisco, says the present facilities are utterly inadequate and that an appropriation of $250,000 will be necessary to construct a new station on Angel Island.

He recommends that that amount be appropriated, and estimates, among other things, that the main building will cost $62,000. A detention building for the Chinese will cost $13,000; two hospitals will cost $18,000, and a power plant will cost $58,000. Under the present plans all buildings will be of wood.

BEEF TRUST CASE.

CLAIMS OF CONSPIRACY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The brief of the government in the case of Swift & Co., vs. the United States, known as the "Beef Trust case," prepared by Atty.-Gen. Moody, was presented to the Supreme Court of the United States today. The brief is devoted principally to an argument to show that the packers are engaged in a conspiracy to monopolize interstate commerce in fresh meats.

FOR CONTROL OF CORPORATIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—A national board to exercise supervision and control over corporations is provided for in a bill introduced in the Senate today by Senator Heyburn. It is proposed that Congress create a new department of the government, to exist in connection with the Department of Commerce and Labor, to be known as "the National Board of Corporations." This board shall consist of five persons, four to be nominated by the President, for the terms of four years each, at salaries of $5000 annually, and the fifth member shall be the Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

Authority far greater than that enjoyed by the department now entrusted with the regulation of so-called trusts and monopolies, will be given to the National Board of Corporations, if Senator Heyburn's bill becomes a law. The bill provides that the board shall have the power to compel the production of all books or documents, or the attendance of witnesses necessary to the investigation of any question affecting the right of a corporation to engage in business under provision of this act.

THE CONGRESS.

CLOSING SESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—SENATE.—Upon reconvening today after the holiday recess, the Senate plunged directly into the consideration of the bill for the admission of Arizona and New Mexico and Oklahoma and Indian Territory. A motion by Mr. Beveridge to take up the bill prevailed by a two-thirds majority. Mr. Heyburn, who renewed his effort to get up the Pure Food Bill, voted with the Democrats on one roll call, but with this exception the Republicans voted solidly to proceed to the consideration of the Statehood Bill and the Democrats solidly against that course. A motion by Mr. Bate to recommit was voted down. Mr. Nelson spoke at length in advocac of the bill.

There was an exceptionally large attendance of Senators when the Senate was called to order, President Pro Tem. Frye being absent, Senator Perkins presided.

Mr. Platt of New York reported a resolution for the printing of 10,000 copies of the report of the Commissioner of Corporations and accepted an amendment suggested by Mr. Bailey providing for printing with the report a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, which, he said, the report criticises. An objection to immediate consideration caused the resolution to go over.

Mr. Warren reported the Omnibus Claims Bill and gave notice that he would ask early consideration of the bill, which represents 1600 claimants.

Mr. Heyburn introduced a bill for the regulation of corporations, which was referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

When the morning session closed Mr. Beveridge moved that the Senate proceed with the consideration of the Joint Statehood Bill. The motion brought forth a great stir, and several Senators addressed the chair.

Mr. Heyburn asked whether the motion made by him to take up the Pure Food Bill, which was pending when the Senate adjourned for the holiday, was not now pending. The chair decided that the motion had died with that day's session of the Senate.

On the motion to proceed to consideration the vote was 31 ayes to 17 nays.

The reading of the Statehood Bill being concluded, Mr. Bate moved to recommit that measure, because the testimony taken before the Committee on Territories had not been reported, rendering it difficult to make a minority report. He pleaded against undue haste in the matter, and started upon an argument against the consolidation of the four Territories into two States. Referring to the proposed union of Arizona and New Mexico, he said they would make a State of greater area than is comprised in all the New England States, with New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania added. The only reason for the consolidation was found, he said, in the desire to prevent an increase of United States Senators.

Mr. Beveridge said all the members of the Committee on Territories had been notified of the committee meetings, and that failure to attend was the fault of individual members. He also said the fact that the House had made full report of testimony rendered a similar report by the Senate unnecessary.

Mr. Bate admitted that due notice of meetings had been given.

"They wanted us to help make a quorum," he said, "but we did not come up with the ante."

The reference of the venerable Senator to a popular game caused a smile around the chamber. His motion was voted down, 15 to 1, Mr. Heyburn voting with the Democrats for recommital.

Mr. Nelson supported the bill as reported by the committee. Referring especially to the Territory of Oklahoma and Indian Territory, he said they were so constituted as to be the complement each of the other.

Mr. Nelson had not concluded when, on motion of Mr. Cullom, the Senate, at 4:15 p.m., adjourned out of respect to the memory of Representative Mahoney of Illinois.

HOUSE—When the House reconvened today after the holiday recess, Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio submitted the report of the Merchant Marine Commission, the minority being given until Friday to submit their views. Adjourned until tomorrow.

SLIP AWAY TO SAN FRANCISCO.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—That the successful Senatorial candidate will be chosen in San Francisco after all, was the word passed around in Sacramento tonight. This tip was given out when Henry T. Oxnard quietly closed his quarters in his hotel and slipped away on one of the early evening trains to San Francisco. George A. Knight, Arthur Fisk and Frank Flint also declared their intention of leaving for the metropolis tomorrow.

If it were not for the fact that under the law the Legislature cannot remain inactive for more than three days there is a possibility that an adjournment would be taken tomorrow until next Monday. It is expected that there will be barely a quorum Friday, and an adjournment will be taken at that time.

The only business of importance that will come before the Legislature during the week will be tre reception of committees that have been prepared by Lieut.-Gov Alden Anderson and Speaker Frank C. Prescott. The naming of the committees and chairmanships is being awaited with great interest.

The Senatorial fight is the all-absorbing topic among the groups of politicians and the statement is being made that when the legislators return from San Francisco next Monday morning the successful aspirant for the toga will have practically been chosen.

MEANT MUCH TO STANTON.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—The Assembly was about to adjourn this morning when Stanton of Los Angeles arose and said with considerable gravity:

"I hope the House will not adjourn now. A matter of vast importance is about to come before us. The committee on mileage is about ready to report and that means a good deal to some of us who are 400 or 500 miles away from home and it will give us our first chance to raid the treasury."

In view of the fact that the members are allowed 20 cents a mile for journeying to and from the capital, no further argument was needed to change the motion to adjourn to one to take a recess.

The report of the Committee on Mileage was then read and adopted.

WEBB RENDERS OPINION.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—Attorney General Webb has rendered an opinion to Gov. Pardee anent the suggestion of Comptroller Colgan that the money in the State Treasury be loaned to banks that are willing to pay interest and furnish bonds as security. Webb advises that an act be passed by the Legislature authorizing loaning the money and points out the fact that the views of the Supreme Court as to the constitutionality of the bill could then be obtained.

NAN PATTERSON IN COURT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Nan Patterson, accused of the murder of "Caesar" Young, was taken before Justice Greenbaum today on a writ of habeas corpus secured by her counsel, directing that the District Attorney appear to show cause why bail should not be fixed and accepted. After hearing arguments, Justice Greenbaum reserved his decision until tomorrow, instructing counsel to submit briefs in the meantime.

LAWSON DENIES ALLEGATIONS.

BOSTON, Jan. 4.—Every allegation of the plaintiff is denied by Thomas W. Lawson in an answer filed today in the Supreme Judicial Court in the suit brought by Paul Fuller of New York to recover on an alleged contract to purchase stock of the Kern Incandescent Light Company. The plaintiff Fuller, alleges that Lawson failed to meet an agreement to subscribe for $250,000 worth of stock in the company.

SACRAMENTO.

LEGISLATION IN ABEYANCE.

The Senatorial Fight is Chief Theme at Capital.

Bard Men's Ways Not Understood by the "Push."

Move to Increase Los Angeles Court Departments.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Until after a United States Senator has been chosen or at least until it is determined whether upon such a choosing there is to be a deadlock, no serious attempt at securing legislation will be attempted by the members of either Senate or Assembly.

All that has been done thus far is to perfect organization, appoint temporary committees, fix the rate of patronage and appoint the first batch of attaches. Between sessions, the members have simply killed time, and talked over the Senatorial situation until the subject is threadbare.

Tomorrow the standing committees in both houses will be announced and on the following day will begin the introduction of bills, but bills will receive no serious attention, even in committees, until after there has been a test of strength on the Senatorial contest.

As to the Senatorial contest, there is little that is really new. Senator Lukens of Alameda, in the Senate today, speaking wholly in a joking spirit, suggested the name of Henry E. Huntington as a possible candidate upon whom the Southern members could unite. He was not talking seriously, and did not desire to be so regarded, but such is the dearth of sensations that his remarks were seized upon and sent broadcast over the State and on the blackboard on which appears the names of the various Senatorial candidates the name of Huntington was added. There were even some members who thought Huntington might be a possible candidate, but persons who say they know, assert he is not even a voter in California, but retains his citizenship in New York State.

"IT IS TO LAUGH."

Whether this be true or not, those who know Huntington laugh at the idea of his seeking such an office, although they admit him competent to a marked degree. The mention of his name was the one incident which broke the monotony of the day and tonight the members are laughing at those who took it seriously. It was intended as a joke, not on Huntington, but upon the other candidates, and was seized with avidity by persons who would like to see a score or more of such men enter the list.

Within the past twenty-four hours, Fisk has gained strength at the expense of Flint, Knight, et al. The entry of Fisk into the list has caused the railroad end of the fight some concern. He undoubtedly stronger in certain quarters and there are men pledged to Flint who openly assert that if they see that Flint has not the strength that he claims, they will go to Fisk. Therefore it behooves Flint to show what he has claimed and what his opponents have not admitted that he has.

BARD MEN STILL BUT STRENUOUS

Quietly, earnestly, without boasting and without the services of any lobby of paid shouters, but in a dignified manner, the supporters of Senator Bard are doing their work. They are giving out no figures, making no open claims; in fact, the manner of their campaign is so different from that of the other candidates that the others do not understand it.

That Bard is still a decided factor in the contest all the others know, but to hear the talk of the boomers of the other candidates one would think that Bard is not to be given any consideration. In the inner councils, however, it is known that their most troublesome question is as to what Bard's strength really is. They have sent inquiries to the Bard headquarters to endeavor to ascertain just what is being done, but Bard's fight is in safe hands and while his managers are making no redfire displays, they are convincing the others that Bard is not losing ground, which cannot be said of some of the others.

Ask any man on duty at Bard headquarters the direct question as to whether Bard will win and the answer will be that Bard has as good a chance as any other candidate, that conditions are satisfactory, that the vote he will receive will be greater than that which is accorded him by his opponents.

GRANT WON'T ENTER RACE.

It was positively denied tonight that U. S. Grant, Jr., will enter the race. He will come here to exercise his franchise as a Presidential elector and he may receive some complimentary votes, but his friends say he is not to be considered a candidate.

The most recent developments discussed is the possibility of a caucus of the northern members. One of the San Francisco Assemblymen said today after a meeting of his delegation that if the South would agree upon a man and come to the Legislature with such an agreement, the candidate indicated by that section would receive the support of that delegation, but in the event that the present division continues, he considered it probable that the northern members would get together and decide upon a man who would be backed by sufficient votes to elect him. By the Bard managers this is considered simply a club to force a Southern California caucus, which is impossible. It is also taken to indicate that the Flint forces have not the strength of which they have boasted.

GOODRICH'S FAILURE.

The failure of the effort made yesterday by Goodrich to bring about a Senatorial caucus has been repudiated by the Flint managers and Goodrich now says he was simply trying to ascertain whether a caucus would be possible, and that he circulated no caucus call. Whatever may have been his object, it disclosed greater weakness in the Flint camp than Flint desired should be disclosed, and his effort having signally failed Goodrich has received no thanks for it, although it was made in good faith.

MORE COURT DEPARTMENTS.

WHAT LOS ANGELES MAY GET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Los Angeles county is to have three additional Superior Court departments and Los Angeles City one additional Police Court department, provided the latter is not objected to too strongly by the people who will have to pay the bills.

This was decided upon at a caucus of the Los Angeles delegation today, and it is reasonably certain that what the Los Angeles delegation as a whole wants for Los Angeles county, the Legislature will grant. An effort was made to provide for the creation of four additional Superior Court departments, but this was objected to, and as a compromise the additional Police Court department was agreed to.

The action of the caucus, of course, is not final, and it is expected there will be more than one protest against the increase in the Police Court, in which are now employed two justices, two clerks and three prosecuting attorneys, one of the latter being one of the most serious handicaps ever placed upon the Los Angeles police department, as every officer of that department will testify.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is In Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking, or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered willow charcoal and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in the stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

If all the cakes and pastry were made from Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate, what a sweet, healthy old world this would be!

Construction Work at Yuma Dam to Begin.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Renewed talk of an extra session of Congress, to be called between March 4 and June 1 to revise the tariff, has grown out of an effort on the part of Republican leaders to decide exactly what to do regarding the tariff. Since the subsidence of the tariff revision talk, some time ago, the leaders of the party in Congress have been trying to get together on a plan that will be satisfactory to all factions in the party, and satisfactory, also, to the business interests of the country.

In the discussion that has taken place during the attempt to devise a Thilan of action, it developed that most of the leaders in the party who advocate the "stand pat" idea are convinced that if they must yield, during the coming four years, to tariff-revision sentiment, they would better yield now, have a session of Congress to make the necessary tariff changes and so have the business out of the way, than oppose the idea to the utmost and have two, three or four years of constant and ever-increasing tariff agitation. While the tariff revisionists were the only ones then who were insisting upon immediate tariff legislation; now the "stand patters" are saying that if the tariff is to be changed at all it ought to be changed now, at the beginning of the Republican administration, so the country may have four years of undisturbed business, so far as tariff talk is concerned.

That is where the whole talk of an extra session of Congress to revise the tariff is coming from, and it is going to be settled before long, in some way, just what the Republican party is going to do about the tariff. It has been suggested by high authority that one of the best ways in which to settle the question would be to have a caucus of the house of Representatives and a caucus of the Senate—the Republican members only, of course—and in that caucus have a course decided upon. It is argued that a caucus of this sort would have the effect of committing the party to its decisions. If it decided for tariff revision, it could narrow the proposed revision down to actual schedules by naming schedules that, in its opinion, ought to be changed, and in that way avoid what all but the most extreme revisionists desire to avoid, an opening of the whole tariff question.

YUMA DAM WORKS.

BIDS TO BE CALLED FOR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After a delay lasting many months, Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock today sent a letter to the reclamation service, directing that bids be advertised for the construction of irrigation works at Yuma dam, Arizona, and at last this great work will be got under way with as little additional delay as possible.

The credit of untangling this mess and getting the way cleared for actual work belongs to Senator Bard and Director Wolcott of the Geological Survey. In the Interior Department itself, there grew up a notion, some time ago, that nothing whatever could be done toward getting the Yuma dam project started until the tangle with Mexico over the diversion of the waters of the Colorado River had been cleared up, and also until some decision as to what course the government will ultimately take toward the Imperial project had been reached. It appears now it will be some time before any decision regarding the Imperial project can be reached, and how long it will take to arrive at a complete understanding with Mexico regarding the Colorado River nobody can say.

Some time ago, Senator Bard set at work to get these questions divided, so that bids for the construction of Yuma dam could be called for and that irrigation work at least be put under way. There was considerable difficulty to be met and overcome, but it was done with Mr. Wolcott's help, and the reclamation service will call for bids just as soon as the advertisements can be prepared.

Senator Bard is also working on the Klamath Lake and river irrigation projects in Northern California and Oregon, and hopes to get that work under way before long. The waters proposed to be used for irrigation works in this case are navigable, so that some special legislation by Congress will be necessary, and he is getting this legislation into shape.

STATEHOOD BILL PLACED.

PURE FOOD KNOCKED OUT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The air around the Senate chamber today was surcharged with what looked like a determination to rush the Statehood Bill through with the least possible delay. As soon as the morning business was over, Senator Heyburn of Idaho called up his Pure Food Bill and attempted to have it made unfinished business. He was opposed by Senator Beveridge, who wanted his Statehood Bill made unfinished business. Now it so happens that if there is anything on earth that Republican leaders in the Senate do not want to see passed this year, it is Senator Heyburn's Pure Food Bill. So they lined up with Beveridge, knocked Heyburn's bill into a corner, and made the Statehood Bill unfinished business. They did this by a vote of 31 to 17, and heaved a great sigh of relief when they saw that the Pure Food Bill was disposed of.

When the Statehood Bill was really before the Senate, Senator Bate of Tennessee, who is a member of the Committee on Territories, made a motion to have the bill recommitted to that committee, and in making his motion he made some remarks that were timely and terse. Senator Bate, for instance, wanted to know why, when the men from Arizona, who opposed this bill came up to Washington during the early days of this session and appeared before the committee in opposition to the bill, their remarks made in the committee in the form of hearings were not taken down. Nobody answered him, but it is a fact that when Gov. Brodie came up here and in the hearing before the committee said the people of Arizona were overwhelmingly opposed to this bill, and were perfectly willing to wait ten years or more for single Statehood, his remarks were not taken down by any stenographer, although the previous hearings by the committee had been reported and printed. At any rate, Senator Bate's motion was lost, and the Statehood Bill is now the unfinished business of the Senate, and in all likelihood will be unfinished business when the Senate adjourns next March.

It is understood that Senator Bard has his speech in opposition to the bill ready, and he may deliver it tomorrow.

FORAKER'S AMENDMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—An amendment to the Statehood Bill has been introduced by Senator Foraker, intended to permit the inhabitants of either New Mexico or Arizona to reject the Constitution of the proposed State to be created by combining the two Territories. The bill, as reported to the Senate Committee on Territories, provides that the Constitution shall be submitted to the people of the proposed State for its ratification or rejection, "and if a majority of the legal votes cast on that question shall be for the Constitution, the said canvassing board shall certify the vote to the President," etc.

The amendment proposes that a majority of votes must be cast in "each of the Territories," in order to ratify the Constitution. Opponents of the Statehood Bill—that is, those who advocate the admission of Indian Territory and Oklahoma as one State, but urge that no action be taken at this time in regard to Arizona and New Mexico—believe that the Foraker amendment outlines the character of the contest that will be waged against Statehood legislation. They declare that the people of Arizona are not ready for Statehood, if compelled to accept it in the form of annexation.

JOINT HIGH COMMISSION.

MEETING TO ARRANGE DETAILS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The statement can now be made that negotiations for the reassembling of the Canadian-American Joint High Commission are actively progressing between Sir Wilfred Laurier, the Canadian Prime Minister, and Senator Fairbanks, chairman of the American members of the commission, and that within a few days there probably will be a meeting between Sir Wilfred and Mr. Fairbanks to arrange details. This meeting probably will not take place in Washington.

The plan is to have the commission meet and conclude its work before March 4, so that any treaty that may be negotiated may be laid before the Senate by the President March 4 for ratification. There will be, of course, the usual extra session of the Senate, called to meet March 4, to confirm a large number of Presidential appointments, and as this extra session of the Senate usually lasts about ten days, some time could be given over to the consideration of the new Canadian-American treaty.

FOR CHINESE IMMIGRANTS.

NEW STATION IS PROPOSED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Elaborate plans for a new Chinese immigrant station on the government reservation at Angel Island, in San Francisco harbor, were sent to Congress by Secretary Metcalf of the Department of Commerce and Labor. Mr. Metcalf, who last summer made a personal inspection of the immigrant service at San Francisco, says the present facilities are utterly inadequate and that an appropriation of $250,000 will be necessary to construct a new station on Angel Island.

He recommends that that amount be appropriated, and estimates, among other things, that the main building will cost $62,000. A detention building for the Chinese will cost $13,000; two hospitals will cost $18,000, and a power plant will cost $58,000. Under the present plans all buildings will be of wood.

BEEF TRUST CASE.

CLAIMS OF CONSPIRACY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The brief of the government in the case of Swift & Co., vs. the United States, known as the "Beef Trust case," prepared by Atty.-Gen. Moody, was presented to the Supreme Court of the United States today. The brief is devoted principally to an argument to show that the packers are engaged in a conspiracy to monopolize interstate commerce in fresh meats.

FOR CONTROL OF CORPORATIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—A national board to exercise supervision and control over corporations is provided for in a bill introduced in the Senate today by Senator Heyburn. It is proposed that Congress create a new department of the government, to exist in connection with the Department of Commerce and Labor, to be known as "the National Board of Corporations." This board shall consist of five persons, four to be nominated by the President, for the terms of four years each, at salaries of $5000 annually, and the fifth member shall be the Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

Authority far greater than that enjoyed by the department now entrusted with the regulation of so-called trusts and monopolies, will be given to the National Board of Corporations, if Senator Heyburn's bill becomes a law. The bill provides that the board shall have the power to compel the production of all books or documents, or the attendance of witnesses necessary to the investigation of any question affecting the right of a corporation to engage in business under provision of this act.

THE CONGRESS.

CLOSING SESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—SENATE.—Upon reconvening today after the holiday recess, the Senate plunged directly into the consideration of the bill for the admission of two States, to be composed of Arizona and New Mexico and Oklahoma and Indian Territory. A motion by Mr. Beveridge to take up the bill prevailed by a two-thirds majority. Mr. Heyburn, who renewed his effort to get up the Pure Food Bill, voted with the Democrats on one roll call, but with this exception the Republicans voted solidly to proceed to the consideration of the Statehood Bill and the Democrats solidly against that course. A motion by Mr. Bate to recommit was voted down. Mr. Nelson spoke at length in advocac of the bill.

There was an exceptionally large attendance of Senators when the Senate was called to order, President Pro Tem. Frye being absent, Senator Perkins presided.

Mr. Platt of New York reported a resolution for the printing of 10,000 copies of the report of the Commissioner of Corporations and accepted an amendment suggested by Mr. Bailey providing for printing with the report a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, which, he said, the report criticises. An objection to immediate consideration caused the resolution to go over.

Mr. Warren reported the Omnibus Claims Bill and gave notice that he would ask early consideration of the bill, which represents 1600 claimants.

Mr. Heyburn introduced a bill for the regulation of corporations, which was referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

When the morning session closed Mr. Beveridge moved that the Senate proceed with the consideration of the Joint Statehood Bill. The motion brought forth a great stir, and several Senators addressed the chair.

Mr. Heyburn asked whether the motion made by him to take up the Pure Food Bill, which was pending when the Senate adjourned for the holiday, was not now pending. The chair decided that the motion had died with that day's session of the Senate.

On the motion to proceed to consideration the vote was 31 ayes to 17 nays.

The reading of the Statehood Bill being concluded, Mr. Bate moved to recommit that measure, because the testimony taken before the Committee on Territories had not been reported, rendering it difficult to make a minority report. He pleaded against undue haste in the matter, and started upon an argument against the consolidation of the four Territories into two States. Referring to the proposed union of Arizona and New Mexico, he said they would make a State of greater area than is comprised in all the New England States, with New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania added. The only reason for the consolidation was found, he said, in the desire to prevent an increase of United States Senators.

Mr. Beveridge said all the members of the Committee on Territories had been notified of the committee meetings, and that failure to attend was the fault of individual members. He also said the fact that the House had made full report of testimony rendered a similar report by the Senate unnecessary.

Mr. Bate admitted that due notice of meetings had been given.

"They wanted us to help make a quorum," he said, "but we did not come up with the ante."

The reference of the venerable Senator to a popular game caused a smile around the chamber. His motion was voted down, 15 to 1, Mr. Heyburn voting with the Democrats for recommital.

Mr. Nelson supported the bill as reported by the committee. Referring especially to the Territory of Oklahoma and Indian Territory, he said they were so constituted as to be the complement each of the other.

Mr. Nelson had not concluded when, on motion of Mr. Cullom, the Senate, at 4:15 p.m., adjourned out of respect to the memory of Representative Mahoney of Illinois.

HOUSE—When the House reconvened today after the holiday recess, Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio submitted the report of the Merchant Marine Commission, the minority being given until Friday to submit their views. Adjourned until tomorrow.

SLIP AWAY TO SAN FRANCISCO.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—That the successful Senatorial candidate will be chosen in San Francisco after all, was the word passed around in Sacramento tonight. This tip was given out when Henry T. Oxnard quietly closed his quarters in his hotel and slipped away on one of the early evening trains to San Francisco. George A. Knight, Arthur Fisk and Frank Flint also declared their intention of leaving for the metropolis tomorrow.

If it were not for the fact that under the law the Legislature cannot remain inactive for more than three days there is a possibility that an adjournment would be taken tomorrow until next Monday. It is expected that there will be barely a quorum Friday, and an adjournment will be taken at that time.

The only business of importance that will come before the Legislature during the week will be tre reception of committees that have been prepared by Lieut.-Gov Alden Anderson and Speaker Frank C. Prescott. The naming of the committees and chairmanships is being awaited with great interest.

The Senatorial fight is the all-absorbing topic among the groups of politicians and the statement is being made that when the legislators return from San Francisco next Monday morning the successful aspirant for the toga will have practically been chosen.

MEANT MUCH TO STANTON.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—The Assembly was about to adjourn this morning when Stanton of Los Angeles arose and said with considerable gravity:

"I hope the House will not adjourn now. A matter of vast importance is about to come before us. The committee on mileage is about ready to report and that means a good deal to some of us who are 400 or 500 miles away from home and it will give us our first chance to raid the treasury."

In view of the fact that the members are allowed 20 cents a mile for journeying to and from the capital, no further argument was needed to change the motion to adjourn to one to take a recess.

The report of the Committee on Mileage was then read and adopted.

WEBB RENDERS OPINION.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—Attorney General Webb has rendered an opinion to Gov. Pardee anent the suggestion of Comptroller Colgan that the money in the State Treasury be loaned to banks that are willing to pay interest and furnish bonds as security. Webb advises that an act be passed by the Legislature authorizing loaning the money and points out the fact that the views of the Supreme Court as to the constitutionality of the bill could then be obtained.

NAN PATTERSON IN COURT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Nan Patterson, accused of the murder of "Caesar" Young, was taken before Justice Greenbaum today on a writ of habeas corpus secured by her counsel, directing that the District Attorney appear to show cause why bail should not be fixed and accepted. After hearing arguments, Justice Greenbaum reserved his decision until tomorrow, instructing counsel to submit briefs in the meantime.

LAWSON DENIES ALLEGATIONS.

BOSTON, Jan. 4.—Every allegation of the plaintiff is denied by Thomas W. Lawson in an answer filed today in the Supreme Judicial Court in the suit brought by Paul Fuller of New York to recover on an alleged contract to purchase stock of the Kern Incandescent Light Company. The plaintiff Fuller, alleges that Lawson failed to meet an agreement to subscribe for $250,000 worth of stock in the company.

SACRAMENTO.

LEGISLATION IN ABEYANCE.

The Senatorial Fight is Chief Theme at Capital.

Bard Men's Ways Not Understood by the "Push."

Move to Increase Los Angeles Court Departments.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Until after a United States Senator has been chosen or at least until it is determined whether upon such a choosing there is to be a deadlock, no serious attempt at securing legislation will be attempted by the members of either Senate or Assembly.

All that has been done thus far is to perfect organization, appoint temporary committees, fix the rate of patronage and appoint the first batch of attachés. Between sessions, the members have simply killed time, and talked over the Senatorial situation until the subject is threadbare.

Tomorrow the standing committees in both houses will be announced and on the following day will begin the introduction of bills, but bills will receive no serious attention, even in committees, until after there has been a test of strength on the Senatorial contest.

As to the Senatorial contest, there is little that is really new. Senator Lukens of Alameda, in the Senate today, speaking wholly in a joking spirit, suggested the name of Henry E. Huntington as a possible candidate upon whom the Southern members could unite. He was not talking seriously, and did not desire to be so regarded, but such is the dearth of sensations that his remarks were seized upon and sent broadcast over the State and on the blackboard on which appears the names of the various Senatorial candidates the name of Huntington was added. There were even some members who thought Huntington might be a possible candidate, but persons who say they know, assert he is not even a voter in California, but retains his citizenship in New York State.

"IT IS TO LAUGH."

Whether this be true or not, those who know Huntington laugh at the idea of his seeking such an office, although they admit him competent to a marked degree. The mention of his name was the one incident which broke the monotony of the day and tonight the members are laughing at those who took it seriously. It was intended as a joke, not on Huntington, but upon the other candidates, and was seized with avidity by persons who would like to see a score or more of such men enter the list.

Within the past twenty-four hours, Fisk has gained strength at the expense of Flint, Knight, et al. The entry of Fisk into the list has caused the railroad end of the fight some concern. He is undoubtedly strong in certain quarters and there are men pledged to Flint who openly assert that if they see that Flint has not the strength that he claims, they will go to Fisk. Therefore it behooves Flint to show what he has claimed and what his opponents have not admitted that he has.

BARD MEN STILL BUT STRENUOUS

Quietly, earnestly, without boasting and without the services of any lobby of paid shouters, but in a dignified manner, the supporters of Senator Bard are doing their work. They are giving out no figures, making no open claims; in fact, the manner of their campaign is so different from that of the other candidates that the others do not understand it.

That Bard is still a decided factor in the contest all the others know, but to hear the talk of the boomers of the other candidates one would think that Bard is not to be given any consideration. In the inner councils, however, it is known that their most troublesome question is as to what Bard's strength really is. They have sent emissaries to the Bard headquarters to endeavor to ascertain just what is being done, but Bard's fight is in safe hands and while his managers are making no red-fire displays, they are convincing the others that Bard is not losing ground, which cannot be said of some of the others.

Ask any man on duty at Bard headquarters the direct question as to whether Bard will win and the answer will be that Bard has as good a chance as any other candidate, that conditions are satisfactory, that the vote he will receive will be greater than that which is accorded him by his opponents.

GRANT WON'T ENTER RACE.

It was positively denied tonight that U. S. Grant, Jr., will enter the race. He will come here to exercise his franchise as a Presidential elector and he may receive some complimentary votes, but his friends say he is not to be considered a candidate.

The most recent developments discussed is the possibility of a caucus of the northern members. One of the San Francisco Assemblymen said today after a meeting of his delegation that if the South would agree upon a man and come to the Legislature with such an agreement, the candidate indicated by that section would receive the support of that delegation, but in the event that the present division continues, he considered it probable that the northern members would get together and decide upon a man who would be backed by sufficient votes to elect him. By the Bard managers this is considered simply a club to force a Southern California caucus, which is impossible. It is also taken to indicate that the Flint forces have not the strength of which they have boasted.

GOODRICH'S FAILURE.

The failure of the effort made yesterday by Goodrich to bring about a Senatorial caucus has been repudiated by the Flint managers and Goodrich now says he was simply trying to ascertain whether a caucus would be possible, and that he circulated no caucus call. Whatever may have been his object, it disclosed greater weakness in the Flint camp than Flint desired should be disclosed, and his effort having signally failed Goodrich has received no thanks for it, although it was made in good faith.

MORE COURT DEPARTMENTS.

WHAT LOS ANGELES MAY GET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Los Angeles county is to have three additional Superior Court departments and Los Angeles City one additional Police Court department, provided the latter is not objected to too strongly by the people who will have to pay the bills.

This was decided upon at a caucus of the Los Angeles delegation today, and it is reasonably certain that what the Los Angeles delegation as a whole wants for Los Angeles county, the Legislature will grant. An effort was made to provide for the creation of four additional Superior Court departments, but this was objected to, and as a compromise the additional Police Court department was agreed to.

The action of the caucus, of course, is not final, and it is expected there will be more than one protest against the increase in the Police Court, in which are now employed two justices, two clerks and three prosecuting attorneys, one of the latter being one of the most serious handicaps ever placed upon the Los Angeles police department, as every officer of that department will testify.

MERCHANT M

Subventions and S
Upon by the Com
Tonnage Tax on National Volunteer

[BY THE ASSOCIAT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Subventions of $5 per gross ton annually; subsidies for the carrying of mails from Atlantic Coast and Gulf of Mexico ports to South and Central America and Cuba, and from Pacific Coast ports to Japan, China, the Philippines, Mexico, Central America and the Isthmus of Panama; a tonnage tax on foreign vessels entering United States ports; the creation of a naval volunteer service, and the encouragement of apprentices on ships in foreign trade are provided for in a bill agreed upon by the Joint Merchant and Marine Commission, which submitted its report to Congress today.

The commission, composed of five Senators and five Representatives, was created during the last session of Congress, in response to a recommendation by the President in his annual message December 7, 1903. An exhaustive investigation was made by the commission of the conditions of the American merchant marine and American commerce, with a view to ascertaining the most feasible means for their development. Hearings were conducted during the year at nearly all the important shipping and commercial centers in the United States. The report of the commission contains more than 35,000 words, and is made up of references to the important testimony taken, estimates of the annual cost of the methods proposed to restore the merchant marine, and an urgent appeal for the passage, by the present Congress, of the bill presented with the report.

THE BILL'S PROVISIONS.

The bill agreed upon is divided into seven sections. The first makes provision for creating a force of naval volunteers capable of rendering service in time of war. It provides that the Secretary of the Navy and the Secretary of Commerce and Labor should cause to be made an enrollment of officers and men, now and hereafter employed in the merchant marine and deep-sea fisheries of the United States, who shall receive an annual retainer, at the end of each year, as follows:

"For each master or chief engineer of a vessel of the United States of 5000 gross tonnage or over, $100; for each master or chief engineer of a vessel of the United States of 1000 gross tons or over, but less than 5000 gross tons, $85; for each master or chief engineer of a vessel of the United States under 1000 gross tons, $75; for each mate or assistant engineer of a vessel of the United States of 5000 gross tons or over, $70; for each mate or assistant engineer of a vessel of the United States of 1000 gross tons or over, but less than 5000 gross tons, $55; for each mate or assistant engineer of a vessel of the United States under 1000 gross tons, $40; for each seaman, $35; for each boy, $25."

The second section, prescribing the conditions under which vessels engaged in the foreign trade shall be eligible to receive the subventions, is as follows:

"That in the interest of the national defense and for the performance of the public services hereinafter specified, after July 1, 1906, the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed to pay, subject to the provisions of this act, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to the owner or owners of any vessel hereafter built and registered in the United States or now duly registered by a citizen or citizens of the United States (including as such citizens any corporation created under the laws of the United States or any of the States thereof,) subventions as hereinafter provided; that is to say, (a) the sum of $5 per gross registered ton for each vessel which has been engaged in the foreign trade by sea or in the deep-sea fisheries for a period of twelve months, including time necessarily consumed in maying annual or extraordinary repairs; (b) the sum of $4 per gross registered ton for each vessel which has been engaged in the foreign trade by sea or in the deep-sea fisheries for a period of nine months or over, but less than twelve months, including time necessarily consumed in making extraordinary repairs; (c) the sum of $2.50 per gross registered ton for each vessel which has been engaged in the foreign trade by sea or in the deep-sea fisheries for a period of six months or over, but less than nine months, including time necessarily consumed in making extraordinary repairs; provided, that if, for reasons satisfactory to the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, a vessel is idle for more than one month when not undergoing repairs or receiving or discharging cargo the subvention shall be reduced pro rata."

Provision is made in the third section that vessels receiving the subvention may be taken by the United States, at a fair compensation, for national defense or any public purpose. It provides also:

That when the Postmaster-General requires, the vessels shall carry mails free of charge.

That one-sixth of the crews shall be citizens of the United States.

That a vessel employed in the foreign trade shall maintain during the period so employed at least class A1, if a steam vessel, and at least class A1 if a sail vessel, as such classes are now established by either the Record of American and Foreign Shipping or the United States Standard Owners', Builders' and Underwriters' Association, or equivalent classification in any other register of shipping of at least equal merit.

That all ordinary repair or overhauling of said vessel shall be made in the United States, except in cases where dry docking is necessary, and no dry dock of sufficient capacity shall be within a distance of 500 miles of the location of the ship when the repairs shall be desired."

To obtain the subvention provided, proportions of the crew must be engaged, as naval volunteers, as follows: "After July 1, 1907, one-eighth; after July 1, 1911, one-sixth; after July 1, 1913, one-fourth."

The fourth section provides "that the contracts provided for in section 3 shall be for a period of one year, and shall be renewed from time to time, but no vessel shall receive a subvention under the provisions of this act for a longer period than ten years."

Sections 5 and 6 authorize and direct the Postmaster-General to enter into contracts, for not less than five nor more than ten years, for the carrying of mails in steamships built and registered in the United States, between ports of the United States and foreign ports, on the routes, at the rates of speed and for the amount following: From a port of the Atlantic coast to Europe, on steamships of not less than fourteen knots' speed, for a monthly service at a maximum compensation not exceeding $150,000 a year; for a fortnightly service at a compensation not exceeding $300,000 a year.

MERCHANT MARINE.

Subventions and Subsidies Agreed Upon by the Commission—Also a Tonnage Tax on Foreign Vessels. National Volunteer Service.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Subventions of $5 per gross ton annually; subsidies for the carrying of mails from Atlantic Coast and Gulf of Mexico ports to South and Central America and Cuba, and from Pacific Coast ports to Japan, China, the Philippines, Mexico, Central America and the Isthmus of Panama; a tonnage tax on foreign vessels entering United States ports; the creation of a naval volunteer service, and the encouragement of apprentices on ships in foreign trade are provided for in a bill agreed upon by the Joint Merchant and Marine Commission, which submitted its report to Congress today.

The commission, composed of five Senators and five Representatives, was created during the last session of Congress, in response to a recommendation by the President in his annual message December 7, 1903. An exhaustive investigation was made by the commission of the conditions of the American merchant marine and American commerce, with a view to ascertaining the most feasible means for their development. Hearings were conducted during the year at nearly all the important shipping and commercial centers in the United States. The report of the commission contains more than 15,000 words, and is made up of references to the important testimony, tables, estimates of the annual cost of the methods proposed to restore the merchant marine and an urgent appeal for the passage, by the present Congress, of the bill presented with its report.

THE BILL'S PROVISIONS.

The bill agreed upon is divided into seven sections. The first makes provision for creating a force of naval reserves capable of rendering service in time of war. It provides that the Secretary of the Navy and the Secretary of Commerce and Labor should arrange to be made an enrollment of officers and men, now and hereafter employed in the merchant marine and the fisheries of the United States, who shall receive an annual retainer, to the end of each year, as follows: To each master or chief engineer of a vessel of the United States of 5000 gross tons or over, $100; for each master or chief engineer of a vessel of the United States of 1000 gross tons or less than 5000 gross tons, $85; for each master or chief engineer of a vessel of the United States under 1000 gross tons, $75; for each mate or assistant engineer of a vessel of the United States of 5000 gross tons or over, $75; for each mate or assistant engineer of a vessel of the United States of 1000 gross tons or over, but less than 5000 gross tons, $55; for each master or assistant engineer of a vessel of the United States under 1000 gross tons, $40; for each seaman, $25; and $15."

The second section, prescribing the conditions under which vessels engaged in the foreign trade shall be eligible for the subventions, is as follows:

"It is the interest of the national defense and for the performance of postal services hereinafter specified, that after July 1, 1906, the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed to pay, subject to the provisions of this act, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to the owner or owners of any vessel hereafter built and registered in the United States or now duly registered by a citizen or citizens of the United States (including as such citizen any corporation created under the laws of the United States or any of the States thereof,) subventions as hereinafter provided; that is to say, (a) the sum of $5 per gross registered ton for each vessel which has been employed in the foreign trade by sea or the deep-sea fisheries for a period of nine months, but less than twelve months, including time necessarily consumed in making extraordinary repairs; (c) the sum of $2.50 per gross registered ton for each vessel which has been employed in the foreign trade by sea or the deep-sea fisheries for a period of six months or over, but less than nine months, including time necessarily consumed in making extraordinary repairs; provided, that if, for reasons satisfactory to the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, a vessel is idle for more than one month when not undergoing repairs or receiving or discharging cargo the subvention shall be reduced pro rata."

Provision is made in the third section that vessels receiving the subventions may be taken by the United States at a fair compensation, for national defense or any public purpose. It provides also:

That when the Postmaster-General requires, the vessels shall carry mails free of charge.

That not more than one-sixth of the crews shall be aliens of the United States.

That a vessel employed in the foreign trade shall maintain during the year so employed at least class A1 if a steam vessel, and at least class A1 if a sail vessel, as such classes are now established by either the Record of American and Foreign Shipping or the United States Standard Owners', Masters' and Underwriters' Association or equivalent classification in any other register of shipping of at least equal merit.

That all ordinary repair or overhauling of said vessel shall be made in the United States, except in cases where dry docking is necessary, and no dry dock of sufficient capacity shall be within a distance of 500 miles of the location of the ship when the repairs shall be desired."

To obtain the subvention provided, the officers of the crew must be enrolled as naval volunteers, as follows: After July 1, 1907, one-eighth; after July 1, 1911, one-sixth; after July 1, 1915, one-fourth."

The fourth section provides "that the contracts provided for in section 2 shall be for a period of one year, but may be renewed from time to time, but no vessel shall receive a subvention under the provisions of this act for a longer period than ten years."

Sections 5 and 6 authorize and direct the Postmaster-General to enter into contracts, for not less than five nor more than ten years, for the carrying of mails in steamships built and registered in the United States, between ports of the United States and foreign ports on the routes, at the rates of pay and for the amount following: From a port of the Atlantic coast to Rio de Janeiro, in steamships of not less than 12 knots' speed, for a monthly service at a maximum compensation not exceeding $150,000 a year; for a weekly service at a compensation not exceeding $300,000 a year.

From a Gulf coast port to Uruguay and Argentina, fourteen knots' speed, monthly service $187,500; fortnightly $375,000.

Atlantic Coast port to South Africa, twelve knots' speed, monthly service $187,500; fortnightly, $375,000.

Gulf of Mexico ports to Brazil, twelve knots' speed; monthly service, $187,500; fortnightly, $275,000.

Gulf port to Cuba, fourteen knots' speed; semi-weekly service, $75,000.

Gulf port to Central America, twelve knots' speed; weekly service, $75,000.

Gulf port to Mexico, twelve knots' speed; weekly service, $50,000.

Pacific Coast port, via Hawaii, to Japan, China and the Philippines, sixteen knots' speed; monthly service, $360,000; fortnightly, $660,000.

Pacific Coast port to Japan, China and the Philippines, thirteen knots' speed; monthly service, $216,000; fortnightly, $420,000.

Pacific Coast port to Mexico, Central America and the Isthmus of Panama, twelve knots' speed; fortnightly service, $120,000.

The same requirement, as to the enrollment of naval volunteers, is made of steamships obtaining such mail contracts as is exacted of vessels obtaining subvention.

The tonnage tax on foreign vessels entered in United States ports is provided for in section 8, as follows:

"That a duty of 3 cents per net ton, not to exceed in the aggregate 50 cents per net-ton in any one year, is hereby imposed on each entry by sea on all vessels which shall be entered in any port of the United States from any foreign port or place in North America, Central America, the West India Islands, the Bahama Islands, the Bermuda Islands, the coast of South America, bordering on the Caribbean Sea, or Newfoundland; and a duty of 16 cents per net ton, not to exceed in the aggregate $1.60 per net ton in any one year, is hereby imposed at each entry by sea on all vessels which shall be entered in any port of the United States from any other foreign port or place, not, however, to include vessels in distress or not engaged in trade."

Section 9 relates to apprentices, and provides the following:

"That on proof to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Navigation that a vessel of the United States has on any foreign voyage carried a boy or boys, a citizen or citizens of the United States, under 21 years of age, suitably trained during that voyage in seamanship or engineering, in the proportion of one for each vessel, and in addition one for each thousand tons of her net registered tonnage, there shall be paid to the owner or owners of the vessel, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, an allowance equivalent to $5 per centum of the tonnage duties paid in respect of the entry in the United States of that vessel from that voyage. Such payment shall not be made after July 1, 1907, except in respect of any boy who is enrolled in the naval volunteers, or is an apprentice indentured in accordance with law."

Section 10 repeals all conflicting acts and section 11 fixes July 1, 1905, as the time the proposed legislation shall take effect.

IMMEDIATE ACTION NECESSARY.

Leading up to the new legislation proposed for the development of the merchant marine, the commission has reviewed extensively the character of its investigation. Its deduction is that immediate action by Congress is necessary to prevent a complete paralysis of American shipping interests. An adequate American ocean fleet, the commission says, would mean the saving to this country of $100,000,000 a year, which now goes to build up the commercial power and naval strength of Europe and Asia. Attention is called to the fact that we have deepened our harbors at an expense of many millions of dollars, almost exclusively for the benefit of foreign steamships.

The report deals at length with the handicap upon American shipping created by the subsidies and bounties bestowed upon most of the merchant fleets of foreign governments, which is placed in the van of the lower first cost of foreign ships and the lower cost of maintenance of these ships—due, in both cases, primarily, to lower wages. A table is given showing that nearly all of the foreign powers grant shipping subsidies. France pays more than $8,000,000 each year for the encouragement of their merchant marine.

As the first essential step in the rehabilitation of merchant shipping, the commission proposes to create a force of naval volunteers, composed of the best officers and men of American merchant ships and deep-sea fishing vessels. Necessarily small at first, means for a healthy and sure expansion of the force is provided by the payment of substantial retainers as an inducement to enroll. It is understood that officers and men shall receive their seamen's pay, besides this retainer, during their period of actual naval instruction. The Navy Department has asked for a reserve of 20,000 men in the bills it has presented to Congress. The report quotes the Commissioner of Navigation to show that not more than 20,000 American citizens are included in the enrollment of employés on all the American vessels on salt water which go out of sight of land for any time during the year. Commenting on this lack of material for a naval volunteer force, the commission says: "Out of these 20,000 officers and men, probably not more than one-half would be eligible for naval volunteer service. . . . It is therefore manifest that shipowners must not only be encouraged to employ these naval volunteers, but encouraged to build more ships to develop an increased naval service, as well as to advance the interests of commerce."

The proposed rate of $5 per gross ton, the commission says, is unquestionably sufficient to equalize conditions for American sail vessels as against foreign sail vessels, save in the case of the heavily-subsidized fleet of France. It is declared also that this rate is sufficient to equalize conditions for American cargo steamers, save in exceptional instances, but it is admitted without controversy that the naval subvention will not, of itself, encourage the building of swift and expensive steamships. It is the judgment of the commission that in the restoration of the American merchant marine it is the useful, hard-working ship of steam and sail which should have the first and friendliest consideration. The reason assigned for this is that the American people, in the main, are producers of bulky commodities, so far as concerns their export commerce.

It is strongly emphasized by the commission that the naval subventions offered in the proposed bill are not bounties outright, or there commercial subsidies, but are distinctly based on important public services to be given by the ships and ship owners that receive them. As to the constitutionality and expediency of such guarded subventions, it is said there can be no question whatever, in the light of the example of the fisheries subventions given to both vessels and men for prospective naval service by the fathers of the republic, and continued by their immediate successors.

NEW CREATIONS.

In the proposed bill not one dollar is added to the expenditures for any one of the five established contract ocean mail lines. The present ocean mail act is not amended, except as to certain specific new routes to be established and the new requirement as to naval volunteers. The reduced compensation under the mail law of 1891 was insufficient to establish contract mail lines to the greater countries of South America, to Central America, to Africa or to the Orient, and the commission recommends in the proposed bill a substantial increase of compensation on certain specified routes where American steam service will be most likely to increase the foreign markets for American merchandise. As a rule, the ten new ocean mail routes specified must be created from the beginning—not only the lines, but the ships themselves.

The last feature of the proposed bill is a plan to increase the tonnage taxes on all vessels, American and foreign, now entering our ports in the foreign trade. The commission says the present rates of tonnage taxes in the United States are lower than those of the principal maritime nations. The original purpose of such charges was to provide a fund for lighting the coast for the benefit of shipping. A comparison is made showing that in 1903 the light dues collected in the United Kingdom amounted to $2,740,980, while the expenses of the British lighthouse establishment were $2,457,020; in the United States tonnage tax receipts in 1903 were $885,341, while the expenses of the lighthouse establishment were $4,538,105.

The commission believes that the sum of $3,000,000 is not an unreasonable contribution on the part of vessels in the foreign trade toward the maintenance of the national lighthouse, buoy and beacon system, which doubtless this year will cost about $5,000,000. Rates proposed in the bill have been adjusted so as to produce as nearly as may be that sum.

As to the cost of the proposed legislation, the commission says the average of the annual retainers for officers and seamen of the naval volunteers would be close to $50 each, and that it is probable that in the first year no more than 3000 naval volunteers could be enrolled and qualified. As to the subventions for the ships themselves, the total registered gross tonnage of the United States, steam and sail, June 30, 1904, was 888,628 tons.

The report classifies the vessels which would be eligible to receive subvention and summarizes the cost of the proposed legislation, exclusive of mail subvention, from July 1, 1905, to June 30, 1906, as follows: Annual retainers to naval volunteers (3000,) $150,000; subventions to 44 registered steamships of 262,871 tons at twelve months' rate of $5 per ton, $1,019,355; subventions to 100,000 tons of square-rigged sailing vessels, at nine months' rate of $4 per ton, $400,000; subventions to 100,000 tons of square-rigged sailing vessels at six months' rate of $2.50 per ton, $250,000; subventions to 150,000 gross tons of registered schooners at six months' rate of $2.50 per ton, $375,000; subventions to 50,000 tons of deep-sea fishing vessels at nine months' rate of $4 per ton, $200,000; total, $2,294,355.

The maximum subventions required for the complete service on the ten new ocean mail routes authorized amount to $2,665,000. Assuming that the few steamships that could be adapted to this mail service will be diverted from their present use, the commission estimates that not more than one-fourth of the maximum of $2,665,000 or $666,250 could, in all probability, be expended on the new mail routes within the first fiscal year.

The total expenditures for the first year, from July 1, 1905, to June 30, 1906, for naval retainers, subventions, and mail subventions, all included, would therefore be: Naval retainers and subventions, $2,294,355; mail subventions (one-fourth of maximum,) $666,250; total, $3,060,605.

Through the operation of several large foreign-built vessels as transports, it is declared by the commissions that this government is directly and powerfully contributing to the decline of American merchant shipping on the Pacific Ocean. Issue is taken with the War Department on the question as to whether a saving to the government has resulted from the operation in time of peace of lines of foreign-built craft. In this connection the report says:

"To all the members of the commission who visited the Pacific Coast, this procedure of the War Department appeared to be absolutely indefensible. It is true that in his recent annual report the quartermaster-general of the army figures out a profit of $398,236 for the transport service, as compared with the rates which commercial steamers would have charged, but this profit, as a matter of fact, is altogether due to a radical difference in bookkeeping methods between commercial steamship companies and the Quartermaster's Department."

TRANSPORTS DISCONTINUED.

Discontinuance of the transport service, as a measure of economy and a sure and acceptable encouragement to American trade and navigation on the Pacific Ocean is urged by the commission.

None of the new mail routes proposed by the bill terminate at a European port. The bill proposes nothing to encourage the building of expensive "greyhounds" for the mail, passenger and express cargo service to Great Britain and the continent. The generous subsidies paid by the British government, the commission says, have created a standard which the American people are not now ready to meet, in that it involves the determination of several technical questions, including that as to whether the turbine is to supplant reciprocating engines. In this connection the report says that the commission, "though fully realizing the commercial and political importance of the fast North Atlantic mail service and the value of these great 'merchant cruisers' to the national defense, is unwilling at this time to recommend any specific legislation to Congress. But the commission does insist with the utmost earnestness that the United States cannot afford to disregard the mighty transition that seems to be impending in the North Atlantic; a change which, if ignored by our government, may result in the complete loss of even our present inadequate share of the noblest field of ocean navigation."

Concluding, the commission urges the need of immediate relief for the American merchant marine, saying:

"If the passage of the legislation proposed by the commission is postponed to the next session of Congress, a condition already desperate will have become still more desperate. The time to act is now. The commission has prepared a conservative measure, aiming to achieve its purpose at a minimum cost, fair to all sections and interests, and directed especially to the strengthening of the national defense and the extension of American commerce to new and distant markets. The commission can see no reason why a cautious measure of this kind, making no large immediate draft upon the national revenues, cannot be passed at the present session of Congress.

"With all possible emphasis, therefore, the commission recommends that the bill which will be reported from the commission and introduced into the two houses of Congress be taken up promptly, and, after reasonable debate, advanced to enactment."

HEIRESS FOUND DEAD.

Miss Muriel Byram of Chicago Killed by Discharge of Gun—Planned to Visit Pasadena.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Muriel Byram, a wealthy heiress, known as one of the most beautiful women in Chicago society, was found dead in her boudoir today, with a bullet hole through her neck. It is denied that she committed suicide, the wound being attributed to the accidental discharge of a weapon that she was cleaning.

Miss Byram was an expert huntress, and it was her intention to leave for Pasadena, Cal., with her mother and other members of the family early next week, to spend the winter. As in former years, she planned for hunting trips, and this afternoon undertook to clean her shotguns and rifle. According to the family, she had cleaned one gun and was working on the second when it was fired accidentally, killing her almost instantly.

Her father, the late Augustus Byram, was at one time largely interested in western mining properties, and it had been the daughter's custom to indulge in frequent western hunting trips. Friends of the family say she bagged deer, elk and bears frequently, under stirring situations.

SIDE TALKS BY THE OFFICE BOY

There's no let-up to business in this store, you'd hardly know Christmas was over, we're so rushed. It must tickle a man most to death to have such a big business, I only hope I can hold this job down until I get big enough to go "down in front." I believe I can make good all right, the two principle things they demand of a salesman here is that he be polite and attentive, and tell the truth. I heard a man arguing with the boss one day. He said it was impossible for a merchant or a salesman to be honest nowadays; that everybody had to lie, or stretch the truth a little, (as he put it) about his wares. Gee, the old man, got sore. "Well" he said, "I've had that handed to me all my life, I had a good Scotch mother who drilled it into her children that if they were honest, they'd be successful, and I've tried to live up to her teachings. My men are not allowed to misrepresent goods. I'll discharge a man quicker for that than any other cause. I figure that a boy who will lie, will steal, and I don't want to be responsible for making anbody else's boy a thief.

AMONG THE CITY OF AFFAIRS.

A movement is on foot in the Sixth Ward to set in motion the machinery of the recall against Councilman Howton. He is to have a dose of his own medicine. A petition is already in circulation.

Prominent citizens of the ward are displeased with Howton's attitude against railroad franchises. They object to the manner in which the interests of their section of the city have been handled since he became a municipal solon. They say he has rattled around in his chair, but this is not considered strange by those who know Howton.

The recall was a fine thing for Howton. That's what he thought when it resulted in wafting him into office. Just what he will think of it when it is used against him might be imagined. Maybe it would be just as well not to try to imagine what he would think. It would require a stretch of the imagination to reach a point where it could be imagined that Howton thinks.

The Sixth Ward people, anyway, are in earnest in their desire for a man in the Council who would be representative. They hate to go into the City Hall and point out to their friends the occupant of the chair assigned to their ward. Their civic pride droops when they think of the breaks he has made since accident placed him where he is.

It's a good joke on Howton that his constituents so soon have decided to recall the result of the recall. It's like sending a clean shirt back to the laundry to be relaundered. Only no one would think of comparing Howton to a clean shirt.

The "doctor" must prepare for the dose of his own physic.

"Los Angeles is to be congratulated on the appointment of W. M. Humphreys as one of its park commissioners," said Gen. John R. Mathews yesterday. "Mayor McAleer in this, as in other instances, has made a wise choice. The beauty spots of the city will not languish under the eye of Mr. Humphreys, who has nurished a love of horticulture for many years. While I was postmaster and he was my assistant, I learned to know him well, and his ability, as well as his interest in the growth of trees and flowers, impress me with the belief that he will be a valuable acquisition to the city in its development of the parks."

Mr. Humphreys, who engaged in the contracting business after he left the postoffice, now has considerable leisure and it is expected by his friends that he will enter with zest into his new duties.

Politicians, lawyers and members of the bench of Southern California are on the qui vive for the announcement by Gov. Pardee of his selection of the justices to serve on the Second District Court of Appeals, which will have jurisdiction in this section of the State. Three justices are to be chosen for each of the three districts provided for by the Senate Constitutional amendment adopted in March, 1903, and ratified by the people at the last State election.

It is the belief here that Gov. Pardee has made his selections, but is withholding the announcement temporarily. He keeps his own counsel, however, and no intimation has been received of his choice.

As the salary of the new offices is the same as that of Supreme Court justices, $8000 per annum, the berths are looked upon as extremely desirable.

In view of the fact that the new district courts displace the five Supreme Court Commissioners of the State the belief is current, as has been noted before, that the Governor would take care of these commissioners by making them Appellate Justices. There are two of these commissioners in the newly-created Second District—Gray of Visalia, a Republican, and George Smith of Los Angeles, Democrat.

The law provides that not more than six of the justices shall be of the same political party, and it is supposed the Governor will name two Republicans and one Democrat in each district.

Should Commissioners Gray and Smith be appointed, the remaining justice from this district will be a Republican. Who this may be is the interesting question.

Appointment of a clerk, reporter and other officials is one of the prerogatives of the court. There are numerous candidates for these offices, but as they do not know who the justices are to be they are in doubt as to where to exert their influence.

It is supposed that the new District Court of Appeals will sit in the Supreme Court rooms in the Bullard Block. The law provides that the courts shall always be open for the transaction of business.

DIVORCE ENDS ROMANCE.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Married after a romantic courtship in a cottage at Atlantic City at the height of the summer season five years ago, Mrs. Gertrude McCauley, former society girl of Denver and Colorado Springs, was today granted a divorce from Thomas R. McCauley by Judge Honore. McCauley, who is said to be in Texas, made no defense to the charge of cruelty, upon which the suit was based.

MONUMENT TO LAWTON.

Col. Clarence Edwards to Call for Contributions for a Praiseworthy Object.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Col. Clarence Edwards, chief of the Insular Bureau, who was Lawton's chief of staff in the Philippines, has made known his intention of issuing a call for contributions to a monument fund to Gen. Lawton and the soldiers of his old Philippine command, which include the Third, Fourth, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Infantry and Fourteenth Cavalry of regulars and volunteer regiments from North Dakota, Oregon, Washington, California, Nevada, Nebraska and Colorado.

Gen. Lawton's grave in Arlington Cemetery is unmarked, save for the headstone which the government provides for all soldiers.

FORESTRY CONGRESS AND HOME BUILDERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. — The American Forestry Association resumed its session this morning. The papers read at the morning session related to the subject of "The Lumber Industry and the forests."

Discussing the subject of the Pacific Coast forests as differing from others, George P. Emerson of Hoquiam, Wash., said that the application of any method of forest perpetuation adapted to eastern woods was impossible. He severely criticised some features of the homestead laws, saying that the General Land Office had eased the consciences of settlers in perfecting their proof by declaring all land "not stony or gravelly was agricultural," although, he said, never in the lifetime of those settlers did they expect to see anything grown on the lands but timber.

Capt. George P. Ahern, chief of the Philippine Bureau of Forestry, gave an interesting review of the work of his office and the steps taken to economically utilize the timber resources of the Philippine archipelago.

President E. S. Gosney, of the Arizona Wool Growers' Association spoke of the protection of home builders in the regulation of grazing on forest reserves. He declared: "By 'home-builders' we do not mean the dwellers in palaces of wealth and luxury, nor do we mean the shiftless nomad. But we refer to that great class of honest, loyal Americans of limited means who have a substantial appreciation of home and country. Such sitizens demand careful, patient consideration, whether encountered in the mines, factories and farms of the East or on the mountains and plains of the West."

He said that he thought it unfortunate that, in connection with the creation of forest reserves, there had been opportunities through the "lieu lands" laws and the railroad grants for private speculation running into millions of acres, and said that thereby a public sentiment was created favoring extended forest reserves where no forest existed, mere "lieu lands" and incidentally for speculation, and bitterness and distrust among the people and toward the cause of forestry. The field work in connection with forest grazing regulations, he said, was new and necessarily handled in many cases by inexperienced and and over-confident government representatives, resulting in many crude and unjust rulings and damaging regulations.

Gosney made a plea for closer relations between the stockmen and home-builders and the forest officials, conflicting interests, he said, must be brought together and no contest settled on ex parte hearing. He thought that perhaps the most dangerous element the people are facing today on the grazing question, whether in the forest reserves or on the public domain outside, is the land and stock monopolies. Congress had been besieged with lobbies and bills for the leasing of public domain and for the exchange and connecting on railroad land grants; all, he declared, in the interest of these monopolies.

"Let some of these deceptive, unwise and unjust measures pass Congress," he said, "which will deprive the honest home builder of a just proportion of the pupilc range about the home he has built, and you have sown the seeds of discontent and distrust and have gone one step back toward anarchy. The government should hold fast the titles to the deserts, valleys and plains of the western domain for the home builders of the future."

CALIFORNIA AFTER RAILROAD RATES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The people of California are evidently more deeply interested in the President's suggestions for the regulation of railroad rates and the abolition of rebates than those of any other State, for they have commenced to send petitions to Washington urging some such legislation by Congress. Senator Perkins today presented to the Senate such petitions from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, the San Francisco Merchants' Credit Association and the Los Angeles Merchants and Manufacturers' Association.

He also presented a petition from the Los Angeles Bar Association, asking for the ratification of the arbitration treaties recently negotiated with various countries by the State Department.

TONS OF FOOD THROWN OUT.

Four Hundred Thousand Pounds of Turkeys and Other Fowl Dumped as Garbage.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It was common scandal around the Fulton, Washington and other big New York markets today that during the past week no less than 400,000 pounds of dressed turkeys, chickens and ducks had been allowed to decay by the "food trust" and was then dumped as garbage and sent to fertilizing plants down the bay.

The past week has been one of unusual hardship to thousands of poor, and the trust's action has excited much bitter comment. Most of the fowls were shipped here from Iowa, Indiana and Illinois and other Middle Western States, and had been on ice since September.

COMMUNITY OF INTEREST. VANDERBILT AIDING HARRIMAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While Harriman brokers bought New York Central stock today, stock exchange houses that have acted heretofore for Vanderbilt interests were buying Union Pacific shares. Insiders stated that preliminary steps toward a community of interest between Harriman and the Vanderbilts were being made. Harriman, it is asserted, has secured a block of New York Central stock in behalf of the Union Pacific Company and William K. Vanderbilt and H. McK. Twombly have increased their holdings in Union Pacific.

E. H. Harriman is said to be slated for election as director of the New York Central, and either W. K. Vanderbilt or some person to be named by him will go into the Union Pacific board. This increased community of interest will actually create a through line between New York and San Francisco.

Incidentally, it is reported that the Erie Railway is now controlled by Morgan, Vanderbilt and Harriman.

RUSSIA'S NEW LOAN.

BERLIN, Jan. 4.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The terms of the new Russian loan are considered here to be very unfavorable for Russia, inasmuch as the holders can demand redemption at par after six years, which is equivalent to a rate of 6½ per cent. interest.

The financial press points to the uncertainty of Russia's military success in the coming campaign and also to distrust of the country's internal political situation as reasons why she had to pay such unfavorable terms.

THE BULLET.

Hole Found in the Heart of a Plasterer. It is a Plain Case of Suicide.

Adolph Lee, a plasterer of No. 612 Maple avenue, committed suicide yesterday morning by shooting himself through the heart with a 32-caliber revolver.

Lee was a Swede who came to Los Angeles only a few weeks ago. He rented a room at the Maple-avenue number last Monday and paid the rent for two weeks in advance. Tuesday night he retired and nothing more was heard from him. Late yesterday afternoon after repeated knocks at his door had failed to arouse Lee, the door was forced and the occupant was found lying on the bed with a bullet hole over the heart. Death must have been instantaneous. The remains were sent to Pierce Bros.' morgue, where an inquest will be held this afternoon.

Coroner Trout took charge of the dead man's effects and found that Lee formerly belonged to the Plasterers' Union in San Francisco and Cleveland, O. No cause for the act save despondency could be found. Friends of Lee stated that he was down on his luck.

A Mt. Clemens, Mich., dispatch says that, after lying two years in the potter's field, while relatives clamored for a division of his property, the remains of John May, a somewhat eccentric and well-to-do citizen, who lived here forty years, are to be reinterred in a suitable cemetery lot and a monument appropriately inscribed is to be set up at the grave. The attendant expenses are to be taken from the considerable estate left by the deceased.

No action was taken by the Legislature yesterday looking toward a settlement of the gubernatorial contest, and it is not likely that anything in this direction will be undertaken at the first session today.

PRESENTMENT AGAINST TALBOT.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 4.—"The duties devolving upon me as presiding bishop of the church are at an end for the present in the matter of the presentment against Bishop Talbot," said Bishop Tuttle today. "If the board of inquiry should find the charges set forth in the presentment sufficiently tenable to make them matters for a trial it will then be my duty to act again. The board of inquiry which I have already appointed still stands and will meet at the time and place indicated to consider the presentment."

THURSDAY, JANUA

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

SQUEEZED BY THE STANDARD

Santa Maria Oil Prices are Cut Fairly in Two.

Iron Hand of Octopus Felt at Port Harford.

No Certainty Even That New Rate Will be Kept.

The Standard Oil Company has presented the oil producers of Santa Maria with a New Year's gift in the form of a cut of from 40 to 60 per cent in the prices to be paid for oil, delivered at its wharf at Port Harford. As a result a period of depression, similar to that existing at Kern River, is likely to follow and give a serious backset to the development that has been going on in this field.

As a result of this cut, which seems to have fallen upon the producers without the least warning, the Brookshire and Pinal companies have already shut down or are preparing to do so within the next few days. Other companies may do likewise as there seems at present to be no immediate prospect of selling the product at a reasonable profit. The fact that Santa Maria is close to the ocean may perhaps enable the producers to find a solution of the situation that confronts them. The railroad freight from the field to Port Harford is 10 cents per barrel by the Pacific Coast railroad, a line that has proven unequal to the work of handling any great rush of business. The Union Oil Company's pipe line will soon be in readiness to handle oil and this may aid in the solution but for the time being the outlook is anything but rosy.

The new prices went into effect on Tuesday, as announced by a circular issued by George H. Lithgow, agent of the Standard at Port Harford. Published is the schedule of the new prices per barrel and those which were put into effect on September 17 last and remained in force until Tuesday, thus showing the exact amount of the cut made. The prices are based on the gravity at 60 deg. Fahr.

New prices: Gravity 24 to and exclusive of 25, 25 cents; 25 to and exclusive of 26, 30 cents; 26 to and exclusive of 27, 35 cents; 27 or higher, 40 cents.

Former prices: Gravity 25 to and exclusive of 26, 50 cents; 26 to and exclusive of 27, 55 cents; 27 to and exclusive of 28, 60 cents; 28 to and exclusive of 29, 65 cents; 29 to and exclusive of 30, 70 cents; 30 to and exclusive of 31, 75 cents; 31 to and exclusive of 32, 80 cents; 32 or higher, 85 cents.

How is this for any but the very best quality of the various grades of oil. Every product is subjected to the usual centrifugal test for sand and water which will be deducted for the total amount together with 2 per cent. for evaporation. Moreover, let not the producers hope for any guaranty that even these rates will be maintained for. They desired to do so, which is doubtful, the Standard will make no contract with them and reserves the right to withdraw rates at any time, being a hand-to-mouth existence is

How much oil is presumably the reason which the Standard will unofficially or never gives any reasons officially—for the move made. While probably many question the correctness of this assertion it is an undoubted fact that the Union's great gusher has produced so heavily that the company has been giving oil to the county for roads free in order to get rid of it.

The cost of production at Santa Maria is much greater than at Kern River, according to operators, the wells on the coast being from 1900 to 2000 feet in depth while those of Kern are generally from 800 to 1400. The oil is also a lighter and much higher grade so that the new prices are considered proportionately lower than those of 10 and 15 cents offered at Kern River by the Associated and Standard, or the 20 cent rate offered by the former to the Independents' Agency.

The Standard appears to not be over anxious to secure any further contracts for oil in any of the fields. It has not made any for some time and has not, so far as can be learned, renewed any of those expiring. In the face of this tendency to cut prices for all grades of oil the company is sending an enormous shipment of refining oil, amounting to 80,000 barrels, on two ships from New York viz. Cape Horn. This would seem to indicate any excessive supply of the lighter oil on the coast.

The fact that Santa Maria is close to the ocean may perhaps enable the producers to find a solution of the question that confronts them. The railroad freight from the field to Port Harford is 10 cents per barrel by the Pacific Coast railroad, a line that has proven unequal to the work of handling the great rush of business. The Union Company's pipe line will soon be in readiness to handle oil and this may result in the solution but for the time being the outlook is anything but rosy.

The new prices went into effect on Monday, as announced by a circular issued by George E. Lithgow, agent of the Standard at Port Harford. Subjoined is the schedule of the new prices to be received and those which were put in effect on September 17 last and remained in force until Tuesday, thus showing the exact amount of the cut in prices. The prices are based on the gravity at 60 deg. Fahr.

New prices: Gravity 24 to and exclusive of 25, 25 cents; 25 to and exclusive of 26, 26 cents; 26 to and exclusive of 27, 27 cents; 27 or higher, 40 cents.

Former prices: Gravity 25 to and exclusive of 26, 50 cents; 26 to and exclusive of 27, 55 cents; 27 to and exclusive of 28, 60 cents; 28 to and exclusive of 29, 65 cents; 29 to and exclusive of 30, 70 cents; 30 to and exclusive of 31, 75 cents; 31 to and exclusive of 32, 80 cents; 32 or higher, 85 cents.

Whether this for any but the very best grades of the various grades of oil, the product is subjected to the usual chemical test for sand and water which will be deducted for the total tests together with 2 per cent. for waste. Moreover, let not the producers look for any guaranty that even these will be maintained for, if they desired to do so, which is doubtful, the Standard will make terms with them and reserves the right to withdraw rates at any time. It is a hand-to-mouth existence is

The cut off is presumably the reason that the Standard will unofficially and gives any reasons officially—for the move made. While pro- ny question the correctness of ion it is an undoubted fact Union's great gusher has pro- heavily that the company has ring oil to the county for roads order to get rid of it.

cost of production at Santa is much greater than at Kern cording to operators, the on the coast being from 1800 to et in depth while those of Kern ally from 800 to 1400. The oil a lighter and much higher grade the new prices are considered tionately lower than those of and 15 cents offered at Kern River Associated and Standard or the rate offered by the former to Independents' Agency.

Standard appears to not be over to secure any further contracts any of the fields. It has not any for some time and has not, as can be learned, renewed any ose expiring. In the face of this to cut prices for all grades the company is sending an enor- shipment of refining oil, amount- to 80,000 barrels, on two ships from York viz. Cape Horn. This would m to indicate any excessive sup- of the lighter oil on the coast.

ANOTHER SPINELESS CALIFORNIA CACTUS.

WHAT has long been considered one of Southern California's worst vegetable pests may yet become one of her plant blessings.

A recent special to The Times, from Santa Rosa, told of the production, through the efforts of Luther Burbank, the vegetable king, of a spineless cactus, the result of years of experiment in crossing and recrossing different varieties. It now transpires that A. H. Dorsey, a cactus specialist of San Diego, has also succeeded in producing a spineless cactus.

The Times informant did not state under which genus the Burbank thornless cactus is classified. Presumably it is an opuntia, the variety most common in this part of the world, and seemingly the variety best adapted to our soil, climate and conditions.

Mr. Dorsey's plant is an opuntia, pure and simple. In character it closely resembles the opuntia tuna. It is of the joint stem variety, is thick, broad and meaty, and but for its smooth skin and peculiar shape it might pass for the ordinary tuna.

The specimen, which is Mr. Dorsey's pride, is two feet across, nearly two inches thick, and twenty inches tall, a single leaf or stem weighing close to twenty pounds. The plant is still in its experimental stage. Mr. Dorsey is not sure whether propagation will prove it a permanent variety or whether it will degenerate and go back to its spiny state again.

Nature had a purpose in furnishing the cactus with spines. In the arid and desert regions, where this plant is about the only kind of vegetation to be found, the species would be short lived did it not have some protection against the wild vegetarians of the region. Even now the wild horses and burros have found a way of foraging upon the plants, for they turn upon the bristling clumps and, with their hardened hoofs, kick the plant to pieces, then eat of its succulent bulk at their pleasure.

With a spineless variety to plant in these now waste places, great areas may be turned into profitable pasturage and made to support vast herds of cattle. The very plant which has ruined some sections may redeem other localities. Indeed, that very thing has been done already.

While the cactus is native only in America and its outlying islands, it has become known, by transplanting, in many lands. In several countries naturalized opuntias have become dangerous and some governments have found it necessary to pass laws for its extermination. Wales is one of those countries. South Africa is another. In India, as in Texas, thousands upon thousands of acres of pasture lands have been completely ruined by the opuntias. But to demonstrate that its motives are not wholly bad and that it is capable of some good, this same plant has taken root in the lava beds of Mt. Etna, in Sicily, and by disintegrating the lava and enriching it with its decaying substance, it has made the land suitable for the planting of vineyards, which now flourish because of the despised plant.

Mr. Dorsey's Spineless Wonder.

sent an artistic study in purple and gold, and the contents will furnish information to fill a long-felt want.

A list of the clubs and their officers, and the officers of the district and the State will be given, besides an interesting history of the various branches of activity for the past club year. This will include reports from the eight committees: Household Economics, Forestry, History and Landmarks, Education, Civics, Reciprocity, Club Extension, and Libraries and Portfolios; with a bibliography pertaining to all of these subjects. Mrs. Prior also hopes to give the names of committees from each of the fifty-five clubs which will be appointed to handle all matter sent from these eight bureaus. This does not imply that all of the branches of work will be undertaken by the clubs, but the appointing of these committees is for the purpose of simplifying and systematizing the affairs of the district. The constitution and bylaws adopted at the last meeting of the District Federation will be included in this year-book.

Civics.

The Wednesday Morning Club is showing a commendable activity in civics, and has begun in a very practical way with the spots on the East Side which need improving.

A triangular piece of ground, belonging to the city, at the point where Pasadena avenue and Workman street are merged into each other, and bounded on one side by Avenue 28, will not long remain in its barren and unadorned state if this club has its way. The ladies have decided to present the matter to the City Council, asking that trees and shrubs and flowers be planted on this plot, so that it may become a spot of living green on which to rest the eye.

If the Council does not take it in hand, the Wednesday Morning Club, composed of a body of beauty-loving women will see to it themselves, even if they have to get out with spade and trowel and plant the flowers.

The attention of the Council will also be called to a small neglected park of two or three acres, situated at the end of North Eastlake avenue. It is a pretty bit of landscape, nestling against a hill and if given the proper attention would soon become an ornament to that part of the city. As it has come under the wing of the Wednesday Morning Club a speedy transformation from a condition of drouth and neglect may be looked for.

All these matters were decided at the business meeting which preceded the regular programme yesterday morning. It was announced that the parliamentary drill given by Mrs. Prior would be held every third Wednesday, from 1 to 2 o'clock. Mr. Baumgardt's lecture on the "World's Fair," will not be given until the evening of January 13.

The "Merit System" was discussed by C. D. Willard and the members asked many pertinent questions, several fine instrumental selections of music were played by Miss Helen Smyser, and Miss Fay Raglan gave a pleasing vocal number.

Ruskin Art Club.

Judson's talk before the Ruskin Art Club, yesterday morning, contained many good things, and he expressed himself as particularly fortunate in speaking to those who were already interested in art for its own sake. His subject was "Poet-Painters," and he showed by several incidents, that art should be interpretive, and that every true artist is fundamentally a poet.

When artists exclaim with broken hearts that they cannot attain to their ideals and that they fall so far short, the speaker thought they had fulfilled their mission when the pictures brought to the minds of others the ideal of the painter's conception.

Symbolism, or giving the key to the thought that is crystallized in the picture, was dwelt upon, as were the wonderful changes that have marked art during the sixty years of the speaker's life.

"Impressionist" painting, or the disintegrating of color, was explained, and other useful points were brought out.

"How does an impressionist know what daubs of color to put on the canvas," asked one of the members, "when the effect can only be seen at a distance of twelve feet or a hundred feet?"

"By walking a thousand miles to and from his canvas," said Mr. Judson, quoting from a noted painter.

The club was invited to visit the home of Mrs. W. R. Meyers, next Tuesday afternoon, to examine four huge and valuable volumes upon the history of writing, which begins with specimens of the earliest hieroglyphics.

If you think it might, just see the RANNELLS LAND CO., Main Office 127 N. Main street or take the Hollywood cars to office on corner of Sunset Boulevard and Alvarado street and S. D. Sudden Death of Old Man Results in Clash of Authority Between the Coroner and District Attorney. Thieving Calexico Indian Habeas Corpused Out of Jail.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The body of George F. Ellis has been held here while the authorities sought a way around a unique controversy concerning a conflict of authority between Dr. Morgan, Coroner, and Cassius Carter, District Attorney. Ellis, who was an old man, dropped dead while working alone in his garden. A neighbor was there in time to see him draw the last breath, but the two physicians summoned arrived too late.

Coroner Morgan appointed an inquest the following day, but District Attorney Carter investigated the case and notified the Coroner that an inquest was not necessary. No inquest was held, but the Coroner refused to certify to the cause of death, and the City Health Officer declined to issue a burial permit. The Board of Health decided that it had no jurisdiction in the premises, and instructed the Health Officer to withhold the burial permit until the death certificate was forthcoming.

Meanwhile the funeral service was held, but the body, which is to be cremated at Los Angeles, remained at the undertaker's. Tonight, however, an adjustment was made by the Health Officer issuing a permit on the certificate of the citizen who witnessed the death. The District Attorney and the Coroner have suits pending over matters pertaining to the duties of the latter, whose claims against the county Mr. Carter has held up.

DE HORO GOES OUT.

Cabello de Horo, the Indian sentenced to 450 days for chicken stealing, was released today on habeas corpus. Justice Hoffman of Calexico, who is in the city, says that it is a case of wasted sympathy. He says his purpose in imposing the severe sentence was his belief that it would have a salutary effect upon the lazy and thieving Indians who frequent the Imperial Valley. He speaks of the defendant as an idle good-for-naught, who has not worked for many moons. His practice, he says, has been to steal chickens and sell them to parties below the international boundary line.

INDIANS' BIG CHRISTMAS.

Supervisor Jasper brings word from Campo that E. H. Weegar, the distributing agent there, reported to him that the Indians on the reservation had the Christmas of their lives, this having been the result of the generous responses to the requests for provisions and clothing. Every one of them had plenty of food, every one is supplied with warm clothing, and those who till the ground have put in their wheat and barley. Mr. Weegar has on hand a ton of clothing and provisions, which will be distributed as needed. The Indians declare that the gifts of their benefactors were a godsend to them.

TOLD IN BRIEF.

The Board of Supervisors elected William Justice of Escondido chairman, succeeding James A. Jasper, term expired. The County Promotion Committee, of which the Supervisors are members, has organized with W. H. Holcomb of this city as chairman and W. S. Spencer of Oceanside secretary.

Los Angeles parties have bought from Horace G. Low the Fern tract, forty acres, east of Lincoln Park, for $15,000.

Harley P. Chandler has resigned the principalship of the Russ High School, on account of failing health.

Cecilian Self-Playing Piano
Thousands of families who love music, but never bought a piano for the simple reason that they were not able to play it, and the expense of a piano-player deterred them from this step. To these people the Cecilian Piano-player puts within their reach a strictly high-grade instrument that is at the same time self-playing; a piano and a player in one. Piano Instruction by Object Lessons
The Sunday Times, Proving Helpful, Availing Themselves of the Opportunity to Obtain a Fundamental Knowledge of Piano Playing.
As the Free Piano Lessons are published from week to week the interest is increasing. The opportunity of learning to play the piano is being appreciated by Times readers and the complete course will be included in twelve lessons. The first lesson of The Times of Nov. 28, 1904, teaching a simple method, is published for anyone to learn all the chords of the piano. Each Sunday the lesson is published in the tri-color sheet of the Sunday Times. This method has been examined by a great many well-known musicians and teachers in the East, and the system endorses it as the most simple and practical for more complete musical knowledge. If you want to learn yourself or your friends when they play any lesson published in The Times each week. Anyone can learn. Try it.

Cecilian Self-Playing Piano

...ands of families who love music, and who want it in their homes, have never bought a piano for the simple reason that there was no one able to play it, and the expense of purchasing both piano and player deterred them from this step.

To these people the Cecilian Piano particularly appeals, as its price puts within their reach a strictly high-grade instrument, which is at the same time self-playing; a piano and a piano-player in one case.

We can hardly keep pace with the enormous demand for the Cecilian; many people are exchanging their dead pianos for this modern piano one, and many more are purchasing outright. Let us talk it over with YOU.

THREE TIMES ITS OLD SIZE.

Local Peatlands Company Triples Its Stock.

West Adams Inspiration is Backed by Millions.

Rindge and Associates are Successful Farmers.

The Rindge Navigation and Canal Company, controlled by Frederick H. Rindge, the millionaire president of the Conservative Life Insurance Company of Los Angeles, proposes to increase its capital stock from $500,000 to $1,500,000, and notice to that effect is being served on the stockholders.

Reclamation and exploitation of peatlands is the company's main business, and, though not generally known, the inspiration which is now to have $1,500,000 backing came through the discovery of valuable peatlands fronting West Adams street near the city's western limits. This peat deposit, or, more properly speaking, formation, has an average depth of eighteen feet; the celebrated peatlands of Holland seldom attain a greater average depth than five feet. One thousand acres of this richest of all agricultural earth is now under tillage at the western city limits, and is owned by the Artesian Company, in which Mr. Rindge is a heavy stockholder.

The Rindge Navigation and Canal Company is a reformation of the old Rindge Manufacturing Company, whose name was changed and whose articles of incorporation were amended by decree of court March 4, 1904. The capital stock of $500,000 is subscribed and owned as follows: Frederick H. Rindge, $250,300; George I. Cochran, $50,000; W. J. Williams, $25,000; Lee A. Phillips, $50,000; A. J. Wallace, $52,500; F. S. Wallace, $27,500; Dr. W. W. Beckett, $14,700. The officers of the corporation are: President, Frederick H. Rindge; vice-president and treasurer, George I. Cochran; secretary and general manager, Lee A. Phillips; additional directors, A. J. Wallace and Dr. W. W. Beckett. It is, as seen at a glance, a close corporation, a business affiliation of the Conservative Life.

A sister corporation to the Rindge Navigation and Canal Company is the Middle River Navigation and Canal Company. The officers and board of directors of the latter are the same as for the former, with the exception that A. J. Wallace is a director of the Middle River in place of Dr. Beckett.

Vice-president Cochran, replying to the question, "Why is the Rindge Navigation and Canal Company about to increase its capital stock?" said:

"The capital stock of the Middle River Navigation and Canal Company is $1,500,000. As it and the Rindge company are jointly doing the same work in the same field—namely, the reclamation and development of peatlands near Stockton—and as the size of the business is increasing rapidly, it has been decided to raise the capitalization of the Rindge Navigation and Canal Company to three times its present amount, all of which will be actually paid in. Mr. Rindge, Mr. Williams, Mr. Phillips, A. J. Wallace, F. S. Wallace, Dr. Beckett and myself subscribing to the $1,000,000 increase in about the same proportions as we subscribed to the present capital stock of $500,000. This will give the sister corporations a total paid-up capital stock of $2,000,000.

"The two companies own, and are reclaiming and agriculturally developing, 25,000 acres of (originally) submerged peatlands in the neighborhood of Stockton. The business is a very costly one and quite lucrative. The peat has an average depth of twenty-seven feet, and is of such fine quality that a sample of it was awarded a medal prize at the St. Louis Fair. Upon seeing it, and learning of the remarkable depth of the formation at Stockton, Holland's Minister of Agriculture journeyed from St. Louis to California to inspect the lands and report upon them to his government.

"The Rindge Navigation and Canal Company and the Middle River Navigation and Canal Company are placing these lands under tillage as fast as they are reclaimed from submersion, and they are yielding the richest crops of garden truck."

The two corporations are composed exclusively of Los Angeles men.

UNITARIANS MEET.

Conference of Southern California Opens Its Session in Church of the Unity.

The Unitarian Conference of Southern California opened last night in the Church of the Unity, and after holding sessions this morning, this afternoon and this evening, will adjourn finally.

An address of welcome was delivered last night by Rev. Wesley Haskell, pastor of Unity Church, in the course of which he said:

"This city is known throughout the world for its sunshine, hospitality, and loyalty of its people to the home of their choice. To these three things is due its great prosperity. The same three elements will make any church grow and make it a power in any community."

For the Unitarians he said: "They are the most heroic people in the history of Christianity, but they are too modest for their own good."

He asserted that the trend of religious thought is in the direction of liberality and that "the very foundations of orthodoxy are giving way in the popular mind."

Rev. Benjamin Goodridge of Santa Barbara preached a sermon from the text, "In the morning then ye shall see the glory of the Lord."

At the close of the service a reception was held for the visitors in the social rooms of the church. The session will convene this morning at 9:30, when all the churches will make reports and papers will be read by Mrs. William Baurhyte and Mrs. Eliza Tupper Wilkes. Among the afternoon speakers will be Rev. Earl Wilbur, dean of the theological school at Oakland, and Rev. George W. Stone, field secretary. A platform meeting will be held this evening, at which the following series of ten-minute talks will be delivered: "God," Rev. J. S. Thomson; "Man," Rev. Charles Pease; "Bible," Rabbi Hecht; "Jesus," Rev. George W. Stone; "Punishment," Rev. Maxwell Savage; "Salvation," Rev. Earl Wilbur; "Immortality," Rev. S. G. Dunham; closing words by Rev. Wesley Haskell.

BIG CONTRACTS.

Builders Who Have Secured Important Contracts on New Business Buildings.

Contracts for the three-story brick business building to be erected for Mrs. L. Z. Ducommun and H. J. Woollacott have been let, from the office of Architect R. B. Young, to A. J. Crawford, for $40,700. The building is to be 72x115 feet. It will have three stores on the first floor, and sixty rooms on the upper floors, 114 fire escapes, and be a substantial, modern business structure.

The principal contract for the six-story brick office building that is to be erected for Isaias W. Hellman on the ground surrounding the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank building, on the southwest corner of Fourth and Main streets, has been let, from the office of Architects Morgan & Walls, to Carl Leonardt. The improvement, as previously noted, will be a thoroughly modern structure. It will be of steel frame construction, will have a frontage of forty-nine feet on Fourth street, eighty feet on Main street, and a depth of 159 feet. It will be provided with 110 fire escapes, and cost about $150,000.

The construction of the seven-story brick office building that is to be built for Mrs. Susanna Van Nuys, after plans of architects last named, and under their supervision, at Nos. 436-442 South Broadway, will be done partly by days' work, and partly by contract, and the structure complete will cost about $100,000.

F. O. Engstrum is to erect for himself a two-story brick and concrete planing mill at Nos. 451-461 Colyton street, at a cost of about $10,000. The owner, being a practical builder, will let only the minor contracts to others.

"FENCES" FOR LAW-DODGERS.

VIOLATORS OF GAME CODE ARE EXPOSED BY OFFICER.

Underground Ways of Handling More Birds Than the Law Allows. Ducks Shipped to City in Sacks With Rabbits on Top—Latest Seizure.

Deputy Fish and Game Commissioner H. I. Pritchard uncovered what he believes to be a new "underground railroad" for the illegal shipping and handling of wild ducks, Tuesday evening, when he seized a lot of nearly 200 birds on the steamer Santa Rosa at Port Los Angeles, the game being consigned to L. Zaiser and other local dealers.

Pritchard avers that the business of handling game contrary to the bag limit clause of the State law has grown to considerable proportions, and declares that enough fines have been sprung to drive a warden to drink.

Among these, says the State's warren, the practice of consigning a sack of ducks to one address, another to a different one, and so on, has been worked with considerable persistence lately by a local commission firm which has caused the game law enforcers more trouble than all the rest put together. It is illegal to have more than fifty ducks in possession in any one day, and to evade this clause, which practically makes the handling of ducks unprofitable, this commission merchant has his "fences" around town, the birds all being for his use, and sometimes two or three hundred being shipped at once to the various addresses. Of course when his property can be proven in these birds a conviction can be secured, but this is not always easy. Sometimes the guilty escape through their craft, or thanks to the lack-brain verdicts characteristic of police court juries.

Another common method of violation is the shipping of ducks in sacks which ostensibly contain rabbits on top. This is a palpable dodge, and one so easily detected that few dealers now resort to it. Masked shipments of ducks and sometimes quail are common enough, however, and sometimes considerable ingenuity is manifested in the schemes devised to conceal the identity of the real contents under a wrapper that looks innocent enough to allay suspicion.

These packages are tagged in all ways, a box of quail which recently came to hand being labeled "fruit." Just why the consignors thought it necessary to lie about the contents of the box which was a shotgun shell case, Deputy Pritchard was unable to figure out, inasmuch as the shipment was not in excess of the legal number.

The game laws are very much misunderstood, particularly the clause in regard to shipping. Anyone may ship the limit in one day under the conditions laid down by law. The birds must be sent so they can be inspected easily and must be tagged with the name of the consignor, the consignee, the place where killed, and the name of the shooter. If these simple precautions were observed fewer hunters would find their birds going astray in the city.

Deputy Pritchard also seized on Tuesday three boxes of fish en route to Arizona and containing undersized striped bass. The law forbids the sale of these under three pounds in weight. He has also just secured a conviction against an Encinitas man for selling lobsters less than the legal size, nine inches, exclusive of feelers.

During the past year Mr. Pritchard has made twenty arrests and secured sixteen convictions. He has collected $355 in fines, and has a large supply of confiscated fish and game frozen in cold storage. During the holidays he gave away some of the oldest of it to local charities.

STRONG ARM THIS TIME.

Strong arm "gents" held up and robbed C. E. Wagner on Fifth street near San Julian about 9 o'clock last night. Wagner reported to the police that he was peacefully wending his way homeward to the Parker House on Fifth street when three men suddenly blossomed forth from the darkness and grabbed him. While one man held him in a vise-like grip another searched the victim and secured $3.10 together with a silver watch. Wagner's description of his assailants was vague.

DISPLAY OF ORCHIDS.

A beautiful display of orchids is shown in the conservatory at Eastlake Park. Florist Gowan has added many varieties to his collection, and hopes soon to be able to keep a constant supply of blooming orchids on exhibition. The florist's force of workmen are busy in propagating thousands of plants for the spring settings in the various city parks. It is probable that there will be great expansion in the improved area of park space during the ensuing year.

TO CANVASS FOR DROUGHT.

Actual Campaigning to Rid the City of Saloons.

Proposal to Call a Special Election in Spring.

House to House Crusade Has Been Mapped Out.

"Do you want the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors in Los Angeles prohibited?"

This question will be asked personally of every voter of the city who can be reached in a close canvass of every precinct in every ward. Not only will the voters be asked to express themselves, but the women as well will be given a chance to declare their sentiments, in order to calculate what degree of moral influence may be expected to bear on the voter when it comes time to cast his ballot on this question.

The Prohibition Alliance people have formed plans for this preliminary canvass, which is to be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible; and through it they expect to be able to determine whether their idea of submitting a sweeping prohibitory ordinance to the people will stand the test of public sentiment, or they will have to so modify it as to tackle only the retail sale of liquors.

On this point hinges the contention between the prohibitionists and the Anti-Saloon-Leaguers; and it was on this point that the hitch came when a similar movement was attempted several months ago.

The prohibitionists say it is of no use to prohibit the saloons only and leave within the city the hotel and restaurant licenses. They claim that this would simply result in all of the present saloons and many low dives becoming restaurants; that the presence of a couple of crackers, a pot of beans or a chunk of bologna, would serve as a "meal," and that the liquor traffic would really have less restraint than at present. They claim that the only successful way to enact a prohibitory measure is to make it universal, so that there shall be no favoritism shown to any classes.

On the other hand, the Anti-Saloon-Leaguers are of the opinion that such a sweeping measure would fall far short of the required number of votes, while a measure shutting out the saloons only would carry in a city election.

The prohibitionists propose to prove by their test canvass that there are enough voters in the city ready for total prohibition to put the proposed measure into form. They believe that early in the spring they will be enabled to make such a showing before the City Council as will impel that body to call a special election.

One of the leaders, in discussing the matter yesterday, said: "When one comes to look into the saloon situation in Los Angeles, it is seen that there is really a very small area given over to the saloon zone, and that much of the city is already practically under prohibition.

"The city of Los Angeles has an area of forty-four square miles, or 28,160 acres of land; and of this the saloon zone covers only 27½ acres. Aside from this there are isolated saloons, one out on Downey avenue, one across the river on First street, one at Central and Thirty-eighth street and one on West Washington street.

"We can reasonably depend on a large percentage of the people who live in the prohibition zone to help us clean up the less than twenty-eight acres; and our main efforts would have to be to win votes in this district itself.

"We do not intend to make this a 'Prohibition Party' measure, but seek to unite all friends of temperance and I believe the time is ripe for the movement to succeed.

"The Chief of Police has stated that over half of the city's police force is detailed for duty in the saloon zone, and we are confident that 999 out of every 1000 arrests in Los Angeles are made in this saloon district.

"I have had many drinking men express themselves to me within the past month, and they declare that they would vote for a total prohibition proposition, while they would not vote for one that simply attempted to shut up the saloons and gave the hotels and restaurants the right to sell."

The prohibition forces held a mass meeting Monday at Camera Hall, No. 321 South Hill street, and passed by unanimous vote the following: "Resolved, that it is the sense of this meeting that steps be taken at once to put into action the necessary machinery for submitting a prohibition ordinance to the voters of Los Angeles."

A meeting of Prohibition Alliance workers was held last night to further plans for the canvass of the city, to learn the sentiment of the voters; and plans have been made for a general mass meeting for next Sunday afternoon at No. 321 South Hill street, to stir up public sentiment on the question. The chief speaker next Sunday will be Rev. C. J. Hall, one of the prohibition State campaigners.

VETERAN NATURALIST.

Prof. Charles Hallock, Editor of Forest and Stream, Sojourning at National City.

Prof. Charles Hallock, the veteran naturalist, sportsman, and founder of Forest and Stream, thirty-two years ago, has located for the coming months at National City, where he has built for his occupance a little rustic cottage, which is a combination of hunter's camp, bungalow, and study. Here he proposes to work up his recent field notes, most of which relate to the archaeology of the Southwest. While in this section Mr. Hallock will continue his investigations in Arizona and New Mexico, hoping to publish a basic outline of the cosmogony and anthropology of prehistoric America, to which he has already devoted many years of study. Indeed, Mr. Hallock began his geographical explorations by a trip across the plains in the '50s, a sketch of which was printed in Harper's Magazine for October, 1857, under the title of "The Siege of Fort Atkinson," which was a military post on the Santa Fé trail near the Great Bend of the Arkansas. He is now in his 71st year. He says he has visited every geographical division of the continent from Alaska to Greenland and down to the West Indies, excepting Utah and Nevada. These extended travels have been a great help to him in his study of comparative physiography. Mr. Hallock has many friends—old Forest and Stream subscribers—in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Pasadena and other parts of California. One of his earliest publications in his paper was a series of articles on the physiography of Humboldt county, written by then Lieut. Egbert of the United States army. Mr. Hallock would be glad to resume correspondence with any of the survivors of his old acquaintances on the Pacific Slope.

WATCHING TRAINS MADE HIM CRAZY.

WHILE you slept, serene, in a Pullman berth, lulled by the hypnotic click of the rails and the gentle motion of the Santa Fé Overland, a nervous, worry-worn train dispatcher was wearing his life away in a hell-hole on the edge of the desert—guarding your safety as though it were his own soul.

Through twenty-five years' service, J. S. Carson never gave a wrong order; but the end of his life's story is that he now peers piteously through the bars of a maniac's cell at the County Hospital, hopelessly insane.

He is said to have gone crazy through the years of anxiety and overwhelming responsibility that overhang the life of a train dispatcher. Naval engineers, with the responsibility of the great battleship on their shoulders, have often been known to break as Carson has broken.

To a man with any more imagination than a dead clam, the knowledge that a train, filled with passengers, has come into your division; that until it traverses some hundreds of miles of track with no one knows what lurking deaths, you are to be responsible for all those lives; to a man with imagination, such responsibility must be soul sickening.

One little forget, and a trainload of human beings may be sacrificed. That was too much for Carson's nerves.

For some years he was stationed at Needles, which was devised first as an annex to Hades, but was abandoned because it was too hot. He lived in a climate which comes licking off the desert in fiery tongues. At the night stop at Needles coming West supper is like a feast in an oven.

He lived there for a number of years, he says. Lately he has been at Fresno in charge of the dispatcher's office there. At last he broke down. He was brought to the sanatorium at Sierra Madre, but nothing could be done for him; his condition is regarded as hopeless.

Yesterday he was arrested and taken over to the insane ward at the County Hospital. Today he will be examined before Judge Wilbur and the insane commissioners.

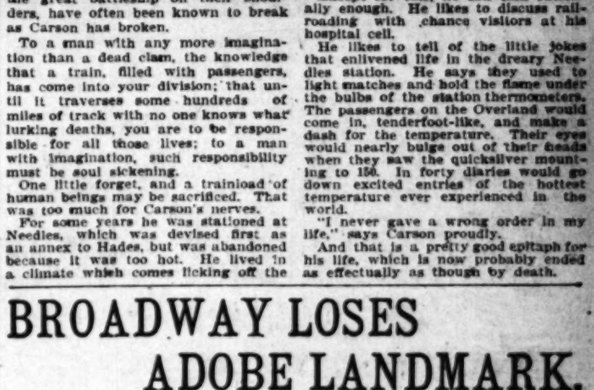
Carson, poor fellow, has some sort of notion that he is enormously wealthy. He has a million or two coming to him today and another paltry bunch of millions tomorrow. He hires a few private secretaries at fabulous salaries every day or so, in his imagination.

Except for this, he can talk rationally enough. He likes to discuss railroading with chance visitors at his hospital cell.

He likes to tell of the little jokes that enlivened life in the dreary Needles station. He says they used to light matches and hold the flame under the bulbs of the station thermometers. The passengers on the Overland would come in, tenderfoot-like, and make a dash for the temperature. Their eyes would nearly bulge out of their heads when they saw the quicksilver mounting to 150. In forty diaries would go down excited entries of the hottest temperature ever experienced in the world.

"I never gave a wrong order in my life," says Carson proudly.

And that is a pretty good epitaph for his life, which is now probably ended as effectually as though by death.



I. S. CARSON
The Crazed Train Dispatcher.

BROADWAY LOSES ADOBE LANDMARK.

PICK and sledge, hammer and chisel and wheelbarrow and débris cart are completing the demolition of the old adobe house which for many years has been a landmark on the east side of Broadway, a few doors north of The Times Building.

According to estimates of such old-timers as John T. Gaffey and R. F. Del Valle the building has stood there for sixty years.

About forty years ago the place was owned and occupied by J. W. Peterson, who was a prominent Odd Fellow and whose wife was a sister of Ina D. Coolbrith, the poet.

Of late years the house, once gay with the spirit of hacienda days, has been turned to various uses, and now it is being removed to make clear the way for a fine business block.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

All the members of the new City Board of Health were present last night at the first meeting of the board, held in the Mayor's office. Dr. L. P. Powers was reëlected as City Health Officer, and Dr. Garenon, who has been serving as interne at the California Hospital, was elected as assistant to Dr. Powers.

Dr. Day, the City Chemist, presented reports on analyses of the adulterated foods, but no action was taken by the board. The members held an informal discussion of the work of their department, and decided to continue the general policy of the board just retiring.

AT THE CITY HALL.

HEADS BEGIN TO DROP OFF.

CORRIDOR GOSSIPERS FIND FOOD FOR TALK.

Change in Park Board Secretary Will be Made Today—Chief Deputy to City Assessor Walks Out. Throngs Continue to Besiege Street Superintendent Hanley.

There was a considerable gathering of gossipers and of the curious about the corridors of the City Hall yesterday drawn by rumors of changes in certain of the offices. Many others were looking after the interests of their friends. The old and new City Councilmen were in and out all day and they were invariably buttonholed by interested people as they entered or emerged from doors.

Among the few who got wind of it, there was considerable talk about the appointment of R. H. Mullally as secretary of the Park Commission, to succeed E. H. Hopkins. Though the appointment will not be actually made until this afternoon when the board will meet by call of the Mayor, Mr. Mullally was introduced to Secretary Hopkins yesterday by the Mayor as his successor, and he was taken over the books and guided into the routine of the office.

There was some adverse comment from people who are wont to find fault with the Mayor, because the appointee is the Mayor's father-in-law. But as he is an affable gentleman well fitted for the place no other cause could be assigned for objecting to the appointment. Occupying, as he does, a desk in the outer office of the Mayor the secretary of the Park Commission is the first to come in contact with most visitors who wish to see the Mayor and he can be of much service.

Mr. Mullally is an old resident of the city, though he is but 35 years of age, and has been a member of the merchandise brokerage firm of Fuller, Leighton & Co., doing business in the wholesale district at No. 310 South Los Angeles street, and he is a competent business man as well as a man of pleasing address. Mayor McAleer said yesterday:

"I offer them a good man and I don't see why anybody should object because he is my father-in-law. He is one of the two men closest to me here in the office and with he and Clerk McKee who has lived neighbor to me for a dozen years, I shall feel that I am always in the hands of my friends. I felt the importance of getting warm personal friends in these places. It may also be said that Mr. Mullally is a Democrat, but I got many Democratic votes that I appreciated and I feel that they are worthy of recognition."

There was some talk afloat about the Assessor's office, too, but Assessor Lewis is keeping his brig steady in the stream and there will be no howl from people who are interested in a business-like administration of the office.

"I have no personal friends to reward" said Mr. Lewis yesterday, "and I have no disposition to in any way avoid the civil service. All I want is competent men and if I can't have them I would prefer not having the office."

Oscar Nunnaley, chief deputy under Wismer, took his hat from the peg for the last time last night. It is no secret that he was personally distasteful to the incoming assessor and he saved further unpleasantness by quitting his place. A. B. Conrad, who has been a valuation deputy under Wismer, will today be advanced to the place occupied by Nunnaley, though his title will be that of "Chief Valuation Deputy." This is a temporary arrangement and may or may not be permanently continued.

The title assumed by Mr. Conrad by direction of his chief is the one named in the ordinance passed by the old City Council at its last business session, which is now in the hands of the Mayor awaiting his signature, and is being considered from a legal standpoint by the City Attorney. Should it be pronounced legal it is more than probable that it will be signed by the Mayor.

TOILERS' MECCA.

BUSY STREET DEPARTMENT.

The office of the Street Superintendent continued to be the Mecca for the bulk of visitors to the City Hall yesterday. All day Mr. Hanley was besieged by a great throng of men which filled his office and swarmed out into the corridor, and they refused to adjourn for lunch. Added to the general crowd were several women, one of them holding her place near the door for a long time with a bit of a babe in her arms until she found her turn to intercede for her husband and the father of her babe, who was probably one of the large number of emergency men laid off on the previous day.

No crowd of anxious callers are entitled to more consideration than those who are seeking interviews with the Street Superintendent. Their tenure has been the uncertain one of being hired from day to day, and a day out of employment means greater hardship to themselves and their families than falls to the lot of any other body of citizens that might be named. That they are all courteously received in their turn is creditable to the superintendent and he made friends even of those who may not be so fortunate as to find employment.

BEGIN AT HOME.

BAD SANITARY CONDITIONS.

There is something for the new Building Superintendent to do near home. The plumbing in the City Hall is acknowledged to be execrable and the cause of the trouble should be sought out and corrected. It is a common thing for the closets to choke up and overflow on the floors and the result is an aggregation of smells that has the whole official force complaining and keeps them constantly apologizing to visitors for the condition. Mr. Backus can win the gratitude of everybody who is employed about the city building as well as of visitors if he at once does something to ameliorate the condition.

Ex-Superintendent Krouse packed his suit case and moved out yesterday, after taking his successor through the building and making him acquainted with the various departments.

TWENTY YEARS' WATER FIGHT ENDS IN COMPROMISE.

Dispute Over Division of Stream in San Dimas Canyon Settled After Flow Has Ceased—Litigants Come to Terms When Nothing is Left to Fight Over.

A rather extraordinary bit of litigation came to an end yesterday in Judge Allen's court, when counsel in the suit of the San Dimas Irrigation Company and the San Dimas Reservoir and Water Company against the San Dimas Land and Water Company, M. F. Douglass, D. C. Teague and M. L. Sparks, compromised the issues and the matter passed out of court.

It was stipulated and agreed to in open court that the defendants are to use four-fifths of the water flowing in the San Dimas Cañon above the point of diversion, and of all waters developed by tunneling, etc., until the four-fifths share amounts to thirty inches under a four-inch pressure. The plaintiffs, on the other hand, are to have one-fifth of this water. In other words, the first 37½ inches of water is to be divided so that the defendants take four-fifths and the plaintiffs one-fifth. All water in excess of 37½ inches is to go to the plaintiffs.

Now that agreement sounds good, but while the litigation has been going on during the last twenty years, the San Dimas Cañon has gone so dry that there is not enough water in it to moisten a postage stamp.

This fight over water that has disappeared began when the San José Land and Water Company brought suit against the San José Ranch Company, and the late Judge Clark tried the case in the latter eighties. That suit was appealed to the Supreme Court, which in due course, and without any hurry, affirmed the judgment of the lower court. But the litigants were not quite satisfied and counsel thought there were still some obscurities to clear away, so the case was carried into the Supreme Court of the United States. About the year 1900 the court of last resort handed down a decision again affirming the judgment of the court below.

But in the meantime this prolonged fighting over the one suit caused a great light to shine upon the parties involved and their counsel. There was new fighting ground that had been left out in the previous suit, and so the San Dimas company at once began suit against the San José company on practically the same issues. Justice Van Dyke of the State Supreme Court was at that time on the bench of the Superior Court here, and he tried this case. But the defeated party wouldn't accept his decision without having a try at the court above, and so the case drifted its way into the Supreme Court. The trial took place in 1896, and the decision was handed down from the Supreme Court last year.

But before the last named suit had pursued its way very far, the action just compromised was begun, and it has been continued from time to time to await the decisions in the other cases. Now the whole matter is adjusted—when there is no longer anything left to adjust.

The water supply around San Dimas is said to be good and very stable, but it is for the most part obtained by pumping. The cañon has run dry, and the pumping has reduced the water plane to what may be considered its normal, for there is no further decrease being made apparent. In the event of a heavy rainfall it is said that as much as 200 inches may rush down the San Dimas Cañon, but a man with a measuring stick will have to hurry to get the measurements before it flows away. Whether any water will ever make continuous flow down the cañon is an open question, and the compromise of yesterday is apparently merely a covering of all eventualities.

FIGHTING FOR POINTS.

CARPENTER MURDER TRIAL.

The trial of C. M. Carpenter, the Humane Society official, for the alleged murder of C. D. Frey at Hunter's Ranch on May 1 of last year, has not yet developed any features of exceptional interest. The case was threshed out so finely at the examination that a big, bulky volume of printed testimony arises up in judgment against each witness as soon as he goes upon the witness stand. The transcript of the evidence taken before the Coroner, too, is cutting a figure in the case, and so far counsel appear to be sparring for points.

Yesterday Dr. G. W. Campbell described the wound as shown at the autopsy, the bullet having entered the back under the right shoulder blade, and penetrated upward until it lodged just under the skin over the chest. After the Coroner, N. B. Warley, T. Huddington, Herman Gerke, George Frank and Eugene Phipps, told what they saw at the celebrated cocking main given on Hunter's ranch under the auspices of the Los Angeles Cock Fighting Club. None of the witnesses would confess to being members of the club in good standing, but they did say that they joined the club just for the purpose of attending this one fight.

The last two witnesses examined, Frank and Phipps, got rather badly entangled. Their statements yesterday did not compare well with what they stated at the Coroner's inquest held two days after the killing of Frey. Phipps, indeed, gave a fairly circumstantial account yesterday of the shooting, and told just about how Carpenter had held the pistol, but at the Coroner's inquest he had denied having seen the actual shooting. When confronted with his own testimony he didn't make a great success in trying to reconcile the conflicting statements.

A VILLAINOUS CASE.

MEEHAN LOOKED AHEAD.

T. J. Meehan is an elderly man who thought he might get a sentence less than he deserved by pleading guilty to the charge of rape upon Bessie Phillips, a girl under the legal age. Inasmuch as this crime always draws down a heavy punishment, it was a matter of surprise that Meehan should plead guilty, but he knew what he was doing.

Just one thing the defendant didn't take into consideration—the court's curiosity to know something about a case before passing sentence. Judge Smith inquired into the facts, and a most villainous and revolting state of affairs was revealed.

Meehan came with his wife and family from Sacramento a short time ago. Bessie Phillips is his stepdaughter, and was 5 years of age when her mother married Meehan. The arresting officer testified that the girl stated to Capt. Auble when Meehan was arrested, that he had begun to assault her when she was 12 years of age, and that finally he compelled her to lead a public life of shame. The girl had been a common prostitute for two weeks when the police department developed the facts.

"Dear me, Mr. Meehan," said Judge Smith, "this is too serious. I want that girl here. If all this is so, it practically lets you out."

Meehan denied that he had caused his stepdaughter to run around, and that she had done so of her own free will. But he said this rather half-heartedly, and in contrast to the nice little sing-song he had made when asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed.

"I feel extremely sorry that I am here this morning," he had said. "I can't express the feelings in my heart. I've spent forty-two years on this earth, and can say before God and man that this is the first time I have ever been involved in any wrong. It nearly breaks my heart to think that I have now to go to the penitentiary."

Meehan spoke his little piece very well—so well, indeed, that Judge Smith wanted to know if the girl was so mature as to offer even a shadow of excuse. It was then the full facts came out, and the court continued the case until Saturday morning, when a full inquiry will be held. But in the meantime Meehan has acknowledged his guilt. It is now only a question of the length of the term in the State's prison.

AGAIN CONTINUED.

TIMES CONTEMPT MATTER.

The alleged contempt procedings initiated against the editor and business manager of The Times by three members of the grand jury again occupied the attention of Judge Wilbur yesterday for about five minutes, and was then continued until next Monday.

Attorney W. J. Hunsaker, representing Gen. H. G. Otis and Harry Chandler, both of whom were present in court, raised certain objections which will be argued either orally or on briefs, as may be determined. Mr. Hunsaker contended that the affidavits upon which the order to show cause had been issued do not allege that any of the statements contained in the article complained of were untrue, and, consequently, for the purposes of consideration of the objections raised they must be considered as true.

Furthermore, counsel claimed that the articles complained of do not constitute a contempt of either the court or of the grand jury. From the statements contained in the articles it was argued that the grand jury was acting in an extra judicial and unofficial capacity in its investigation into the affairs of City Treasurer Workman. Despite the fact that the powers of the grand jury are limited to returning indictments or making presentments, the body allowed Mr. Workman certain time within which to take the funds of the city into his personal custody, or be indicted. Counsel maintained that the grand jury had here exceeded its powers, and consequently such action was proper subject for criticism, and was not in any way a contempt.

Judge Wilbur acquiesced in counsel's view of the grand jury's action as being extra judicial, and wanted to know if it was intended to introduce any evidence. Mr. Hunsaker stated that there were no questions of fact, and that only the legal points would be raised.

Dist.-Atty. Fredericks had no objection to continuing the matter, and the court thereupon ordered a continuance until next Monday at 2 o'clock.

BROTHERS INSANE.

SECOND ONE FOR PATTON.

For the second time within a few months one of the McCormick family has been committed to the State Hospital at Patton. Yesterday Jacob B. H. McCormick, was brought before Judge Wilbur and the lunacy commission for examination. Since his brother went insane this brother had brooded and sorrowed over the matter until he, too, has now been pronounced insane.

The patient began by being very voluble and ended by being inclined to violence. He told the court that for three years he had been at Catalina and had been systematically and regularly hypnotized. Who was operating upon him he didn't know beyond the fact that in the group of men were a doctor and a judge. McCormick said that he could hear these men talking together but could not distinguish what they were saying.

McCormick has proved an annoyance by standing in front of St. Vincent's Church and giving utterance to diatribes against all churches generally and St. Vincent's in particular. Yesterday he began an involved harangue about the priests whom he contended had more spiritual power than laymen, and consequently could exercise hypnotic powers at a long distance. But with many blasphemies McCormick maintained that he is an infidel and believes in neither God nor devil.

When the court ordered the patient to be quiet and cease his rude remarks he became worse and waxed very indignant when Judge Wilbur ordered that he be removed from the courtroom.

"Say, Judge," he called out in anger "give me a pistol and I'll blow my brains out."

The order for his committment was made.

SMITH AGAINST SMITH.

PLAINTIFF SMITH WINS.

On the last day of December, 1903, J. S. Smith drove in his wagon into the feed and hay store of W. Clifford Smith and F. N. Lewis at Long Beach. He wanted to get some hay and had his little girl in the wagon with him. While examining the hay from the wagon a number of bales fell down on top of J. S. Smith, and one bale pinned down the child in the wagon. For a time it seemed as if a really serious accident had occurred. Three times the doctor was with the child the first night, but it afterwards developed that no great injury had been suffered by the little one. But J. S. Smith began suit on his own account against the hay firm and yesterday it came to trial before Judge Trask. He claimed $5000, and set out that he had been confined to his bed for thirty days, and was so generally knocked out by the accident that $5000 would just about compensate him for the damage that had been wrought to his physical make-up.

Judge Trask gave judgment in favor of plaintiff for $250.

WIFE TOO GOOD.

SO HUSBAND LEFT HER.

Mrs. Netta M. Phillips was in Judge York's court yesterday asking for a divorce from Lynn S. Phillips, on the ground of desertion. She is young and pretty, and stated that her husband told her that she was too good a wife for him and that was why he left her.

They were married in 1900. On April 2, 1901, Phillips skipped out without leaving any message for his wife, and, as she stated, without having had any trouble whatever with her. She said that her home was happy, that she and her husband never had a cross word, and that no cause existed that she knew of for his running away.

In the following September they met again accidentally, and Mrs. Phillips said he was as glad to see her as if no bar stood between them.

"He told me that I had been a good woman—too good for him—but he refused to come home and live with me and forget the past."

Mrs. Grace mother of the complaining wife, corroborated her daughter and Judge York granted the decree asked for.

WANTS A FRANCHISE.

SUPERVISORS APPEALED TO.

J. Harvey McCarthy of the Pioneer Investment and Trust Company wants an electric street railway franchise to cover the following route: Beginning at the intersection of East First street and Indiana street, thence southerly along Indiana street to the north line of East Fifth street. The application will be dealt with by the Board of Supervisors in regular order.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

HURTS HIS CONSCIENCE. Valentine Soto was before Judge Smith yesterday to plead guilty to grand larceny in having stolen a bicycle. The court said that it hurts his conscience to send men "to state prison for stealing that kind of truck," but the law bound him down. Judge Smith did the best he could and gave Soto the minimum sentence of one year. The bicycle stolen was taken from W. J. Killiam.

AN EPILEPTIC. R. Roe was sent yesterday to the hospital at Patton by Judge Wilbur. This patient has suffered from epileptic fits for many years. Recently he has been under treatment, though the acute attacks caused some other kind of brain deterioration set in, for Roe became quite unbalanced in mind.

FISHING ORDINANCE. The supervisors yesterday passed an ordinance making it a misdemeanor for anyone to draw a purse or seine net within 200 feet of a wharf within the county. Such offense is punishable by fine, not exceeding $500, or by imprisonment, not exceeding six months; or both. Avalon Bay being regarded as the natural spawning place of certain kinds of fish, it is also made a misdemeanor for anyone to seine within that bay, the general penalty being applicable also in this case.

METALS AND JUNK. The Los Angeles Junk Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $10,000, of which $6000 has been subscribed. The directors are: R. F. Bennett, J. Goldstein, P. Senegram, S. Harris and Esther Senegram, all of Los Angeles.

FATHER WAS KILLED. John L. Bohn has begun suit against the Pacific Electric Railway Company, in his capacity as administrator of the estate of the late Peter Bohn, to recover $50,000 as damages. Peter Bohn was killed while riding in his wagon across the track at Compton on September 12, by reason of a car running into the wagon. He left a widow, Uphelia Bohn, and four children—Samuel and John L. Bohn, Mary E. Kennedy and Della Etz; also two grandchildren by a deceased son.

HE "NEEDED" THE MONEY.

Amateur Champion Berger Offends Olympic Club.

Took Not Only Punishment but Payment Therefor.

Hart-Johnson Fight is Off. College Carnival.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because he took money for being walloped by "Longshoreman" Casey in a bout at Mechanics' Pavilion last week, Sam Berger, amateur heavyweight champion of America, is now to lose his membership in the Olympic Club.

It is for an offense that has been most common recently that Berger is to be given the "go," and President William Greer Harrison of the Olympic Club is going to take a firm stand against the acceptance of money by those who claim the title of amateurs.

It is not the first time that Berger has been in disfavor with the club, and for several months his resignation has been in the hands of the directors. When Berger helped in the training of Fitzsimmons in his fight with Gardner, he was reported as having received money for his work, and his expulsion from the ranks of the Olympics was then considered.

Through the intervention of friends, he was allowed to remain in the club, but was asked to file his resignation, which was to be acted upon at any time that the directors thought he had offended further. Next Friday night Sammy will be dropped from the club.

HART-JOHNSON FIGHT OFF.

GANS TO MEET GARDINER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because Pierce of Boston was behind Marvin Hart, the San Francisco Examiner served notice on Manager Greggains that it would not mention the fight he had arranged between Hart and Jack Johnson for January 27. This was due to Pierce's hostile criticism of every fight pulled off here in months. Greggains at once declared the match off, and then secured a match between Gans and Jimmy Gardiner at 133 pounds at 6 o'clock. As Gans and Gardiner have both declared this weight too low for them to fight strong at, it is safe to say they have a private understanding to fight at catch weights, but are trying to hoodwink the talent by having the articles call for 133 pounds. This match will draw a good crowd, as sports here are eager to see what kind of a showing young Gardiner will make against a veteran like Gans.

FRANKLIN FIELD CARNIVAL.

COLLEGE ATHLETES TO MEET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From assurances which have already been received, it is certain that there will be no less than twelve hundred athletes in competition at the University of Pennsylvania's eleventh annual relay carnival, which is to be held on Franklin field April 29. These games furnish the only meeting ground of the two sections of the country, and the westerners are determined to make the best of them.

For the first time, every section of the country east of the Mississippi River from the northern and southern border will be on hand with teams. The speed and strength of the West will be cared for by Michigan, Wisconsin, Chicago, California, Perdue, Iowa, Minnesota and Notre Dame.

HARD JOLT FOR TALENT.

DEL CARINA COMES SECOND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—The top-heavy favorite, Del Carina, gave the talent a hard jolt at Emeryville today. She finished second. A clever field of handicap horses lined up for the fourth race, and Honiton was played as if the race was already won, but could not go the route with the weight. She was an easy second to Schoolmate, 8 to 1. The weather was clear and track good. Summary:

Seven furlongs, selling: Handy Bill, 108 (W. Daly,) 3 to 1, won; Del Carina, 102 (Greenfield,) 13 to 20, second; Baker, 98 (Michaels,) 12 to 5, third; time 1:28½. Macene, San José and Glenfinan also ran.

Three furlongs, purse: Sir Wilfred, 118 (Jones,) 7 to 10, won; Soledad, 110 (Sullman,) 18 to 5, second; Abe Meyer, 110 (Hoffman,) 20 to 1, third; time 0:34½. Dora Gentry, Equorum Rex, Lola Girl, Lady Catherine, Capt. Burnett, Red Tenny, Avonalia and Bill Perry also ran.

One mile, selling: Budd Wade, 106 (Chandler,) 5 to 2, won; Lady Kent, 109 (Knapp,) 11 to 5, second; The Lieutenant, 106 (Jones,) 11 to 5, third; time 1:43¾. Lady Fashion, Molto, Mr. Farnum, Waterspout and Vulcain also ran.

Mile and seventy yards, purse: Schoolmate, 106 (Davis,) 8 to 1, won; Honiton, 118 (Travers,) even, second; Ishtar, 93 (Knapp,) 50 to 1, third; time 1:44½. Magrane, Leila, Selicho and Oro Eva also ran.

Futurity course, selling: Redan, 110 (Sullman,) 7 to 1, won; Joe Frey, 107 (Kunz,) 16 to 1, second; Royal White, 99 (Bell,) 25 to 1, third; time 1:11¾. Revolt, Peter J., Velma Clark, Miss Swedish, Bee Rosewater and Berendos also ran.

Six furlongs, purse: Ishtar, 102 (McBride,) 15 to 1, won; Judge, 109 (Michaels,) 6 to 1, second; Little Wally, 97 (Bonner,) 25 to 1, third; time 1:14½. Rubia, Padua and Rector also ran.

"BATTLING" NELSON SORE.

HE HAS SPLIT WITH MURPHY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—"Battling" Nelson left the country yesterday on a hunting expedition, and before he departed, he declared that he had severed all relations with Ted Murphy. He said he knew that, after all that had passed between them, it would be utterly impossible for them to get along together harmoniously in future.

Nelson has as yet secured nobody to look after his interests, and will not let the matter rest until his return from the north. He fully expects to get a return match with Jimmy Britt, and is laying his lines to that end, although, from present appearance it looks as though "Battling" will have to be content with a return engagement with "Young Corbett" as the champion is after an international match with Jabez White, who looks easier and would draw as well at the house.

Nelson is also sore over the

This ruse will draw a good crowd, as both here are eager to see what kind of a showing young Gardiner will make against a veteran like Gans.

FRANKLIN FIELD CARNIVAL.

COLLEGE ATHLETES TO MEET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From assurances which have already been received, it is certain that there will be no less than one hundred athletes in competition at the University of Pennsylvania's eleventh annual relay carnival, which is to be held on Franklin field April 29. These games furnish the only meeting ground of the two sections of the country, and the westerners are determined to make the best of them. For the first time, every section of the country east of the Mississippi river from the northern and southern border will be on hand with teams. The speed and strength of the West will be tested for by Michigan, Wisconsin, Chicago, California, Perdue, Iowa, Minnesota and Notre Dame.

HARD JOLT FOR TALENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—The topheavy favorite, Del Carina, gave the talent a hard jolt at Emeryville today. He finished second. A clever field of handicap horses lined up for the fourth race, and Honiton was played as if the race was already won, but could not go the route with the weight. She was an easy second to Schoolmate, 8 to 1. The weather was clear and track good.

Summary:

Seven furlongs, selling: Handy Bill, 106 (W. Daly,) 5 to 1, won; Del Carina, 106 (Gruenfeld,) 13 to 20, second; Baker, 106 (Michaels,) 13 to 5, third; time 1:30. Macene, San José and Glenfinan also ran.

Three furlongs, purse: Sir Wilfred, 107 (Jones,) 7 to 10, won; Soledad, 110 (Greenfield,) 18 to 5, second; Abe Meyer, 107 (Hoffman,) 20 to 1, third; time :36½. Dora Gentry, Equorum Rex, La Glen, Lady Catherine, Capt. Burnett, Red Tenny, Avonalis and Bill Barr also ran.

One mile, selling: Budd Wade, 106 (Chandler,) 5 to 2, won; Lady Kent, 109 (Knapp,) 11 to 5, second; The Lieutenant, 106 (Jones,) 11 to 5, third; time 1:43. Lady Fashion, Molto, Mr. Farnum, Waterspout and Vulcain also ran.

Five and seventy yards, purse: Schoolmate, 106 (Davis,) 8 to 1, won; Ishtar, 118 (Travers,) even, second; Judge, 98 (Knapp,) 50 to 1, third; time :78. Magrane, Leila, Sellcho and Oro Fino also ran.

Futurity course, selling: Redan, 110 (Hoffman,) 7 to 1, won; Joe Frey, 107 (Kunz,) 16 to 1, second; Royal White, 110 (Bell,) 25 to 1, third; time 1:11⅘. Sweet Peter J., Velma Clark, Miss Devlin, Bee Rosewater and Berendos also ran.

Five furlongs, purse: Ishtar, 102 (McDaniel,) 15 to 1, won; Judge, 109 (Knapp,) 6 to 1, second; Little Wally, 104 (Bonner,) 25 to 1, third; time 1:14⅘. Miss Padua and Rector also ran.

"BATTLING" NELSON SORE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—"Battling" Nelson left the country yesterday on a hunting excursion, and before he departed, he showed that he had severed all relations with Ted Murphy. He said he knew that, after all that had passed between them, it would be utterly impossible for them to get along together harmoniously in future.

Nelson has as yet secured nobody to look after his interests, and will not do so until the matter rest until his return from the north. He fully expects to get a return match with Gans, and is laying his lines to that end, although, from present appearance it looks as though "Battling" will have to be content with a match engagement with "Young Corbett," as the champion is after an international match with Jabez White, which would take earlier and would draw as a house.

There is also sore over the way in which Murphy treated him after his victory over Corbett. Nelson can easily secure a new manager, but Murphy will have trouble getting so good a man as the Dane.

HILDEBRAND PAINED.

OFFENDED AT JUDGES.

A harum-scarum rumor went the rounds at the race track yesterday that Jockey Hildebrand intended to leave Los Angeles and seek greener pastures and if this is a fact it is not likely that anyone will stop him. He has done much foul riding here in the past three weeks.

It appears that his dignity has been offended by the judges fining him and calling him down, but the boy should remember that there will probably be racing in the United States and even in Los Angeles when he is safely planted under the green, green grass.

BASKETBALL.

NO GAME SATURDAY.

There will be no basketball games Saturday night. The hall can not be secured, and the announcement was a little bit premature.

The basketball association will meet tonight at the Y. M. C. A., to pass on a schedule. It now looks as if fifteen teams would be in, and a double league seems the only way in which all can get a whack at the championship.

MAY YET COME.

EASTERN TENNIS CRACKS.

Archie Way has received advices from George Wright of Boston leading him to infer that there is still a chance of two and perhaps of three of the Eastern crack racket wielders coming to the Coast this winter.

George Wright and his son, Beals, are figuring on a business trip to this part of the country in about a month and will undoubtedly play some tennis while here. A tournament will be arranged for their benefit.

It is hoped that Kreigh Collins, or Ray Little may be persuaded to accompany the Wrights.

Bell has ranked better than tenth in the list of premier tennis players of America. He has achieved the highest court honors ever earned by a Californian.

BAIT CLAUSE OUT.

NEW WHARF ORDINANCE.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday took action that will make it popular with the sportsmen in cutting out the "bait clause" in the wharf seining ordinance thereby making that measure something more than a dead letter on the books.

It is still illegal to seine within 250 feet of any wharf in Los Angeles county. The "bait clause" so called related to shore seining in Avalon Harbor, Catalina, and practically invalidated the entire law. The present ordinance, it is believed, can be enforced and Game Warden Morgan means to secure an arrest at the earliest possible opportunity.

BAD JOCKEY SUSPENDED.

Lawrence is Set Down for Queer Riding.

Two Trainers and Two Nags Also Get Theirs.

Tim Payne Taken by Bonsack—Long Shot Wins.

Jockey Lawrence indefinitely suspended for crooked riding.

Trainer Tomlinson and horse Nellie May ruled off for racing with heavy shoes.

Trainer W. St. Vincent and horse Tangible suspended for horse being sent to the post in unfit condition.

Horse Tim Payne claimed in fifth race for $1325 by L. A. Bonsack.

Dutiful wins at 20 to 1.

Horse Ben Lear run up to $700 and retained by owner, in second race.

There were great and wondrous doings at Ascot Park yesterday, but above the crash and din of the transactions there must have come one great and "one joyful" thought to the hundreds of sports who test their daily fortunes against the bookmakers—the thought that Jockey Lawrence, who has lost thousands of dollars for men and women in this city by riding in a way that is believed by many to have been very crooked, will not bother the public any more for some time to come. He was suspended yesterday, after a long series of rides that probably would not bear investigation. It might be added that if the judges care to earn the lasting gratitude of the sports in this town they should rule him off for good.

In addition to this good work the judges sat down on several more bad ones, ruling off Trainer Tomlinson and the horse Nellie May and suspending Trainer St. Vincent and the horse Tangible. All of it was done quietly and with little of the news reaching the general public, but it will come to the majority of the sports this morning as a very agreeable surprise. Back of it all is the belief that there is more trouble in store for several people.

PAYNE HAS NEW OWNER.

In addition to the suspensions the good horse Tim Payne, belonging to Mrs. James Blute, was claimed out of the fifth race by L. A. Bonsack for $1325, Bonsack having finished third to Tim Payne with the favorite, Blissful. While such things are of almost every day occurrence, this one may be of some importance in the future as a possible starter of a selling race war, for it is said that the Blute stable is not one of those that take kindly to the experience of having the Blute horses taken out of races, and is likely to retaliate on Bonsack when a good opportunity arrives.

The downfall of the bad actor, Jockey Lawrence, was announced during the afternoon with the handing out of the New Year's packages to Trainers Tomlinson and St. Vincent, and the cause of it was the result of the second race, in which Lawrence did not ride. Of the ten entries in this event Schoharie was scratched, and this left Ben Lear the natural favorite. With Puddin' McDaniel on him the bookmakers were so scared of Ben that 7 to 10 was about the best they would lay against him, and plenty of wise money was set in at these figures. As things turned out there was nothing else in the race but Ben, for he led Sir Christopher two lengths at the last turn, four into the stretch and won easily by four lengths. This set the judges to thinking, and looking back to Monday's races they saw that Lawrence had ridden Ben Lear in the first race on that day. Although Lear was the favorite, the records show that he was beaten over sixteen lengths, and this was deemed to be good evidence that Lawrence had pulled the horse. Then Lawrence's death warrant was written, and it is believed that if they had looked at the last race on Monday and remembered how Lawrence rode Golden Light, they would have written two warrants instead of one.

In this second race was a horse called Nellie May, and she finished absolutely last. The judges didn't like the way she traveled, and on examination, it was seen that she had been shod with heavy shoes, "ordinary or training shoes" being sufficient to disqualify a racer. The track blacksmith was sent for, and when he stated that he had put heavy shoes on Nellie May according to orders, that was enough to cook the goose of Trainer Tomlinson.

VINCENT LAID OFF.

Trainer St. Vincent and the horse Tangible were suspended as a result of the first dog race of the day, when the best the favorite, Tangible, could do was to run a bad third. The judges didn't take kindly to this race, and after an investigation they learned that Tangible had a hole in one of her legs, or a slight wound that rendered her unfit for racing.

Four thousand people were at the track, and they had a bad afternoon trying to light on the right ones. Three of the six races were won by nags that no one figured in the dope, and the others were won by those not selected by any large number of sports. In the worst field of dogs, Lauretta Phillips grabbed it by five lengths at 7 to 1. July Gyp being second, after leading all the way into the stretch with a flying start. Concelt and No Friend were out of the money, each having had a strong play.

The second race went to Ben Lear, the hot favorite, who made everything else look cheap. The third event went to Position, overlooked by all the professional touts and the dope fiends in general. About all of these misguided ones picked Great Eastern, but the best this one could do was third, after a bungling ride by Lynch. The third was captured easily by Kenilworth, who evidently had become weary of running in the muck his last three races and decided to go out and win one.

DUTIFUL WINS.

The fourth event furnished the surprise of the day in the victory of the 30-to-1 shot Dutiful, who, with a flying start, beat the others from the barrier by two lengths and under urging all through the stretch managed to beat out Tim Payne a neck, the warm favorite Blissful always being third. The McGrathiana Prince, which some of the professional touts gave as their extra special had the dub Lawrence on, and getting away last, stayed there all the way, but it was doubtless the horse's fault this time.

MORE QUEER RIDING.

The last race was won by Hersain from the strong favorite Agnes Mack, and this finish furnished the rumor that the judges might possibly look into the riding of Sinnott on Agnes Mack. She came tearing into the stretch four lengths ahead of Hersain, and then was beaten a length, a large number of sports declaring that Sinnott pulled Agnes so she could not win. He let her swerve in the stretch and certainly put up a very peculiar ride on such a free-running horse. Sinnott is such a bad one, however, that nothing more could be expected of him.

TRACK WORK NOW AT HAND.

COLLEGE ATHLETES BEGIN TO TRAIN ON CAMPUSES.

Lively Field at U.S.C. Composed of Holmes's Men and the High School Candidates—Baseball to Rest Until After Easter Except at St. Vincent's—Occidental.

Yesterday virtually marked the opening of the intercollegiate track season.

U.S.C. and St. Vincent's resumed school, and in the afternoon the athletes turned out in force on each campus. At Methodist Field both Harvey Holmes's squad and the husky youngsters of the local High School were going through the motions, and by the end of the week training will doubtless be in full swing.

Pomona College will start track work under Coach Hempel's supervision next Monday afternoon, and Ed Merrill already has his eyes upon a promising team at Occidental.

U.S.C. has a number of weights candidates, among them Miller, Bickford, Webb of the football team, and Comstock and Hudson, recent acquisitions. Curl, Rundell and Clippen are new men who are going in for the distance runs. With Parsons for a sprinter, the dashes are sufficiently well cared for without cause for further worry on Coach Holmes's part.

Track work hereafter will be a regular thing five days in the week at U. S.C. The field has been put into first-class shape, and the track is now fit for practice.

The Los Angeles High School track team this year bids fair to make quite a mark for itself, inasmuch as permission has been received to train at U. S.C. field, thereby settling one great difficulty of former seasons—equipment. The school has a good man in Hussy, who does the distance stunts; he holds the Colorado records, which, strange to say, are higher there in the interscholastic than in the intercollegiate classes. Horace Donnell will do the sprints. Hiram Scholes may not be able to run this year; he recently injured his foot and may have to stay out of athletics for the season. Dunn, a former Stanford middle-distance man, is coaching the High School boys and has every prospect of abundant material within a week. Some of the weight candidates are big, husky lads who ought to learn to put the shot and throw the hammer without much difficulty.

Baseball practice began at St. Vincent's yesterday, and the team will do considerable light work from now on, although by a sort of mutual agreement between late coaches, not much will be attempted in intercollegiate baseball until after Easter. To that time track work will be the orders of the day.

St. Vincent's baseball team is likely to be considerably crippled as compared with last year's line-up. Campbell, the catcher, is very ill and has been so for several weeks intermittently. The Moriartys are out of the game now, and a crack pair of basemen must be dug up to take their places. Little Art Shafer, who promises much as a second baseman, has gone to Santa Clara College. He is a clever little fielder, though a lightweight with the stick. The team will have a good pair of pitchers in Bob Fitzwilliams and Bill Lane. The latter expects to tame his wildness somewhat this spring, and if he does, will be a very effective twirler, indeed.

Athletic returns from Occidental are awaited with considerable interest by a large proportion of those interested in college sports, owing to a widespread belief that Merrill's stable holds some "dark horses" this season. He is known to have a number of good men and the present outlook is that whoever beats Occidental will win the year's athletic honors.

BOWLING.

COMMERCIAL PLANS.

The Commercial League held its its final meeting last evening and decided to start its tournament next Monday evening at MacKenzie Alleys. Kings team and the Crescents opening the ball. The entries close Saturday evening. Teams from Long Beach and Santa Monica will be invited to enter.

Rowing Lake for Princeton Boys.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Contracts have just been awarded for the construction near Princeton, N. J., of an artificial lake four miles long, to be used principally as a rowing course for the university students. A number of wealthy men contributed to the fund for building the lake, which will have a uniform depth of eight feet, will be formed by damming Millstone river and will extend along the Delaware and Raritan Canal.

The total appraised value of merchandise imported at the port of New York during 1904 was $552,709,959, as against $553,225,906, in 1903, and $524,871,410 for 1902.

A "SQUARE DEAL" FOR ALL.

The President, in his plain, outspoken way, sent this message to the American people on the first day of the year:

"All I ask is a square deal for every man. Give him a fair chance. Do not let him wrong anyone, and do not let him be wronged."

These sentences may not be altogether classical in their elegance of diction, but there is no more doubt as to what they mean than there is regarding the seriousness, the saneness and the sincerity of the man behind the message.

What does "a square deal for every man" imply? The question is so simple that it virtually answers itself. "A square deal for every man" means that every man shall stand equally before the law; that every man shall be amply protected in the exercise of his personal and citizenship rights, at all hazards and at whatever cost; that every man shall be a free moral agent, to do as he pleases so long as he wrongs no other man and observes the laws of the land.

The code is simple. If every man were actuated by righteous motives and sound principles, there would be "a square deal for every man," and there would be no need to enact laws to compel men to be just, one to another.

The simple code laid down by the President is meant to apply to all the people, not to any particular class, and to all the complex affairs of life. In its refinement it resolves itself into the one potent word, Justice, which is the chief corner-stone in the magnificent temple of free government which we are building.

There is no field of human activity in which the principle of "a square deal" (justice) is more frequently nor more flagrantly violated than in the field of industry. The problems of labor and employment are many and complex—not essentially so, but because they have been made so by the efforts of unscrupulous persons to prevent "a square deal." Most of the injustice, the discord and the wrong in the labor world comes from these trouble-breeders, who are diametrically opposed to "a square deal." There would be peace and harmony and justice in the labor world if it were not for these disturbers.

There is no word more sublime than justice in any language. "A square deal" means simply justice to each and to all citizens. Labor organizations, as they are now conducted, could not exist if the highest ideals of justice were realized. These organizations thrive upon injustice, inflicted either by themselves or at their instigation.

The President, in reaffirming his often-expressed desire for "a square deal," has once more placed himself on record as in favor of justice between man and man. He stands for justice to non-union men as well as to union men, and to all citizens. In this stand he necessarily opposes the pretensions and assumptions of unionists, whose organizations are founded upon injustice and which cannot exist except upon an unfair deal.

Steadily, the moral sentiment of the people of the entire nation is tending toward condemnation of the excesses and the injustices of "organized" labor. The frank declaration of the President in favor of "a square deal" will serve to strengthen this righteous tendency; for the realization of "a square deal for every man" would put an end to the injustices and the excesses of unionism, as every clear-minded person must perforce admit.

The President's New Year's greeting to the American people could hardly have been more tersely or more forcibly stated. All upright citizens should do their utmost to see that it is carried out in practice. If justice could be established throughout the industrial world, labor disturbances would become a thing of the past, and there would be no ground for unions to stand upon, because the injustices which they inflict would no longer be possible.

A VILE SUGGESTION.

E. H. Hamilton, one of the hired hands of the San Francisco Examiner's lie factory, writing from Sacramento under date of January 1, says that $150,000 would elect anybody to the United States Senate from California—"that is, anybody short of one of the leaders in the recent revolt at Folsom." This correspondent of the putrid press, in another place, says:

"The Bard fighters are at the Capitol Hotel. They do not know how many votes they have; neither do the Flint shouters, for that matter. But the Bard men are just as imaginative in 'claiming' things as the others. If the Senator wants to be reelected he will have to put some 'oils and distillates' or a few beans into the campaign. It isn't a good year for politicians, and a little 'assistance' would go a long way. Unless he spends some of the profits of his Los Angeles oil deals, somebody else will be occupying that seat on the back row of the Senate chairs—a seat in which the man from Ventura has made very little noise. Bard is an example of a square man in a round hole. He is an excellent citizen in Hueneme, but he doesn't know how to dance those fancy political dances in Washington."

The contemptible suggestion that the United States Senatorship from California is for sale is quite in keeping with the preposterous Hearst idea that the Presidency of the United States could be bought. But the insinuations regarding Senator Bard are even worse. No man who knows Senator Bard—and he is known to the people of the entire State through his honorable record of efficiency in the Senate—will believe for a moment that he would be guilty of doing anything wrong or mercenary to secure a reelection.

During the less than five years of his occupancy of a seat in the Senate, Mr. Bard has attained prominence and influence in that body such as is seldom attained by a Senator from any State during his first term. He has made no active personal campaign for reëlection. But his hosts of friends throughout the State, appreciating his worth as a man and his value to the State as a Senator, took up and conducted a campaign for him, and the prospect that he will be chosen to succeed himself is very good.

These are facts. The campaign for Mr. Bard was not initiated by himself. His position from the first has been consistent and honorable in the highest degree. "If the people desire me to serve another term as Senator I will do so," he has said over and over again. He is not seeking the office, but the office is seeking him, and it is quite likely to find him.

Under these circumstances, the insinuations of the Hearst whippersnapper, and his attempts to belittle Senator Bard's record in the Senate, are mendacious and indecent beyond expression. Such attacks will only serve to increase the number of Senator Bard's friends, and they ought to insure his election, if anything were lacking to bring about that result.

WHY THE HEATHEN RAGE.

The unesteemed Oxpress printed and the unread Examiner copied, a few days ago, a malevolent attack upon The Times, which is here reproduced in order that it may be given publicity, which the limited circulation of the two organs mentioned did not afford. The Oxpress said (and the Examiner feebly "echoed them sentiments:")

"Probably the one failure of the whole year that has caused the Times management the greatest chagrin lies in its inability to stir up any serious strike or industrial disorder. At one time the idea prevailed in the business element that The Times honestly desired to protect the community from strikes and to prevent their occurrence. That idea of late has given place to another, based on the paper's own utterances, which is that The Times now believes that the only way for it to regain its lost ascendency is to start some kind of labor trouble, where it can array itself on the side of the employer and against the employé. To this end it publishes many columns of insult and contumely for those that work with their hands, and strives to encourage employers to the belief that the workingman has no rights they are bound to respect. If a prolonged strike were to occur in Los Angeles, only one agency in the city would gain by it; the employers would lose profits, the employés would lose wages, the public would incur discomfort—but The Times, having a reputation for fighting all forms of strikes, whether just or unjust, might, and probably would, win back something of its lost prestige. This fact accounts for the increasing bitterness, the boundings and the challenges to combat that it now habitually throws out to the working people. Its failure to accomplish trouble of that form during the last year is another item on the wrong side of its ledger."

The Times republishes this malicious outburst entire, principally because it exposes at once the mendacity, the malice and jealousy of these two alleged newspapers, which it does not pretend to respect. There is hardly a word or a line in the above quotation that is not false, as readers of The Times are well aware.

Of course, every intelligent person in Los Angeles knows that the voice of The Times is, and has always been, for industrial peace, for "a fair deal," and for the protection of all men's rights—those of union men no less than those of non-union men. To declare this fact is to state what every fair-minded man in the city must perforce admit.

In its free discussion of industrial questions, The Times recognizes the fact that these questions are of vital importance in every city, in every State and to the nation. The cringing, crawling, lickspittle publications above mentioned have not the courage, the frankness nor the decency to discuss these vital questions on their merits, and for this reason they (the said publications) are distrusted by the major portion of this community.

The silly talk about the "lost ascendency" of The Times is best and most fully answered by the fact that its advertising patronage (which is rapidly increasing) is 25 per cent. more than double that of the ridiculous Oxpress and the unread Examiner combined, while its bona-fide circulation (also steadily increasing) is considerably more than double that of these publications.

The Times enjoys, as it has enjoyed from the day it was founded, the confidence of this community. It will continue to enjoy this confidence by deserving it. Such puerile and lying attacks as that above quoted serve to increase the confidence and esteem in which The Times is held by the people of Los Angeles and of Southern California.

Therefore, let the heathen rage.

CLEANLY AND CONVENIENT.

A deal of interest is being taken in the Post Check Bill now before Congress. What has come to be known as the post check money system provides that every one, two and five-dollar bill issued by the government shall have on its face blank spaces to be written in when the holder desires to send it by mail in lieu of stamps, coins and the small money orders now employed for that purpose. A part of the scheme is that a bill once used as a check is immediately retired from circulation, destroyed as mutilated currency and reissued. This keeps a constant flow of crisp, new bills from the press to the hands of the people. In these days of microbes and bacteria, when germs find a congenial home in paper money, the check system appeals on the ground of health, while its convenience to the general public is self-evident.

It is noted that our old dodging brother, the unspeakable Turk, who is also sometimes referred to as the sick man of Europe, has prohibited the sale of Bibles in his dominions. THE PLAYHOUSES.

Ben Greet's Return.

Ben Greet's Elizabethan Players are returning to Los Angeles, and will open a fortnight's engagement in repertoire at Temple Auditorium on Monday evening, January 16.

They will commence with three final performances of "Everyman," and on Wednesday evening Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" will be given, with Mr. Greet as Malvolio. "As You Like It" will also be given that week which will conclude Saturday evening with a revival of "Hamlet," the performance being in Elizabethan style, from the original version. This takes five hours, and will be given in two parts, with an intermission for dinner from 6 until 8 o'clock.

The second week will be devoted to revivals of "Much Ado About Nothing," "The Merchant of Venice," and one other play.

THEODORE, JR., TO COME WEST.

PRESIDENT'S SON TO DO LONG MOUNTAIN TRIP.

Will Arrive in Santa Barbara in June and Proceed on Saddle to the Headwaters of the Tuolumne River. Journey Likely to Occupy Three or Four Months.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 4.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., will arrive in Santa Barbara next June, and in company with Reginald White of this city and Wesley Thompson, an experienced mountain guide, will go on an overland trip to the headwaters of the Tuolumne River.

The trip was recently arranged by the President and S. A. White, his personal friend, while he was in the East, all the details being attended to at that time. Upon his arrival here Mr. White at once made the necessary arrangements with Wesley Thompson, and the party will leave some time in June.

The trip will be made for the sole purpose of fishing and hunting. The party expects to encounter deer and bear in large numbers, as they penetrate into the practically unexplored wilds of the ranges of mountains along the route. The trip will be made on horseback and pack animals will carry their supplies, which will be limited to the absolute necessities, as the party expects to subsist on the country while en route. Camp will be pitched each night and broken up in the morning as a general rule, but wherever shooting and fishing is found to be good several days will probably be spent in one place. The exact length of time the party will be out is not known at this time, but it will probably be somewhere between three and four months.

Outdoor life is not unknown to the President's son, as it has not been many months since he made a trip into the bad lands of the Dakotas in quest of large game, and he has at other times accompanied his father on some of his minor trips in the eAdirondacks. This trip, however, will be the most elaborate he will have ever undertaken.

Reginald White is a son of S. A. White, and a brother of Stewart Edward White, the author, of this city. Wesley Thompson is a well-known mountaineer. Last year he escorted Mr. and Mrs. Stewart E. White on their wedding trip through the mountains and to the Yosemite Valley. During the previous year Messrs. White and Thompson made the same trip, and the author then gathered data for one of his recent books.

SPEECHES FOR FARMERS.

This morning's session of the University Farmers' Club Institute was very well attended, the hall being nearly full of people at 10 o'clock, when the meeting opened with a piano solo by Prof. C. L. Arnold. Rev. Alfred Inwood delivered an invocation. Dr. J. H. Hester of Santa Barbara was introduced by Prof. Cook, who is conducting the institute.

Dr. Hester spoke for nearly an hour on the subject, "The Value of Goat's Milk." In his discourse he showed the high nutrative qualities of goat's milk as compared to that of other animals. George J. Mitchell of Pomona spoke on forestry in relation to water conservation and rainfall. President Leroy Anderson of the San Luis Obispo State Polytechnic Institute, delivered an address on Ayreshire cattle, following his talk with a personal review of a herd of that famous breed that was on exhibition on a vacant lot near the convention hall. The morning session closed with a soprano solo by Miss Stella Garfield.

At the afternoon meeting after a piano duet by Miss Evarts and Prof. Arnold, R. C. Allen of Bonita was introduced. He spoke on "The Olive in California," showing that the olive industry is on the increase in this country. "The Lemon Industry" was ably handled by C. C. Teague of Santa Paula. "Strawberry Culture" was the subject of an address by Dwight Griswold of Tropico. After a baritone solo by George Springer, those in attendance at the institute adjourned to the stock corral and viewed some special exhibits of rare breeds of cattle.

The evening session was opened by a baritone solo by George Lunt. Several proposed amendments to the game laws were introduced by W. Scott Way of Pasadena. "The Dairy as an Adjunct to the Orchard" was the subject of a paper by Mrs. Minnie E. Sherman of Berkeley. President Benjamin I. Wheeler delivered an address on "Our Agricultural College," and the meeting closed with a vocal duet by Miss Garfield and Mr. Watkins.

VERY COLD IN SPAIN AND ITALY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Extremely cold weather prevails in Spain, cables the Herald's Madrid correspondent. In Barcelona, no such cold ever was known. Two men have been frozen to death and many accidents are reported. Reports to the Herald from Rome say exceptionally severe weather prevails there, and that the cold is increasing. Many factories are closed for want of hydraulic power. The public fountains are frozen.

POLITICAL.

TO SWEAR IN ALVA ADAMS.

Colorado Democrats Determine to Seat Their Man.

Supreme Court Orders Full Inquiry to be Made.

Gov. Higgins's Message Read in New York Legislature.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER, Jan. 4.—The Democrats have decided that Jan. 10, the date prescribed by the statutes, they will have Alva Adams sworn in as Governor of the State. The oath will be administered by Justice Steele of the Supreme Court. The hour and place of the ceremony have not been definitely settled.

The Fifteenth General Assembly was called to order at noon today and the work of organization commenced at once. Lieut.-Gov. Haggott presided over the Senate and the permanent organization of the House was effected by the choice of William H. Dickson as chairman.

It was somewhat doubtful if the Legislature would be able to do more than permanently organize today, but it is on the programme to unseat six Democratic Senators as soon as the Senate is in working order. This, when done, will make the Senate twenty-five Republicans and nine Democrats.

There are four contests in the House, in every one of which the Republicans are contestants. If these are decided in favor of the Republicans the make-up of the House will be: Republicans, 51; Democrats, 14. The present strength on joint ballot is: Democrats, 33; Republicans, 66. If all contests are decided favorable to the Republicans, it will be: Democrats, 23; Republicans, 76. There is one vacancy in the Senate.

Harry C. Riddle, Republican member of the City Election Commission, this morning handed to the Secretary of State a statement to the effect that he had certified to the result of the vote in Denver only because he had been ordered to do so by the Supreme Court. He did not contradict the facts as set forth in the returns of the commission, but declared that in his opinion the court would not have ordered him to certify the returns if it had possessed equal knowledge with Riddle of the exact situation.

FULL INQUIRY ORDERED.

The Supreme Court this morning directed that an inquiry be made into the conduct of the last election in this city, and ordered that it assume the scope asked by the Republicans. This means that the investigation shall not only take in the ballot boxes but the poll books, registration slips and all other matters pertaining to the election.

The application of Alva Adams for a modification of the order, limiting it to the ballot boxes only, was denied. The order was, however, modified in the matter of expense. It was directed that Adams pay one-half the expense attendant upon examination of the boxes and one-half the salary of the referee to be appointed by the Supreme Court in this connection.

The Republicans were directed to pay one-half the expense incident to the examination of the boxes and all the cost of the investigation of all other matters pertaining to the election. This puts upon Adams no greater financial burden than that which his attorneys yesterday announced he would be willing to assume, and allows the Republicans to pay for the greater part of the investigation, which Attorney Hersey yesterday announced they were willing to do.

Hersey, of counsel for the people, said that the decision was acceptable to him and the court then directed that an order for a full and complete inquiry into the manner of holding the election be entered by the clerk.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE.

GOV. HIGGINS'S MESSAGE READ.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ALBANY, (N. Y.) Jan. 4.—The State Legislature assembled today for its session of 1905. After organizing, the first annual message of Governor Higgins was received and read.

Gov. Higgins recommends the repeal of the tax on the surplus and undivided profits of savings banks and that some more equitable method of raising the amount lost to the State by the repeal of the law be resorted to.

In the matter of election reforms the Governor points out some of the ways in which the elective franchise has been violated and commends the entire subject to the Legislature for action.

On the subject of banks, Gov. Higgins urges the enactment of restrictive legislation regarding the rights of the depositor and protecting him from loss caused by unsafe banking. Securities, he continues, in which savings banks may invest the money of their depositors should be extended only with the greatest caution. Savings banks should be denied to people of wealth, who are capable of managing their own affairs, and who make deposits therein for investment purposes only. Investment associations and concerns should be brought more strictly under State control. The provisions of the National Bank Act, limiting the total liabilities for money borrowed by any person to ten per cent. of the amount of paid-in capital stock of the bank, are to be commended.

The Governor deems it worthy of consideration by the Legislature whether the right of local option now limited to towns of the State should not be extended to cities.

Illinois Legislature Convenes.

SPRINGFIELD, (Ill.) Jan. 4.—The Legislature convened today.

Gov. Johnson Inaugurated.

ST. PAUL, (Minn.) Jan. 4.—John A. Johnson was inaugurated Governor of Minnesota today.

Missouri General Assembly Meets.

JEFFERSON CITY, (Mo.) Jan. 4.—The General Assembly was called to order today. This is the first Republican House of Representatives in Missouri in ten years.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS CLOSED UP.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS (Colo.) Jan. 4.—The bath-houses and the big swimming pool were closed today by the Glenwood Hot Springs Company and will remain closed until present plans are changed. This action is taken, it is announced, in consequence of the refusal of a twenty-year renewal of the franchise of the Glenwood Light and Water Company. The vote on the franchise renewal at the special election resulted in a tie.

A CORRECTION.

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 4, 1905.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your issue of this morning contains an item in relation to the estate of Eldridge M. Fowler, deceased, the essential statements of which are untrue and misleading, and I therefore ask you to be good enough to let this appear in correction of same. The item referred to stated that Mr. Fowler left an estate of $35,000,000, of which $5,000,000 of it is in California. The fact is that the estate will amount to but a fraction of such sum, and consists largely of real property situated in other States than California; only a small portion of his estate is within California. Your item further states that Mr. Fowler's youngest daughter, Kate, will inherit the bulk of the estate when she becomes of age. The will provides that one-half the residue of the estate becomes Kate's when she is 45 years of age; it remaining in the meantime in the hands of trustees, under strict limitations, whereby it cannot be diverted, and a limited income going to her after she attains her majority until she becomes 45 years of age. This explanation is made in justice to Kate, and to correct many misleading impressions which have gone abroad through the newspapers. I might add that this newspaper notoriety is exceedingly distasteful to the family, and which we all wish might be avoided. By giving this correction the same prominence as the item complained of, you will greatly oblige yours truly,

ARTHUR H. FLEMING, Executor.

RICH IN ORD DISTRICT.

Good Returns from Group of Claims Located in Desert East of Victor.

Interest is increasing in the group of mining claims consisting of the Elsie, Clara, Helen, Chip, and Dickey Bird, located about thirty-five miles east of Victor in the old Ord mining district. Among those interested in the group are H. B. Smith, M. A. Bagley, Earl Van Leuven, J. B. Sheperdson, J. B. Hanna, D. H. Coe, Ernest Coe, George R. Coe, Milo Gilbert, W. W. Wilcox, all of Colton, and the Hoyt brothers of Victorville. Extensive development work is being planned for the winter. The claims are located on a big lead which cuts through the country. One lot of thirty-five tons of ore milled last year returned a gold brick of $900.

Renewed interest in the mines is due to the recent discovery of a large body of ore at the 200-foot level of the Elsie. This property, owned by Milo Gilbert and W. W. Wilcox of Colton, Ed Gilbert of San Bernardino, and H. R. Case, now in Washington, has received the largest amount of development work up to date. The shaft has been sunk to a depth of 200 feet. There are seventy-five feet of drift work and twenty feet of crosscut work. Several hundred tons of ore are on the dump. The ore averages $33 per ton in value. Another shaft is to be sunk and a connection made with the present shaft. There is a movement to incorporate all the claims on the same vein, which includes all mentioned above.

VENTURA BORAX MINES.

The owners of the Frazier borax mine in Ventura county sixty miles west of Lancaster, are considering the advisability of making their shipments from that point instead of at Bakersfield as at present. This is on account of the bad roads and long waterless stretches of alkali lands on the route now used. In order to make the change it will be necessary for the Los Angeles and Ventura counties to join hands and complete a short stretch of road needed.

The borax mines are now employing fifty men, exclusive of teamsters. The shipments are quite heavy and the possibilities of development are said to be great.

ARIZONA MINES.

The Blue Ridge Mining Company will soon install a ten stamp mill at its property in the San Francisco district of Mojave county.

Charles D. Love of California has taken a sixty-day option on the Homestake mine in the San Francisco district. The mine belongs to R. J. Holmes and is on Silver Creek in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

C. W. Davis, who has located a large body of mineral lands near Apache, claims to have a good bit of coal formation on the property with gilsonite and strong indications of oil.

HIGH ON LIGHT AND WATER.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, Jan. 4.—The report of the expert employed by the town to furnish estimates on municipal light and water plants has been submitted. The Board of Town Trustees at its meeting last night passed the report without action. It is understood that the report does not meet with entire satisfaction in that the cost for the plants shown by it is higher than the board and the people anticipated. The engineer makes the cost of putting in an independent pumping system $100,000. The system would be what is known as a double-pumping system. It would include two reservoirs, one high and the other at a lower level. The electric-light plant proposed would cost, according to the estimate, $25,000, and would have a capacity for fifty arc and 3000 incandescent lights. The cost of the light plant is also more than the people figured on paying.

In his estimate of the water plant the engineer makes no provision for a water supply, but makes several suggestions for the procuring of that essential. He says the best water could be obtained from mountain streams, but the objection to this water would be the prior rights to such waters held by others. The same trouble might be had by sinking artesian wells outside the town's limits, while wells sank in the limits might be found to be impregnated with minerals. Finally, the engineer says that water might be obtained from the river bottom by the sinking of holes.

It is not quite certain what the trustees will do now in regard to the matter. They have an option on the Egbert springs property, owned by T. B. Gosnell, and may make use of this place for procuring water. There is a growing sentiment favorable to the purchase of the present water system, which has an ample supply of water from the Ventura River.

ANDRADE GOES FREE.

"Little Pete" Andrade, the political bootblack, was today declared not guilty of an assault with a deadly weapon in the Superior Court. The jury which heard the case deliberated but five minutes before bringing in its verdict. Andrade got into difficulty the night before election, with a lunch-counter waiter named Priest. In the melee Priest declared he was cut across the abdomen with a knife or razor, and had Andrade arrested. The friends of the latter declared the charge was all politics and was trumped up to get Andrade, who is somewhat of a politician, out of the way. When the case came up the District Attorney wanted it dismissed for lack of evidence and reduced to battery. Priest's friends, however, hired other attorneys and followed the case with the result stated.

T. G. Gabbert has been reëlected chairman of the Board of Supervisors.

French Philosophy.

The Frenchman of the present day is far from being the unbeliever he is reported to be in English newspapers. most Frenchmen hav emore or less a philosophic—i. e., an inquisitive—turn of mind, and a man may not be irreligious at all although he does not choose to attach himself to any special creed.

Now, Frenchmen consider their philosophy more humane, and, indeed, more lofty, than Christianity as they have seen it at work in France for several centuries, and any one desirous to know what that philosophy is will do well to read the two highly interesting books, "Esquisse d'une Morale sans Obligation ni Sanction" and "L'Irreligion de l'Avenir," by J. M. Guyau. The influence of those two books on modern French thought and politics is immense, as great as that of Rousseau at the end of the eighteenth century; now no one, unless thoroughly conversant with them, can lay claim to complete understanding of things pertaining to France and the French.

There is at the present moment in France a higher philosophic spirit than is thought of abroad; and, indeed, one which accounts for much of the general tendency of the policy of that country either at home or in relation to foreign counries.—[London Spectator.

DO YOUR EYES GET TIRED?

Do you find "reading," "writing" or "sewing" as easy and natural as of old, or are they attended by inconvenience and effort? By artificial light do things appear "misty"—the letters "run into one another," or your eyes "smart"?

ACTIVE AGAINST STATEHOOD BILL.

PROCEEDING BRISKLY ALL OVER THE TERRITORY.

Civic Bodies Declare Against the Proposed Measure—Appreciation of Senator Bard in Various Quarters. Sharper in Toils Says His Specialty Has Been in Operating on Usurers.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 3.—The campaign against joint statehood is proceeding briskly in all parts of Arizona. The Territorial Bar Association has declared against the merger and, in addition to the passage of strong resolutions, has decided to send a committee of Arizona lawyers to Washington to work in the Senate against the pending bill. The County School Institute, which concluded its session this afternoon, put the teachers of Arizona on record on the same side. The local Board of Trade, in its efforts to enlist with Arizona all the commercial bodies of the Coast, has received cordial assurance of support from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Secretary Vanderveer of the Phoenix board has again written to the Los Angeles body, saying, in part:

"We shall accept your offer of aid by requesting that your body send a formal protest to the United States Senate against the proposed joining of Arizona and New Mexico as one State. Your Senator Bard has expressed the intention to present an amendment to the bill excluding Arizona and New Mexico from its provisions and of pressing the amendment when Congress is again in session. Probably a seconding of his efforts would be the best help you could give us at this time, and may we not ask that you do this as the representative body of business men of Southern California, which is bound so closely to Arizona and her interests by both social and business ties. We shall need all the support we can get in the fight to be made on this question, and we desire the piling up of protests in Washington, so that the Senators may be aware of the sentiment of the people in this part of the country."

The committee of lawyers will probably include Jerry Millay, D. H. Pinney and J. H. Kibbey of Phoenix, Ben Goodrich of Tombstone and Los Angeles, J. B. Wright of Tucson and Robert E. Morrison of Prescott. The last-named, Republican candidate for Delegate in Congress two years ago, and latterly United States Attorney for Arizona, has joined in the general expression of good will now being manifested throughout Arizona concerning Senator Bard and his work for the people of Arizona. In this connection, Mr. Morrison said: "After the severe criticism of Senator Bard of California by certain people in Arizona, we should feel that he is taking a very generous and disinterested part in this statehood business. In making the gallant fight for Arizona's rights he is acting as few men would do under the circumstances. He is taking a stand for Arizona that deserves our hearty approval. In view of the fact that he is the only Republican member of the Senate Committee on Territories who is opposed to the joint statehood bill."

Even the Phoenix Gazette, which was one of the leaders in the annex to the Flint boom that spread into Arizona, this morning editorially says: "A few good friends are assisting us, notably Senator Bard of California, and, whatever the outcome may be, or whatever may have been his supposed faults in the past, no one can help but extend thanks to him for the friendship he is showing us in these trying days."

SHARPER SAYS HE'LL REFORM.

J. F. Harcourt was arrested two months ago in Los Angeles and taken to Tucson, there to be tried on a charge of swindling Albert Steinfeld, a prominent merchant, out of $12,500, through the pledging of jewels alleged to be worth $30,000, but really worth only about $2500. A Tucson justice of the peace remanded Harcourt to the next grand jury and fixed his bail at $2000. Under a writ of habeas corpus, the case was reviewed yesterday in Phoenix by Chief Justice Kent. The only result was that Harcourt's bail was reduced to $1000, an amount which he can furnish. Had he been discharged on the original charge of securing money under false pretenses, he would have been rearrested on a charge of conspiracy.

Harcourt appears to regard himself as a man much abused. In conversation outside the courtroom, he admitted that he had gotten the better of Steinfeld, but considered it simply a case of "diamond cut diamond." He marvels that Mr. Steinfeld complains of having been cut. The note he gave Steinfeld carried interest at 2 per cent. a month. Harcourt stated that for seventeen years he had lived by his wits, in schemes similar to that which is now giving him trouble. In all this time he said he had never done aught to the financial detriment of the widow or orphan.

"Money sharks and usurers have been my specialty. I have always avoided financial transactions with those who could not afford to part with their money." But he says that as soon as he gets out of his present scrape he will quit the butterfly life, though it has brought him $20,000 or more a year.

TERRITORIAL JOTTINGS.

Judge Davis of the District Court of the First Arizona District has issued an alternative writ of habeas corpus, commanding the production before him January 9, of the children forcibly taken last fall from the keeping of Catholic nuns by citizens of Clifton and Morenci. It is then expected that the children will be turned back to the agents of the New York Foundling Asylum. One of the little girls, taken by Jacob Abraham, a Clifton hotel-keeper, died last week, much to the sorrow of her foster parents, who had become deeply attached to her.

When the new year arrived at Benson, it was received with the firing of giant powder salutes and the blowing of locomotive whistles. At the outbreak of the noise, Mrs. Alex Chisholm, an aged widow, awoke with a shriek. A friend came at once to her bedside, to be told, "I am dying. Go for the priest." But before the priest could come, the woman was dead.

Several attempts have been made to get to the Grand Cañon by automobile, but none have been exactly successful. The last attempt noted was made by Dr. J. E. Adams of Flagstaff. All went well for about half the distance, when the water supply ran out. Thereafter the cooling apparatus was fed snow, the task being one of gigantic proportions, as the snow had to be gathered by means of hands and hats. The machine is still at the cañon, the passengers having preferred to return by rail.

DIRECTORAL SLATE.

Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association Nominating Committee Finishes Its Work.

The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association will elect a number of new directors on January 16, and the same evening the annual meeting will be held.

The nominating committee met yesterday afternoon in the rooms in the Wilcox building and proposed as directors for the coming term A. C. Bilicke, L. J. Christopher, H. W. Frank, M. A. Hamburger, H. H. Kerckhoff, J. L. Matheson and C. H. Plummer.

The directors who will serve another year are E. H. Grappin, J. Jepsen, M. H. Newmark, Charles A. Parmelee, Niles Pease, R. W. Pridham, J. M. Schneider and Perry W. Wiedener.

Secretary Zeehandelaar is again at his office, after an illness which has confined him to his house for a fortnight.

Election hours on January 16 are from 10 a.m. to 4 p. m.

Pain Amuses Him.

Perhaps the only person in the country who laughs when he is in great pain is George Cook, a cook employed at the Saratoga restaurant on lower Seventeenth street, and who was brought to the police station this morning suffering from a broken arm. He says that when the pain grows so intense as to make the average man cry out he laughs, not because he thinks it is funny, but because, by some peculiar freak of nature he is compelled to smile when in sorrow or pain, and he cannot restrain the tears whenever he is amused. Police Surgeon Davis, who treated him for the broken arm, regards the case as one of the most remarkable that ever came under his observation.

Cook fell down a flight of stairs this morning and broke both bones of the left arm just below the elbow. He was taken to the Police Surgeon's quarters and when the surgeon's work began every one present was surprised to hear Cook laugh outright. Thinking the arm was not broken and that Cook was merely pretending a joke, Dr. Davis squeezed the arm slightly. The patient writhed, but to look at his face and hear his loud guffaw one would have imagined him to be very much amused. When the broken bones had been set and the pain had left he explained to the surgeons that he had laughed because he was suffering. So far as known this is the first case of its kind on record.—[Denver Times.

An Open Letter to the New Council

And the strangers in our dusty midst; also all would-be-editors.

Don't worry about our dusty streets. Arrangements are being made to place on all city sprinkling carts a fine spray, instead of the kind now being used, which floods the streets and causes mud to form. Very shortly it is proposed to hose down the principal business streets every other day, which can easily be done with the saving of water from the present system of sprinkling.

When this change takes place, Los Angeles will indeed be a pleasant place to live in. The dust-laden atmosphere will be a thing of the past.

YOU MAY THEN FEEL LIKE WEARING GOOD CLOTHES. Should you require any additions to your wardrobe or that of your boy, we would respectfully invite you to visit our store, where you will find the largest assortment of stylish apparel for men and boys, in Southern California.

Notice of Sale of Street Railway Franchise.

Office of the City Clerk of the City of Los Angeles, California, December 27th, 1904.

To Whom It may concern:

Notice is hereby given that an application has been made to the City Council of the City of Los Angeles for a certain franchise granting the right to construct, and for the period of 50 years to maintain and operate, a double track electric street railroad over, upon and along certain streets and portions of streets in said city, hereinafter described.

And it is proposed by said City Council to offer for sale and grant to the highest bidder said franchise on the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned.

That said franchise is described as follows, to wit:

A franchise to construct, and for the period of 50 years, to maintain and operate, a double track electric street railroad over the route and upon and along the streets and portions of streets in said city, described as follows:

Commencing on Vermont avenue where the easterly line thereof intersects Tenth street; thence northerly along Vermont avenue to Tenth street; thence westerly along Tenth street to Western avenue.

That the terms and conditions upon which said franchises will be offered for sale and granted, are the following:

That the street railroad constructed and operated under said franchise shall be used only for the transportation of passengers and United States mail.

That in all cases where said franchise is granted over streets now occupied by other lines of street railway, the grantee thereof and its successors and assigns shall have the right to operate over any and all the tracks of such other lines subject to the provisions and limitations of the statutes of the State of California applicable thereto; and in case the gauge of the tracks of said other lines of street railways shall not conform to the gauge of the tracks of said grantee, or his or its successors or assigns, said grantee, or his or its successors or assigns shall be permitted to lay a third rail over the distance traversed by said two roads jointly.

That the tracks to be laid under said franchise shall not exceed four feet and eight and one-half inches in width between the rails and shall be placed as nearly equidistant from the center of the street as possible, and as near each other as a proper regard for safety will allow.

That said grantee and his or its successors and assigns shall use in the construction of said road the best material, including a rail weighing not less than sixty (60) pounds per yard, such as is used on first-class street railroads, which rail shall be satisfactory to the Street Superintendent and the Board of Public Works; and said rails shall be so laid as to be continuously welded or otherwise securely fastened together, and the said grantee, and his or its successors or assigns shall at his, its or their own expense and cost pave or macadamise the said road between the rails, between the tracks, and for two (2) feet on each side thereof, with the same material used by the city and under the same specifications and in the same manner as upon the streets over which said road runs respectively, and shall keep the same constantly so paved or macadamised and in repair, flush with the street, and provided with suitable crossings, and shall make the roadbed conform at all times to the established grade of the street, provided, however, that where any of the above-named streets have been graded or otherwise improved prior to the granting of said franchise, said roadbed and rails shall conform to and be flush with the surface of said graded or otherwise improved street or streets, whether such surface be above or below the official grade of such street or streets, and on all other street or streets, said roadbed and rails shall conform to such official grade as aforesaid. And, provided, further, that upon any regrading or other improving of said street or streets, said roadbed and rails shall, by said grantee, or his or its successors or assigns, be placed upon and made to conform to said official grade. All repairs and grades to be made under the instructions and to the satisfaction of the Street Superintendent of said city, and the said grantee and his or its successors or assigns, shall comply with the instructions given by said official for ten (10) days after service thereof upon the said grantee, or his or its successors or assigns, or upon the manager or agent of said grantee in charge of the construction of said work, which the said official shall have the right to keep an itemized account of the cost of said work, which the said grantee, or his or its successors or assigns, agrees to pay immediately upon its being presented to said grantee, or his or its successors or assigns, by the City Engineer of the City of Los Angeles.

That the work of constructing said road shall be commenced in good faith within not more than four months from the date of the granting of said franchise, and shall be continuously prosecuted thereafter in good faith and without unnecessary or avoidable intermission or delay; that said work of construction shall be completed within not more than three years thereafter; that said work of construction shall be commenced and continuously prosecuted, so that at least one-third of the work of constructing said road shall be completed within one year from the time of commencement; and that if said work be not so commenced, prosecuted or completed within the times, or in the manner specified, said franchise shall be forfeited.

That said grantee, or his or its successors or assigns, shall not sell, transfer or assign said franchise or any of the rights or privileges granted thereby, except by a duly executed instrument in writing, filed in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Los Angeles; and provided further, that nothing in said franchise contained shall be construed to grant to said grantee or his or its successors or assigns any right to sell, transfer or assign said franchise or any of the rights or privileges thereby granted, except in the manner aforesaid.

That any neglect, failure or refusal to comply with any of the conditions of said franchise, shall thereupon immediately ipso facto effect a forfeiture thereof, and the said city, by its City Council, may thereupon declare said franchise forfeited, and may exclude said grantee or his or its successors and assigns, from further use of the streets of said city under said franchise, and said grantee and his or its successors and assigns shall thereupon and immediately surrender all rights in and to the same, and said franchise shall be deemed and shall remain null, void and of no effect.

Notice is also hereby given, that sealed bids, in writing, will be received for said franchise, up to eleven o'clock in the forenoon of the 6th day of February, 1905, at the time to which said City Council shall have regularly adjourned said meeting, at which said bids will be opened and read aloud, and provided with suitable crossings, and shall make the roadbed conform at all times to the established grade of the street, provided, however, that where any of the above-named streets have been graded or otherwise improved prior to the granting of said franchise, said roadbed and rails shall conform to and be flush with the surface of said graded or otherwise improved street or streets, whether such surface be above or below the official grade of such street or streets, and on all other street or streets, said roadbed and rails shall conform to such official grade as aforesaid. And, provided, further, that upon any regrading or other improving of said street or streets, said roadbed and rails shall, by said grantee, or his or its successors or assigns, be placed upon and made to conform to said official grade. All repairs and grades to be made under the instructions and to the satisfaction of the Street Superintendent of said city, and the said grantee and his or its successors or assigns, shall comply with the instructions given by said official for ten (10) days after service thereof upon the said grantee, or his or its successors or assigns, or upon the manager or agent of said grantee in charge of the construction of said work, which the said official shall have the right to keep an itemized account of the cost of said work, which the said grantee, and his or its successors or assigns, agrees to pay immediately upon its being presented to said grantee, or his or its successors or assigns, by the City Engineer of the City of Los Angeles.

That the work of constructing said road shall be commenced in good faith within not more than four months from the date of the granting of said franchise, and shall be continuously prosecuted thereafter in good faith and without unnecessary or avoidable intermission or delay; that said work of construction shall be completed within not more than three years thereafter; that said work of construction shall be commenced and continuously prosecuted, so that at least one-third of the work of constructing said road shall be completed within one year from the time of commencement; and that if said work be not so commenced, prosecuted or completed within the times, or in the manner specified, said franchise shall be forfeited.

That said grantee and his or its successors and assigns shall have the right, subject to such regulations as are now, or may hereafter be in force, to excavate and remove portions of the streets necessary to properly construct said road, and the right to erect needful apparatus, boilers, engines and other appliances, to properly equip and run said road.

Provided further, that the City of Los Angeles in granting said franchise expressly reserves the right to pave, macadamize, renew or sewer any of the said streets, or to lay gas, water or other pipes therein, said work to be done so as to injure said road as little as possible.

Provided, further, that cars shall be run each way, over the whole length of the road constructed under said franchise, at intervals of not more than ten minutes, between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and eleven o'clock at night, of each day, during the term of said franchise, unless prevented by the elements, riots, strikes, or unavoidable causes; provided, further, that cars shall be operated over said road with sufficient frequency to carry and provide with seats all passengers applying for transportation thereover, excepting in times of extraordinary and unforeseen pressure of business; and that said cars shall be, at all times, and in all respects, as efficiently constructed and conveniently equipped as the cars in use upon the best electric street railroads in the City of Los Angeles.

Provided further, that the cars upon said road shall not be allowed to stand on any street or any street intersection in such a manner as to obstruct the use of the said street by vehicles or pedestrians.

That the grantee of said franchise and his or its successors and assigns shall and will at all times upon and after the completion of said road, during the operation of the same and without extra charge, issue to and receive from passengers going in one direction, transfers good for continuous passage over and upon any and every other line and lines of any other road or roads within the said city which said grantee, or his or its successors or assigns, does now or may hereafter own, control, operate, or have a controlling interest in; and provided, as a further condition, that said grantee and his or its successors and assigns shall and will at all times as aforesaid, issue or cause to be issued to said passengers without extra charge, a similar transfer from any other line or lines which said grantee or his or its successors or assigns does now or may hereafter own, control, operate, or have a controlling interest in; and provided, further, that said grantee and his or its successors and assigns shall and will at all times as aforesaid, issue or cause to be issued to said passengers without extra charge, a similar transfer from any other line or lines which said grantee or his or its successors or assigns does now or may hereafter own, control, operate or have a controlling interest in, to over and upon the road operated and maintained under said franchise.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

ESCHSCHOLTZIA Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was entertained on Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. W. W. Stilson of No. 812 Kensington road. After the business meeting patriotic readings were given by Miss Jane Butt, a recent addition to the faculty of the Cumnock School. Miss Butt was formerly of the University of Wisconsin, and later with the Otis Skinner company. Her sympathetic voice, coupled with her fascinating personality, gave pleasure to the guests, who praised her unrestrainedly. A number of visiting sisters from other chapters were present, making the afternoon one long to be remembered. Among the visitors were Mrs. Chauncey Stoddard, ex-regent of Sarnac Chapter of Plattsburgh, N. Y.; Mrs. Reed of the St. Louis Chapter, Mrs. and Miss Hill of the Chicago Chapter, Mrs. Dwight Satterlee and Miss Ethel S. Bennett of the Denver Chapter, Mrs. Jackson and Miss Nicholson of the Wyoming Valley Chapter of Wilkesbarre, Pa. In the home a few of the season's choicest flowers were utilized, standing in tall vases and massed in profusion in the sunny window spaces. Later a dainty luncheon was served in the dining-room.

SHOCK ON POLE, DEATH BELOW.

TELEPHONE LINEMAN KILLED IN SAN BERNARDINO.

W. F. George's Neck Broken on Street—Trouble Ahead for Dishonest Contractors Who Swindled City by Laying Inch-and-quarter Cement Sidewalks, Instead of Four-inch.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 4.—W. F. George, a lineman employed by the Sunset Telephone Company, was instantly killed this afternoon by plunging headlong from the top of a pole where he was at work. The accident occurred on Mount Vernon avenue opposite Belleview avenue. George, who was 30 years old and unmarried, had been working on the pole just thirty minutes when he was seen to suddenly strain at the leather strap which bound him to the pole, and then throw his arms into the air and plunge downward. He struck the ground twenty feet below on his head, dashing out his brains and breaking his neck.

The fall was witnessed by Mrs. John Kaus, living fifteen feet away, and Mrs. James Fredericks. The latter rushed to where he lay. She believes George was still conscious, and she called for water. Mrs. James Berry, a resident of the neighborhood, ran to him with a bucket of water. Chris Hansen, a builder who soon arrived, declares the unfortunate man was quite dead, and does not believe he lived an instant after striking the ground. George had worked for the company two years. His brother is in the produce business at San Pedro. It is thought he received a shock from an electric wire which is strung among the telephone wire on the same pole on which he was at work.

SWINDLE BY CONTRACTORS.

Trouble is brewing for some of the cement contractors who have been laying sidewalks here during the past year. Over twenty miles of walk was laid, a large part of which crumbled within a few weeks afterward. The trouble was said to be that the cement was bad, and as the same troubles occurred at Colton the cement company promised to replace the walks. This was soon done in Colton, but when the company's contractor commenced work here he discovered that some of the walks had been laid only an inch and a quarter with cement, while the ordinance calls for four inches. This trickery was immediately reported to the company, which has wired from Los Angeles directing its contractor to stop work here, and the matter has been taken up with the offending contractors, who will either replace the walks at their own expense or be sued by the property holders who have been swindled by them.

Two side tracks are being laid from J to B streets, making nearly a mile of track for the use of the Salt Lake trains. Freight shipped from the East over the Salt Lake for points north of Los Angeles will be transferred to the Southern Pacific here.

BURGLAR USED CHLOROFORM.

UGLY EXPERIENCE OF A SANTA ANA FAMILY.

Woke up to Find Doors and Windows Open After House Was Robbed—Drowsy Drug Was Employed to Keep Mr. and Mrs. Sackman Quiescent—Orangettes.

SANTA ANA, Jan. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sackman of West Hickey street had an ugly experience with a burglar. During the evening they heard unusual noises around their children's bedroom, and, apprehensive of some danger, were scareful to lock every door and window before retiring at about 9 o'clock. Shortly after 3 in the morning Mrs. Sackman awoke to find several of the windows and two doors wide open, and the night air blowing through the house. A strong odor of choloroform pervaded the room.

An investigation showed that during the night one or more burglars had ransacked the house, first administering chloroform to Mr. and Mrs. Sackman to prevent them from waking. The only thing taken was about $13 from a purse in Mr. Sackman's trouser's pocket. It is supposed the marauder was already in the house when Mr. and Mrs. Sackman locked it up at night, probably hiding in the children's room, from the suspicious sounds heard there, and that after all were asleep he applied the chloroform and did his work, finally opening the house to admit sufficient cold air to revive his victims.

SEPARATE CITY OFFICES.

The City Trustees are preparing to make an important change in assessing and collecting city taxes. Heretofore the offices of City Tax Collector and Assessor have been combined with the similar county offices, all assessments being made by the County Assessor and collections by the County Tax Collector. It is now proposed to create separate city offices to perform the duties that have formerly devolved upon the county offices.

The matter was thoroughly discussed in the recent convention of California municipalities here, and the almost unanimous opinion of municipal legislators present at that time was that the best results are obtained where the county and city offices are not combined. The Santa Ana board agrees with this view of the case, and accordingly, last night, instructed City Attorney Heathman to proceed with the steps necessary to forming the new positions. This will allow a more satisfactory assessment of city property independently of the county valuation and will give a more equable basis of levying city taxes.

EXHIBIT LOANED.

The question of the final disposition of the Orange county exhibit at the St. Louis World's Fair was settled by the Supervisors today. They voted to loan it to the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. The board reserves the right to revoke its order at any time. The Chamber of Commerce will take charge of the exhibit and display it in the new rooms in the City Hall, where it already has a creditable display of the county's products. The articles from St. Louis consist chiefly of processed green fruits in glass jars, and were prepared here under the direction of J. C. Joplin.

RIVERSIDE.

PLANING MILL DESTROYED.

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 4.—The plant of the Wilcox Rose Construction Company at Lime and Eighth streets was totally destroyed by fire early this morning. The planing mill, employing about thirty men, and filled with costly machinery, within five minutes of the time the flames were discovered, the entire building, 135x115 feet, was a roaring furnace. The firemen succeeded in saving a part of the lumber yards of the company, the Presbyterian Church, which was slightly scorched, and neighboring houses. E. M. Champion, foreman and manager, estimates the loss on machinery at $18,000, and on stock at $12,000, about one-fourth covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is not known, but is supposed to have come from deranged wires, electricity having been the motive power used.

OFFICER ACCUSED.

The City Trustees have been listening to testimony produced by E. Meredith of Arlington, tending to show that Officer Rayburn has been guilt of unbecoming conduct while on duty. Rayburn was his own lawyer while City Attorney Purington examined witnesses for the city. Meredith, who conducts a poolroom at Arlington, had previously been arrested by Rayburn on a charge of admitting minors to the room, and Rayburn now threatens to ask for the repeal of Meredith's license. The board took the matter under advisement.

FRUIT SHIPMENTS HEAVY.

The season's output on oranges and lemons is now 520 cars of the former, and 53 cars of the latter. This is a marked increase over the number at the corresponding time last year, and it is estimated that by February 1, 1200 cars will have gone forward.

GYMNASIUM FOR PASADENA'S HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS.

One of Crown of Valley's Best-known Men of Wealth, E. T. Barnum, Dead—South Pasadena After Trolley People—Startling Report on Milk Situation.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 78 South Raymond Avenue, Jan. 5.—The young ladies of the High School are confronted by another study. There has been added to the curriculum another stunt, without the accomplishment of which the sweet girl graduate will not be fully graduated. School will open today with a gymnasium, and soon the arms of the Pasadena damsels may be too big for their sleeves. The gymnasium is to be in the southeastern corner of the basement, and will be in charge of Miss Livingston, who has been with the Cannock School. Though gymnastics are not to be compulsory in the Pasadena school, each girl is supposed to take them up, and will be excused from one period of study for that purpose. As yet there is no apparatus in the "gym" and only calisthenics will be indulged in, but the apparatus may come later. It's a fixed institution.

E. T. BARNUM'S DEATH.

Edward T. Barnum, one of Pasadena's best-known men of wealth, died yesterday morning at about 5 o'clock at his handsome home, No. 359 South Orange Grove boulevard. He had been ill quite a long time, with a complication of diseases, and it was realized during the past few days that death was near.

Mr. Barnum returned a few months ago from the East. While there he contracted a severe cold which developed into pneumonia. Later the disease became tuberculosis, and Bright's disease was also present.

The deceased was born in New York City nearly fifty-three years ago, and there nearly all his life up to six years ago, when he came to this city. He was a lawyer and for a number of years was adjuster for the J. A. Clark Company, manufacturers of Clark's "O.N.T." thread. He has lived a retired life since coming here, but was an extensive investor, and accounted a millionaire.

Mr. Barnum leaves a widow, who is the owner of the Boston Dry Goods Store of Los Angeles. He had no children of his own, but leaves three stepchildren, Harry Robinson of Savannah, this county; Mrs. Valentine and Mrs. Arstedt of Los Angeles. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

SOUTH PASADENA'S IRE.

The poor, long-suffering electric road that never was known to harm anybody that kept off its tracks or cars, is in collision with more woe. South Pasadenans were neglected on the day of the tournament, it is said, the cars passing their loads in Los Angeles and going through town without stopping. The South Pasadena Council took up the subject wrathfully Tuesday night and threatens to enforce ordinances keeping down the railway's speed, forcing the company to give transfers, and other wise harrassing matters.

Annexation to either Los Angeles or Pasadena was also discussed, a majority of the Council agreeing that if the proposition were placed before the people something might be doing. It behooves Pasadena to get very busy if Los Angeles is to be kept from crossing the arroyo bank and grabbing up some very good territory.

MILK TROUBLES.

Dr. L. H. DeBiron, S.P.C.A. officer, says that Pasadena is very much in need of a milk inspector, and Health Officer Rowland seconds the motion. Mayor Vedder will put the question, and the Board of Health and City Attorney will consider it. Dr. DeBiron has reported to the Health Officer a startling condition of affairs. Gross carelessness has been the rule in the raising of cattle for tuberculosis, and bacillus-type has been found in several specimens of milk. Dr. DeBiron says that the trouble is that the big men are trying so hard to freeze out the little fellows that they resort to all manner of schemes, hiring veterinarians to neglect their work, and all that.

ORANGES AND WATER.

That meeting of the orange growers to use Pasadena water for irrigation purposes, is to be held this evening at the Board of Trade rooms, at 7:30 o'clock.

"The object of this meeting," said Grand Duke Day of the association yesterday, "is to see how the interests of the orange growers may be best preserved in the transfer of the water company to city ownership. Chairman F. S. Twombly of the Council's Water Committee is reported as saying that the orange growers are needlessly panicky. I appreciate Mr. Twombly's liberal view of the matter and I hope that future administrations will consider the question in the same broad-minded way, but this should not prevent us from looking after our own interests.

"We cannot afford to leave our rights to the whims of future administrations. The situation is peculiar in that the northern quarter of the water company's territory distinctly says that no water shall be delivered to parties outside of a certain defined by certain boundary lines. A later amendment to this charter gave the directors power to sell the surplus water to outside parties. If the orange growers were in the original water district the question would be much simpler. If the future water rates are so fixed as to pay the bonded indebtedness for the purchase, expense of maintenance, etc., the outsiders would have to help pay."

Day believes that it is only a question of a few years when the outlying suburban orange groves will have to be given up because the land is too highly priced for acreage, but he wants to stave that time off as long as possible. He says the orange growers are not opposed to municipal ownership, and he believes they could not defeat the project if they were so minded, but they want what's coming to them.

NEWS WHIFFS.

Louise Bambeso, a runaway girl who told a number of conflicting stories and so delayed her return home, was captured by the police yesterday. She is about 10 years of age and lives somewhere in Los Angeles—just where was not learned up to a late hour.

The North Pasadena Water Company is not satisfied with the price offered by the city for its plant. As yet no quorum has been secured for the voting on the project.

George C. Sanderson, book-keeper for the Graham-Salisbury-White Hardware Company, who lives with his family in a little house on North Vernon avenue, has been informed that he is heir to a third of an estate of $150,000 or thereabouts, left by his parents in England.

Elmer E. Dale of Toledo, O., died yesterday at his residence on North Raymond avenue. He was 43 years of age and leaves a wife and children.

RANDOM HITS.

Thirty-five hundred copies of the Midwinter Number of The Times have been sold in Pasadena and judging from standing orders nearly as many more will be sold before the issue is out of circulation. All previous records for this city have been broken this year.

The ladies of the Shakespeare Club are counting up their returns from luncheon sales at Tournament Park New Year's Day and think they cleared between $200 and $300. They would have done better had their stand been nearer the entrence to the grounds, so they say.

Officer George Longley who was with Dewey at Manila, aboard the Flagship Olympia, had a handfull of gold and paper yesterday. He got his prize money, nearly $200, from Uncle Sam as a New Year's present.

Members of the Board of Trade are already beginning to smack their lips in anticipation of the annual banquet which will be held in April. Secretary Coolidge says he's going to have a membership of 600 by that time.

The Pasadena Choral Society which gave such an interesting concert Monday night is thinking of making the organization permanent.

The annual report of Building Inspector Buchanan shows that during the past twelve months there have been $1,650 480 worth of buildings erected.

DINNER PARTY.

Previous to the ball given Tuesday evening at Hotel Green Miss Mabel Higgins gave an elaborate dinner party in the private dining-room of the east building of the hotel. The dining-room was beautifully decorated with potted palms and flowering shrubs, the color scheme of the ornamentation being red and green. Covers were laid for sixteen and the center table decoration was a low basket of poinsettias surmounted with a huge bow of red satin ribbon. Similar ribbons extended from the center to the various place cards which were embellished with the names of the guests in gold letters. Red candles with blood red shades added to the pretty effect. Corsage bouquets of white carnations were used as favors for the ladies and boutonniers for the men. Those at table were Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Groenendyke, Mr. and Mrs. H. Page Warden, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Macey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Russell, Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Macomber, Miss Holmes, Roy Macomber, Miss Higgins and Mr. Whitlock. Miss Higgins wore a Paris gown of some silky clinging material of pale green with chenille embroidery; Mrs. Henderson was lovely in white satin with garniture of rare lace, Mrs. Warden wore a fetching costume of poinsettia red, Mrs. Macey was becomingly attired in pink as was also Mrs. Groenendyke. After the dinner the party adjourned to the ball room to enjoy the New Year's dance.

THE SMART SET.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gerald Guyer have issued invitations for the wedding of their daughter, Lillian Sara, and Freeman Arms Ford Wednesday evening, January 18, at All Saints' Church. Several hundred invitations have been sent out to this church wedding, and there will be no reception at the house. After the ceremony only the bridal party and the immediate relatives of the bride and groom will return to the latter residence.

Miss Guyer is one of the most beautiful of Pasadena society girls, and this coming week there will be several ante-nuptial functions given in her honor, notably a luncheon Monday, where covers will be laid for sixteen by Mrs. Dwight Whiting of Los Angeles; Tuesday, Mr. Bar de Hook of West Adams street will give a dinner for the bride and groom-elect at his mother's home; Wednesday, Mrs. Edward Groenendyke of South Orange Grove avenue, Pasadena, will give a tea complimentary to the bride; Friday, Miss Margaret Lee, daughter of H. T. Lee of West Adams street, gives a luncheon; the Saturday following Miss Gardner of Los Angeles gives a matinée party, and running into the following week Mrs. Mark Sibley Severance gives Monday a theater party for "The Darling of the Gods."

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Bissel Cheever née Vallette of Chicago, are guests of Mrs. Cheever's mother, Mrs. Frank H. Vallette of East Colorado street.

Oliver Picher of Joplin, Mo., has joined his wife, who was formerly Miss Emily Stanton, who has been for some time staying with her father at his home, Grace Hill.

Mrs. Rose Whitmore gave a very prettily-appointed dinner last evening, where covers were laid for eight in honor of Miss Helen Senter and James Miller, who are to be married today.

DINNER DANCE.

Harry Zlers was the host at a very charming dinner dance given last evening at Hotel Raymond. Covers for the dinner were laid for twenty, and the table was beautifully decorated in red and green, red carnations and quantities of smilax, red candles and rosy shades all adding to the pretty effect. Corsage bouquets of American Beauty roses were provided for the ladies and boutonniers for the men. After the dinner dancing was enjoyed in the ballroom, which was also very elaborately decorated with ropes of smilax dotted with red carnations.

CARD PARTY.

Mrs. Theodore Gittings of El Molino avenue has issued invitations for a card party for Wednesday afternoon of next week, given in honor of Mrs. and Miss Withington of Madison, Wis., who are guests at Hotel Green.

SHADE-TREE ACT A SHADY JOKE.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA CITIES CAN'T PLANT YET.

Santa Monica Official's Opinion Reveals Peculiar Kink in the Pack of Sections—Home Company Buys Telephone Franchise—Corpse in Canyon Buried Before.

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 4.—The written opinion of City Attorney Taft precludes the city from availing itself, at least for the present, of the provisions of the State law of 1893 regulating the planting of and caring for shade trees on the streets of the city. Recently property owners representing approximately a mile of frontage on Colorado avenue presented a petition to the Trustees asking that Colorado avenue be planted to pepper trees. Having been asked by the Trustees for his interpretation of the enactment in question, the City Attorney says: "One reads the act almost to the end before discovering what may be termed the joker in the pack of sections."

The joker provides that "this act shall only apply to such municipalities as shall by vote of the electors residing therein determine to come witnin its provisions."

As the act contains neither provision nor suggestion as to time or manner of making such determination by vote, the City Attorney sees no reason why the same may not be either at a special or general election; but until such election there is no force in the law and the City Trustees are powerless to accede to the request of the petitioners.

This opinion will be interesting to several Southern California cities that have during recent days been seeking to have their streets uniformly planted to shade trees at the expense of abutting property.

SAME OLD CORPSE.

The corpse found by quail hunters in the cañon yesterday is unquestionably that of the man whose death was inquired into some weeks ago by the Coroner and who was afterwards buried where he had been found. The disinterred body showed every evidence of having been buried.

'PHONE FRANCHISE.

The City Trustees at their meeting last night sold the Home telephone franchise for Santa Monica to Louis Blankenhorn for $450. The advertisement for bids brought two offers.

W. G. Roberts of Los Angeles and Blankenhorn each bid $100. Competitive bidding ran the price up. Blankenhorn represents the company now building a system in Santa Monica, Ocean Park and Sawtelle.

CATALINA ISLAND.

TUNA IN OUT OF SEASON.

AVALON, Jan. 4.—A flutter of excitement was caused last evening by the receipt of a telephone message from some of the grouper fishers that a big school of tuna was feeding just off Catalina Harbor. Gen. A. W. Barrett, A. J. Levy, Fred Healey, Frank Kaverne and L. W. Wood, of the new yacht, rod and gun club got up betimes this morning and went to the Isthmus on the steamer Torgus, to investigate. They found the fishermen all absent at their duties, and as the sportsmen lacked both proper bait and tackle, they returned home at noon, from a bootless trip. They met a fisherman who informed them that tuna were seen yesterday in the vicinity of Long Point. It is yet possible that some sport may be had with these giant fishes out of season.

"Little Tim" Sullivan of New York, one of the bosses of Tammany, second in command of that organization, accompanied by his sister, Miss M. M. Sullivan and Charles Anderson, were among the visitors yesterday.

A. J. Levy of New York, to whom is credited the organization of the new club here, came over yesterday, accompanied by his friend Fred Healey, of London, and Gen. A. W. Barrett. Today Mrs. Levy, Mrs. Healey and Miss Healey and A. M. Edelman joined the party at Hotel Metropole.

SAN PEDRO.

LUMBER FIGURES SOAR.

SAN PEDRO, Jan. 4.—In the matter of lumber receipts San Pedro, the port for Southern California and the Southwest, wound up the year 1904 in a blaze of commercial glory. The recapitulation for the month of December shows the arrival here of seventy-eight steamers, twenty-two schooners, one barkentine and four barks—a total of 105 vessels, with a net tonnage of 44,764 tons and carrying in crews on steamers 1459 men and on sailing vessels, 237—a total of 1696 seamen. These vessels brought from Northern California, Washington and Oregon mills 32,357,060 feet of lumber, 11,730,000 shingles, 232,000 shakes, 1776 piles, 1350 poles, 2,845,000 laths, 1700 posts, 42,668 railroad ties, 250 doors, 100 columns, 1600 tons of grain, 925 tons of merchandise and 22.6 passengers. There was exported during the month 662 tons of merchandise, fifty tons of asphaltum and 2240 passengers departed.

TO HAVE CITY HALL.

The Board of Trustees last night, accepted the proposition of Richard Quinn to erect a two-story building at the corner of Eleventh and Palos Verdes streets, to be used for City Hall purposes. The city will take a three year's lease on the building at a monthly rental of $50. The new site will be about six blocks away from the present business center of San Pedro, on what is known as "Vinegar Hill," and toward the outer harbor.

HARBOR CITY JOTS.

When the petition for a free holders charter was presented to the Board last night it was found to contain 144 names. On motion of Trustee Tilton action was postponed for one week. At the suggestion of Trustee Peck, City Clerk Stieglitz was instructed to write to the City Clerk of Long Beach and secure data as to the cost of the proposed change in the municipal government of San Pedro.

Messrs. Wickersham, Nelson and Mahon, school trustees, have asked for sealed proposals for a site for the new High School, for which bonds for $40,000 were recently voted. The proposals are to state location and cost and are not to be for less than one-half a block in each instance.

The small boys and girls of this city as well as the crews of vessels had a grand time this afternoon with about four tons of king fish, pompano and smelt which were left stranded on the mud flats on Mormon Island when the tide went out at noon today. The varieties of fish have been very thick in the inner harbor for several days and thousands of them were caught in shallow pools unable to get back into the ocean. They were carried off in sacks, buskets and aprons all afternoon, and the family in San Pedro that went tonight without a fish dinner, and wanted it, was particularly unfortunate.

COVINA.

NINETIETH BIRTHDAY.

COVINA, Jan. 4.—Surrounded by his children and grandchildren William Van Winkle Utter celebrated yesterday, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. A. Brouse, on Cypress avenue, the ninetieth anniversary of his birth. The grandson of a revolutionary patriot, who was present at Hull's surrender, the son of a hero of the war of 1812, this hale and hearty old gentleman first saw the light of day in a log cabin nine miles from what is now the center of the city of Cincinnati, O., but what at that time was a small village which could boast of only one brick house. He cast his first presidential vote for Adams and ever since the organization of the Republican party voted that ticket until 1892, since which time he has cast his ballot for the Prohibition candidate. In early life he was a civil engineer on the Indianapolis and Lafayette Railway, the second steam road constructed west of the Allegheny Mountains. After his marriage he cleared a farm in Ohio. He and his faithful wife, who died only three years ago, after celebrating their sixty-first wedding anniversary, reared ten children, seven of whom are living. Of them Mrs. Brouse, Rev. J. W. Utter, pastor of the Christian Church of this place, and Rev. W. S. Utter are residents of Covina.

In speaking of the reminiscences of his life yesterday he told of the purchase by his father in his early childhood days of a Yankee clock, of a peddlar for $27, payable in instalments covering a period of two years. Money was scarce in those days and the purchaser cut fifty-four cords of wood at 50 cents a cord to pay for this timepiece, which was inferior to a clock that could now be purchased for 75 cents.

POMONA.

DEATH CLAIMS TWO.

POMONA, Jan. 4.—James H. Patterson, father of J. E. Patterson, died at his home on Fourth street and White avenue yesterday. Mr. Patterson was 85 years of age. He had come to Pomona in 1889. Teh funeral will be held at the home Thursday at 2 p.m., Rev. T. H. Cornish of the Baptist Church officiating.

Mrs. J. M. Reed died at the Pomona Valley Hospital Monday evening, after she had undergone an operation for tumor, which had affected her heart. Mrs. Reed came here a few months ago with her husband from Kansas City, where the remains will be taken for interment.

Miss Maud McComas has returned to Berkeley.

J. M. Horton was here from Ontario today on business.

Dean E. C. Norton of Pomona College has just made a trip down the Mediterranean, and is now in Greece.

Miss Loraine Cadwell has returned to her studies at the Dobinson School of Dramatic Art in Los Angeles.

The public schools opened yesterday, after the holiday vacation, with a larger attendance than ever.

Rev. Henry Kingman and President George A. Gates of Pomona College are at Pacific Grove attending the student Y.M.C.A. conference to which the college has sent a large student delegation.

GLENDALE.

PASTOR IS HONORED.

GLENDALE, Jan. 4.—Members of the Episcopal Church gave an entertainment for the pastor, Rev. Mr. Ely, last evening at the home of Y. C. Sherer. They presented him a beautiful clock as a token of their appreciation for his services covering a long period of years.

Mrs. E. D. Goode entertained at dinner Tuesday Mrs. J. Frackelton, Mrs. Katie Myers, Mrs. P. W. Parker, Mrs. William Broxholme, Miss Lena Frackelton and Miss Susie Parker.

Miss Fuller of North Glendale is visiting her cousin in Mexico.
